Ceasefire Prelude To Peace

Formula to End Viet Nam War Drafted by Commonwealth PMs

LONDON (CP)—The Commonwealth prime ministers ended their 14th conference Friday with an appeal for a ceasefire in Viet Nam as a necessary prelude to peace talks aimed at uniting the divided land.

The 21-country conference issued the appeal in the form of instructions to a four-country Viet Nam peace mission set up at the outset of the nine-day meeting.

The Commonwealth leaders called for an end of all U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam and an undertaking by the Hanoi government "to prevent the movement of any military forces or assistance or material to South Viet Nam."

British Prime Minister Wilson told a press conference the mission will set out on its quest for peace as soon as it is able to visit enough interested capitals to make its endeavor meaningful.

The key question, Wilson said, is whether the North Vietnamese government agrees to talk to the mission. He personally did not believe the mission should go to Saigon if it is unable to go to Hanoi.

Members of the Commonwealth peace mission are Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad-Tobago.

FORM CENTRAL BODY

As its major immediate accomplishment, the conference established a central secretariat. This idea of co-ordinated action once was strenuously resisted, notably by Canada's late prime minister Mackenzie King, in fear that a more formally organized Commonwealth would become a new version of the British Empire. But it was the newly independent members who gave strongest support to the new central liaison body.

As the conference ended, Canadian Prime Minister Pearson said "the Commonwealth is expressing views on world matters that never would have been considered as subjects for discussion a few years ago."

Even if the Viet Nam mission fails to achieve solid progress towards peace, it was a worthwhile initiative, Pearson said. His view was echoed by other leaders, though, one, President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, dissociated himself from the mission's plans.

The hottest argument was provoked by the Rhodesian issue, on which Wilson won time against African pressure to smash the minority white regime and establish a government under majority Negro rule.

This time, however, the British government agreed to take some action to call a constitutional conference to give the Negroes the vote, if this cannot be achieved through negotiations with the whites. A year ago, the British government merely noted that the Africans

PEACE TEAM SHELVED

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Wilson said today that the proposed Commonwealth Viet Nam peace mission, which has been refused a hearing by Russia and China, has been shelved for the time being.

Only nine days after he suggested the mission to the 21-country Commonwealth prime ministers' conference which ended Friday, it seems that the group's only firm visit is to Geneva early next month to meet United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

China and the Soviet Union have officially refused to receive the mission and North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi-minh has indicated he will follow the same line.

In these circumstances the four-man team—which includes leaders of Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad and Tobago—is now not likely to take up invitations to pay early visits to the United States and South Viet Nam.

Wilson told a Labor party rally in Glasgow that the mission would still remain in being, though it is impossible to say whether or when it would become airborne.

Pearson Backs Chinese Entry Into UN

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC quotes Prime Minister Pearson in an interview with CBC commentator Norman DePoe as saying in London that admission of Communist China to the United Nations would have certain distinct advantages.

The CBC said the prime minister told Mr. DePoe that admission of Communist China would forestall formation of a rival body outside the UN, and such an organization, with Communist China and Indonesia as initial members, could pose a serious threat to the UN's general effectiveness.

U.S. SPACE FLIGHT EIGHT-DAY MISSION

ESTILL, S.C. (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced today the next Gemini manned space flight will be an eight-day mission. This is the same length of time required to fly to the moon, explore its surface, and return to earth.

James E. Webb, NASA administrator, announced the mission today.

Afro-Asian Summit Postponed Indefinitely

ALGIERS (Reuters)—A summit conference of about 50 African and Asian countries scheduled to begin here Tuesday has been indefinitely postponed, authoritative sources said today.

A 15-country preparatory committee decided to postpone indefinitely both an Afro-Asian foreign ministers' meeting—which was to have been held today—and the summit.

The committee was discussing a new date for both meetings—possibly in October, the sources said.

The foreign ministers' conference was to have opened at noon today after a two-day postponement. It was deferred yet again at the request of several delegations and a meeting of the Afro-Asian conference preparatory commission was held instead.

The announcement followed a mystery blast Friday night that wrecked part of the electrical system in the building where the foreign ministers were to meet and the summit conference was to be held. Witnesses reported at least 40 persons were injured.

The foreign ministry spokesman announced today police had arrested the "authors of the outrage."

The spokesman did not identify those arrested. The announcement of arrests was the first confirmation that the explosion was due to sabotage.

There were new anti-government demonstrations Friday night and a sense of general unrest prevailed.

An underground "popular liberation movement" circulated tracts calling for a country-wide general strike on the eve of the conference "to prove to the delegations that we will not tolerate the tyrant Houari Boumedienne."

Boumedienne was defence minister in the cabinet of President Ahmed Ben Bella. He seized power a week ago and had Ben Bella arrested as a "traitor."

FIRE WARNING SHOTS

Demonstrations against Boumedienne have taken place almost nightly since the coup. Steel-helmeted police fired warning shots in the air and flung tear-gas grenades Friday night at hundreds of demonstrators who marched through the streets, chanting "long live Ben Bella" and "Boumedienne to the gallows."

PARIS LOSES CONTACT

PARIS (AP) — Communications between Paris and Algiers were cut today.

The French postal and telegraphic service said there was a "general" cut in communications. No explanation was given.

Monitors said Radio Algiers went off the air about the same time.

Diplomatic sources in Paris said diplomatic communications were still normal with Algiers.

Two Islanders Win $30,000 in Irish

Ladysmith Woman Smilin' Like Pumpkin

Two Vancouver Islanders—a man and a woman—are richer by $30,000 each today for holding Irish Sweepstakes tickets on the third-place horse in the Irish Derby.

They are logging truck driver John Francis, 42, of Ladysmith, and Mrs. L. Hicks of Nanaimo.

Six Canadians won $150,000 each with tickets on the winner, Meadow Court, owned jointly by Calgary publisher Max Bell, Vancouver oil executive Frank McMahon and singer Bing Crosby.

Three Canadians won $60,000 each with tickets on second-place Convamore and four won $30,000 on Wedding Present.

TOP MONEY

Two B.C. men won top money—Collin Smith of Vancouver and Joe Bob, 35, of the Sugar Cane Indian reserve near Williams Lake.

Mr. Francis, a Ladysmith native, said he felt "the same as usual" although $30,000 richer.

His wife was "sitting smiling like a pumpkin."

"O gosh, she is happy," he said. "She is worse than I am."

They have three children—Tommy, 18; Carol, 14, and Barry, 12.

Was he worried about people badgering him for handouts?

"My skin's thicker than an alligator's," he replied.

NOBBY NICKNAME

He used the nom-de-plume Nobby, a nickname he picked up while working on the Alaska Highway during the Second World War.

He said he will take the same holiday he planned earlier—fishing and relaxing at a lake behind Ladysmith, where he has a cabin.

His two-week vacation starts the middle of next week.

Holders of tickets on horses which didn't make the race or didn't finish in the top three will receive prizes based on the total amount of the pool and expected to be about $1,100 each.

VICTORIANS

Two identified Victorians whose horses were scratched on Friday were Mrs. Winnifred Fitton, 1258 Yates, and Jerry Cafferky, 1905 Stockton.

JOINT BID FOR WHALE BY CITY, VANCOUVER

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Undersea Gardens in Victoria and the Vancouver Aquarium made a joint offer this morning for the captive whale of Namu.

Charles White, owner of the gardens off the Oak Bay Marina, said the offer is being considered and he is hopeful it will be accepted.

If it is, a pen will be built at the cannery community near Ocean Falls while a pen is constructed at the Undersea Gardens.

Mr. White said the offer was made by aquarium curator Dr. Murray Newman to Robert McGarvey and William Lechkobit, who accidentally caught two whales Wednesday while fishing.

Could Come Here

The smaller of the two whales escaped from a net pen around a reef early Friday.

While not disclosing the offer, Mr. White said if it is accepted the whale likely will be brought here by barge.

Both he and Dr. Newman have visited Namu to see the 20-foot, 9,000-pound mammal.

A definite offer for the whale was apparently made by Marineland in Los Angeles but withdrawn because of difficulty in moving it.

The fishermen, who had asked $50,000 for the two whales, said today they want more than $10,000 for the remaining one.

Father Captive

Witnesses at Namu said it appears the captive whale is a father, who got trapped trying to rescue son after he swam inside the fishing net.

Junior, who apparently got out when the net floated up at one corner during high tide, now is swimming about outside with mother and a brother.

Of necessity, all this is surmise because at the best of times it is difficult to determine the sex of whales.

McGarvey, who says he is [illegible] a track between his boat and the only telephone in Namu, said the whale will be sold to the highest bidder.

HEAT WAVE, EPIDEMIC, CLAIM 1,000

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—A heat wave and a cholera epidemic sweeping several parts of India have claimed about 1,000 lives, according to reports reaching here.

Meanwhile, monsoon rains have already come to Calcutta and Bombay, and hundreds of families have been driven from their homes by floods in Assam's Jorhat region.

Mainly sunny weather, with some cloud, is expected Sunday with temperatures between 45 and 48 tonight and 65 to 70 degrees during the day.

FIRST WINNERS ANNOUNCED NEXT SATURDAY

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

Even if you weren't "Johnny on the Spot" like the many who entered the Times' Amateur Photo Contest ahead of today's opening hour, you're still in good time for the first-week contest.

Photographs received until noon Saturday, July 3, will compete for the $10 first prizes awarded each week in the three classes of this year's contest.

Results of each weekly contest, with the winning pictures, will appear in the Times the following week.

In order to clear up some misconceptions and answer the many questions raised by interested readers about the National Newspapers Snapshot Awards, here are some last minute pointers. (See also Page 18.)

The contest is open only to amateur photographers.

Only pictures made after July 1, 1964, qualify.

Snapshots made be of any brand of negative-type film.

Color transparencies do not qualify, however, black-and-white prints from color negative type film will be accepted.

No print or enlargement more than 10 inches in the longer dimensions will be accepted.

Art work or retouching on prints, or negatives from which they are made, will disqualify the entry.

Composite pictures, such as multiple printing or montages, will be rejected.

Pictures should not be mounted or framed.

You may enter as often as you wish within the contest dates.

Your name, address and the class in which you wish to enter the picture must be printed in ink on the back.

Black-and-white prints will not be returned.

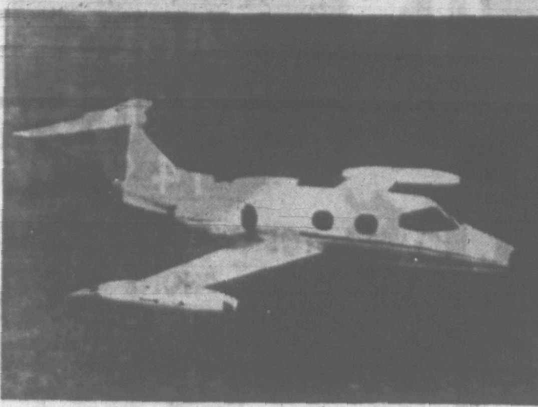
ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE



Friday, July 2, could be a red letter day for B.C.'s high-flying Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi.

That's the day Trans Aircraft Ltd. brings its new Lear Jet (above), powered by two General Electric CJ-610-4 turbojet engines, to Victoria for a series of demonstration flights. It is also the day Mr. Gaglardi has luncheon with Billy Graham in Vancouver.

There is no official word on how Mr. Gaglardi plans to travel to Vancouver that day, but the unofficial betting is that an eight-seat jet with 2,850-pound thrust for takeoff and a cruising speed of 570 miles an hour will be winging its way to Vancouver about 11:30 a.m.

And the odds are even greater that if Mr. Gaglardi does forsake the ferries that day he'll be right up there with the pilot explaining how to take the Gulf of Georgia curves.

At the recent meeting for John Diefenbaker in Victoria, the Opposition leader was recounting what he saw as the many shortcomings and blunders of the government.

What, he thundered, do you think of a government that acts like that?

Shouted a die-hard Conservative in the audience: "I'd hate to tell you what I think of them."

Mr. Diefenbaker smiled and continued his oration.

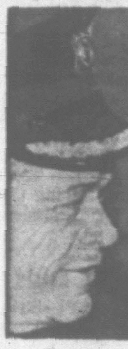
The bulging waistline is showing on some Saanich policemen.

Put another way, "some members are obviously overweight." That's what retired RCMP Supt. John Henry found in part of his report on the Saanich force.



Pearson

He says overweight policemen are seldom in necessary fit condition to make sustained physical effort which they can be called upon to make.

Chief W. A. Pearson said there is provision in this year's budget for a gymnasium and he hopes to start it.

"I have no intention of ordering a man into the gymnasium," he said.

"I hope he will see the writing on the wall, as it were."

Which union has the highest number of women workers?

No prize for guessing this one — it's the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union.

The ILGWU has 87 per cent women membership, according to a survey published in Canadian Labour, journal of the Canadian Labour Congress.

Other unions with high lady membership include the Canadian Air Line Flight Attendants Association, 80 per cent, and the United Hatters International Union, 70 per cent.

Canadian Labour notes many women hold union positions and mentions Huguette Plamondon of Montreal, a staff representative for the United Packinghouse Workers.

Being a Wren RCN reservist has its advantages for girls 18-20 who will be arriving here during July and August for summer training.

The Wrens are surrounded by hundreds of men at their HMCS Naden training classes.

The training program is a change in scenery and work from their normal occupations.

And they learn a lot of interesting facts on Canadian naval history and the RCN's role.

But there is one disadvantage, according to PO Patricia Luckman of Toronto.

Navy cooking is so good, the girls usually gain five pounds during their two-week tour of duty, she said.

HIT-AND-RUN CHARGES FOLLOW FATALITY

VANCOUVER (CP)—An Oregon seaman was killed and one from California injured Thursday when they were struck down by a hit-and-run driver.

Killed instantly was John M. Lappin, 59, of Portland, a fireman aboard the States Line freighter Arizona.

Albert Petsolt, 58, of Oakland, a wiper, suffered a broken leg and shoulder and back injuries. He staggered three blocks to the Arizona and collapsed after the accident.

A man surrendered himself to police two hours later. Charged with two counts of leaving the scene of an accident was Gary James Pringle.

Tri-U Fund Marks Time

Three Universities Capital Fund campaign will be halted until January, 1966, it was announced Thursday.

Vancouver Island division chairman W. H. Armstrong said the move was taken as a result of a request from the Community Chest of Greater Victoria "to avoid duplication of appeals."

Victoria chairman R. J. Bower indicated the Vancouver Island division will have passed the $1,000,000 mark before the end of July.

Donations from the Victoria area already total more than $815,000.

The total fund objective, $28,000,000, will go toward capital expansion of B.C.'s three public universities, the University of Victoria, University of B.C. and Simon Fraser University.

Big UN Donation Planned by U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Western diplomatic sources said today the United States will make a substantial financial contribution to the United Nations soon, despite the failure of President Johnson to announce any at the UN's 20th anniversary meeting.

Many delegates expressed disappointment that Johnson did not deal with the fiscal crisis in his speech Friday, but one diplomat familiar with the U.S. position said the omission was not significant. He said it was simply a case of deciding this was not the time or the place to deal with the issue.

Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, scheduled to wind up the two-day commemorative session today, was reported ready to emphasize that the U.S. is eager to end the deadlock over French and Soviet voting rights in the UN.

Informed sources said, however, that he, like Johnson, will avoid any announcement of a voluntary contribution and also will steer away from any back-down on the enforcement of Article 19 of the UN charter. This article provides that members two years in arrears in paying assessments will lose their vote in the general assembly.

The U.S. was understood to have decided to make a big contribution to the newly created solvency fund and the action would not be conditional on any similar contribution by the Soviet Union or France. The Russians have promised to give a substantial sum, but only after the no-vote truce in the assembly is ended and normal voting is resumed.

wanted a constitutional conference but gave no indication it would bow to such demands.

MAJORITY IS NEGRO

Rhodesia has a white population of 225,000, a Negro population of 3,500,000.

The Rhodesian issue proved to be the most emotional tackled by the leaders. Informants said at one stage Friday the conference appeared at the edge of a dangerous split.

In the end, the leaders reached a compromise that appeared acceptable to most of them — British agreement to seek "reasonable speed" in reaching a final settlement. Outside the conference, some Africans described this decision as an African "sell-out" to Britain.

While Nyerere dissociated himself from the conference communique on Rhodesia, no member exercised his right to veto the statement.

African delegates had committed themselves to force Britain to agree to majority rule in Rhodesia on a timetable that included a constitutional conference within three months. But informants said the African leaders spoke and acted with great restraint.

Pearson was said to have intervened in the debate with a hard-hitting statement asking the Africans to recognize Wilson's difficulties. Australia and New Zealand also backed Wilson in his search for approval to retain some freedom of action.

The communique said the prime ministers reaffirmed that "responsibility for leading . . . Rhodesia to independence must continue to rest with Britain."

On the Cyprus issue, the leaders asserted that the dispute between the Turks and the Greek-Cypriots should be solved within the framework of the United Nations "and in conformity with the wishes of the people of Cyprus."

Malaysia won support in its battle against Indonesia over Northern Borneo. The leaders expressed their sympathy to the Malaysian prime minister, Tunku Abdul Rahman, in his struggle to preserve Malaysia's position.

The Commonwealth's Viet Nam mission contacted Washington, Moscow, Peking, Hanoi and Saigon last Saturday, asking for permission to discuss possibilities of calling a peace conference.

Washington and Saigon accepted. Moscow refused to receive the mission if it did not first talk to Hanoi and the Viet Cong rebels. Peking flatly refused to talk with the mission.

Hanoi has not replied officially to the request, but North Vietnamese propaganda organs have labelled the mission a fraud serving U.S. interests.

Wilson indicated that the mission plans to meet UN Secretary General U Thant in Geneva early next month.

In their final communique, the Commonwealth leaders also proposed a world conference on disarmament with China represented, and pledged support for moves to halt the spread of nuclear weapons. They said the partial nuclear test-ban treaty should cover underground explosions as well as those in the atmosphere, in space and under the sea.

Pictures will be judged on general interest and/or appeal.

All decisions by the judges are final.

And your decision right now, if you haven't already done so, should be to enter the Times'-sponsored amateur photo contest.

You just may be the one to win a share of the $50,000 in prizes offered to the final winners.

At any rate you have nothing to lose by trying and you'll never know just how good an amateur photographer you are, until you enter your snapshot.

There are three qualifying classes in this year's contest —The World in Which We Live — People of the World — Animals of the World.

So rummage through your albums for "shots which you like" and which were shot after July 1 of 1964. Send them in today.

Or, if you can, take a ride around the country and keep your eyes open for life around you.

Even at home, in your kitchen or in any other spot in the house or the yard, there might be the prize-winning shot that will send you on an all expense paid trip around-the-world with your pockets full of money.

You have a camera, you've read all the rules, you've got a good eye, so enter soon.

Purposes, Policies Inadequate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, today told the world body's 20th commemorative session that the UN's world charter is not to blame for the stresses and strains of the organization.

The Burmese diplomat said "the danger is not that the charter will prove inadequate or unsuited to our purposes and policies. It is rather that our purposes and policies are inadequate, in some cases iminical, to the fulfillment of the purposes and principles to which the United Nations enthusiastically subscribed 20 years ago."

His comments led off a series of speeches in which representatives of the world's major powers had an opportunity to comment on President Johnson's call for UN help in untangling the Viet Nam crisis.

Russia's Nikolai Fedorenko, France's Roger Seydoux, the United Kingdom's Lord Caradon, and U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson were also scheduled to speak today.

In his remarks, Thant said, "there is danger that we may become so preoccupied with the immediate crises in Southeast Asia, in the Caribbean, in the Middle East and elsewhere that we are apt to ignore the larger crises that looms behind them."

East Germans Stake Claim To Regulate Barge Traffic

BERLIN (AP) — The East German government today acted on its threat to nullify Allied agreements on barge traffic between West Berlin and West Germany, and began issuing its own travel permits.

First indications were that the Western allies will accept this situation, to avoid a tieup of the vital waterway traffic.

Reports from a border station on the Havel River in Berlin said the East Germans are selling travel permits valid for one year for 200 marks ($55).

About 150 to 200 barges are steadily used on the West Berlin-West Germany run. They bring to the city 36 per cent of all freight, mainly fuel and other bulky goods.

No military goods used by the Western garrisons in the isolated city are transported by barge.

Until now, permits were issued by the waterways commission in Hamburg, representing the allies. The permits were free of charge and were valid indefinitely.

"They are not going to make much money with this rule," one West Berlin customs official said. "This is purely a move to demonstrate to the West so-called East German sovereignty."

NO OFFICIAL COMMENT

Official comment from the allies was unavailable.

However, authorized sources said the Western powers are not particularly concerned about the East German move, since the East Germans already control civilian road and rail traffic.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

An extensive low-pressure area in the southern prairies has spread cloud and rain over the Rocky Mountains and into eastern B.C. Numerous showers and a few thundershowers will occur there again over the week-end as a result of this system. A ridge of high pressure over the eastern Pacific will maintain the sunny skies along the B.C. coast except for early morning cloudiness but coastal temperatures will remain below seasonal normals.

CLASH KILLS 16 IN TENSE NATION

DR Rebels Hit Power Plant

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Political tension in San Francisco de Macoris exploded with sudden fury Friday and at least 16 persons were reported killed in clashes between the Dominican Republic's armed rebels and junta forces.

A four-man team of the Organization of American States said most of the casualties occurred when armed rebel partisans attacked the San Francisco power plant at dawn. The team, picked from the inter-American peace force, reported to the OAS here after returning from a quick helicopter trip to the city 60 miles northwest of Santo Domingo.

Twelve rebels and four members of the Dominican armed forces or police loyal to the junta were killed, OAS sources said.

A junta communique said eight rebels were killed and 30 captured in three attacks on military police and armed installations. It said one junta defender was wounded.

By nightfall, San Francisco was described as quiet by the OAS investigators and the junta.

Escapee Captured

HANEY (CP) — RCMP here said Melvyn Frederick Grant, 21, was recaptured Thursday after crashing a stolen car in which he was trying to escape from Haney Correctional Institution.

FIVE MARINES DROWN IN RIVER MISHAP

Cong Clobbers Post, Town

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong forces overran a district town and a battalion command post in separate attacks today. It was their first major offensive in South Viet Nam since the battle of Dong Xoai two weeks ago.

Military spokesman said 44 government infantrymen were killed and another 40 wounded at the command post near Duc Hoa, 20 miles west of Saigon. Viet Cong dead were given as 34.

The Viet Cong overran the district town of Tou Marong, 45 miles north of Kontum, near the Laotian border. Spokesmen said radio contact was lost with the town's 200 defenders.

Fighter-bombers were not able to get to the region because of a low cloud ceiling in the central highlands, the spokesman said.

Five U.S. marines were drowned today when an M-48 tank in which they were riding plunged into a 12-foot hole in a stream, a U.S. marine spokesman announced. Three other marines in the tank escaped.

BLAST KILLS THREE

An explosion ripped through a crowded truckload of Australian and American soldiers today, killing one American and two Australians and wounding 10 other Australians, a military spokesman reported.

He said the explosion, at Bien Hoa Air Base, was believed to have been accidental, possibly from a grenade.

The new fighting and mishaps came a day after terrorist bombs blasted a crowded floating restaurant in Saigon, and after the Viet Cong had executed an American prisoner.

Latest casualty figures from the restaurant blast were 42 killed and about 80 wounded, U.S. officials said. The dead included 12 Americans, they said.

The Cong executed U.S. Army Sgt. Harold George Bennett. His killing was in retaliation for executions of Viet Cong terrorists by the Saigon government.

HIT AMMO DUMP

In the air today, 15 U.S. Navy planes hit an ammunition dump 50 miles southwest of Hanoi and pilots reported heavy damage to the target, U.S. military spokesmen said.

The 15 A-4 Skyhawks from the aircraft carrier Midway encountered light ground fire but no enemy planes, and all the American craft returned safely to the carrier, the spokesmen said. The target was the Qui Han ammunition depot and the attack lasted about 15 minutes.

Earlier four Skyhawks from the Midway, supported by two F-4 Phantoms, carried out attacks on six targets over roadways from 60 to 115 miles south of Hanoi. The spokesmen said pilots reported damage to storage buildings, a truck, boxcars and bridges.

No enemy planes or ground fire were encountered, they said.

Ottawa Stakes Claim For Offshore Rights

OTTAWA (UPI) — Rejecting contrary views expressed by Quebec and British Columbia, Resources Minister Laing Friday stated Canadian offshore mineral rights are a federal jurisdiction.

Laing's statement in the Commons indicated the touchy issue likely would come in for some heavy debate during the federal-provincial conference which opens here July 19.

Laing was replying to Opposition questions concerning an oil and gas exploration permit granted to Pan American Petroleum of Calgary for work in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Laing said Pan American had made "regulation application" for the exploratory permits last June 9.

"It is the view of the federal government that as the seabed resources of the Gulf of St. Lawrence do not lie within the boundaries of any province, they are subject to the administration of the federal government," he said.

Both British Columbia and Quebec have been pushing for provincial control of the offshore mineral rights.

The Pacific coast question is now before the Supreme Court of Canada.

Dock Strike Envoy Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal conciliation board has recommended to Labor Minister MacEachen that he appoint a special mediator to settle a dispute that has led to the strike by 1,000 employees of the National Harbors Board in Montreal.

The unanimous report of the three-man board said this should be done "as soon as possible."

Working Together

FORMATION OF A CAPITAL Region Services Board has moved a step nearer accomplishment as a result of Thursday's meeting of local officials with Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell, although there are still consents to be obtained.

Basically, the plan is a logical approach to the management of services in the area which overlap municipal boundaries or are duplicated in the various districts. There is a certain loss of sovereignty involved where an overall joint board would have jurisdiction in certain limited fields, but this criticism is largely theoretical.

This whole area is so closely integrated in its community life that the boundaries separating different sections emerge as quite arbitrary. People live in one municipality, work in another, may own property in several, and shop in markets regardless of politically drawn borders. There can be no important difference of functions in such an environment, and the attempts of various regional politicians to view the residents of other areas as little more than foreigners can have no validity.

But the intent of the regional program is not to foster amalgamation among the city, municipalities and other territories of the Sooke-to-Sidney capital region. It is only to provide joint management of joint enterprises on the grounds of efficiency and economy. The present proposal calls for a minimum program of co-operation. The proposed regional board would deal only with community planning and zoning, a sewer survey, a hospital needs survey, and establishment of regional parks.

Member areas would opt out of such parts of the joint program as they wished — Esquimalt, for instance, is not considered as a part of the parks planning — but the probability is that as the benefits of the arrangement were made evident there would be fewer and fewer drop-outs. In time, the joint effort could be extended to other common services, as schools and waterworks are already jointly administered. It is to be hoped that superficial regional loyalties of a purely political nature will not be permitted to hamper what is an obvious step forward for the whole community — a step which in some cases should have been taken long ago.

Wherever the public is called upon for an expression of opinion, the voters should make it plain that they are more interested in obtaining the best services possible for their money than in preserving parochial compartments which at this stage of the community's growth may only hamper efficient administration of our common affairs.

The Mounting Hackles

WHILE WORLD ATTENTION is focused on South Viet Nam as the centre of a Chinese Communist effort to dominate Southeast Asia, there are increasingly numerous reports that the focus may soon shift north and west to Thailand.

The Thai government, along with independent western observers, claims that a definite pattern of Communist subversion has been established in both the northeastern and southern parts of the country. The pattern seems to be the same as that established in South Viet Nam and the roots of the trouble are similar as well.

For some months now there has been an upsurge in "terrorist" activity: the killing of village chiefs and police, arms smuggling, banditry, anti-American leaflets and radio propaganda.

With an underpaid and undermanned police force in the provinces and years-long neglect of provincial affairs by the central government in Bangkok, the ground for Communist subversion is said to be just as fertile as it was in South Viet Nam. And like Viet Nam, Thailand has a long, indefensible border with neutralist Laos which Communist agents can cross at will.

Most of the trouble seems to be centred on the northeastern area where organizations have been set up and reputedly financed by the Chinese, such as the "Thai Patriotic Front," the "Patriotic Workers Union" and the "Thailand Independence Movement."

It would certainly be logical for Red China to want to get trouble started in Thailand now with the hope that it would soon divert American military strength from South Viet Nam and draw the United States even more deeply into the morass of an Asian land war. China's foreign minister, Chen Yi, was in fact quoted several months ago in European diplomatic circles as having stated that guerrilla warfare would be started in Thailand before this year is over.

A Chinese-directed flare-up in Thailand could not help but enormously elevate the dangers of full-scale warfare in Asia, leading perhaps to direct American-Chinese confrontation. The Chinese undoubtedly do not wish to fight the United States; but the United States may feel that the only way out is to pose a direct threat against China itself.

Barry the Teacher?

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON indicate little enthusiasm among Republican organization leaders for the projected formation of a new conservative group headed by Barry Goldwater as honorary chairman.

The proposed "Free Society Association," as it would be called, would, according to Mr. Goldwater, "educate more and more American people to the values of the Republican Party."

The veteran leaders of the GOP have reason to be lukewarm. They cannot forget what happened to the Republican Party when Mr. Goldwater took it over at the 1964 presidential nominating convention. Last November 4 they saw the wreckage of their party in the humiliating defeat suffered by Mr. Goldwater. It was realized at the time that the ultra-right stance of their candidate, some of his more outlandish professions of faith ("extremism in the defence of liberty is no vice") and his repudiation of the moderates, had done much to destroy the Republican chances and party unity.

The professionals can be forgiven if they look a little skeptically at the creation of a new Goldwater-endorsed organization "to educate the American people to the values of the Republican Party." They would want to know who was to be teacher in this educational exercise.

Beyond that there is the matter of funds. Such a new organization would tap some of the revenue the Republicans need for their rebuilding operations after last November's landslide. The Republican National Committee could scarcely welcome a diversion of money away from its control.

In the Nets

THE ACCIDENTAL CAPTURE of two killer whales near Namu, and the accidental escape of one of them, has aroused international interest. With so much money involved in the possible sale of an animal which can be truthfully advertised as the only one in captivity, there is an obvious urge for readers to identify themselves with the lucky fishermen. But many, remembering the dismal fate of an earlier capture at Vancouver, tend to identify themselves with the whale—and are happy about the escape. Caught in the nets of modern living, we might well feel a certain kinship for the captives.

A GAMBLE ON CHINA

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The Case Against 'Preventive War'

Lippmann

THE quarrel in the Communist camp has become ever more ferocious, and from our point of view ever more interesting. We have to begin by making a guess as to why, as the military situation in Viet Nam grows worse, the Sino-Soviet quarrel becomes fiercer. There must be something of very high importance at stake between Moscow and Peking. My guess — there is no way of knowing—is that the intensification of the quarrel is due at bottom to Red China's fears that there is in the making a Soviet-American understanding for the containment of China.

If this came about, China would be strategically surrounded. There would be the Soviet nuclear power along its northern frontier, and there would be American nuclear power, allied in some measure with the Soviet Union, along the Chinese southern and southeastern frontiers.

China's fear that this might happen could explain a number of otherwise puzzling things. It could explain Peking's recent accusation that the Soviet Union is an American stooge conspiring to end the war and deprive Peking of a total victory. It could explain the fact, which has now been confirmed officially by the Soviet Union, that Peking has been opposing and obstructing Soviet military aid to North Viet Nam. For if the Russians appeared as the principal military defender of Hanoi, they would acquire a principal influence on the settlement of the war.

The Bitter End

Moreover, if my guess is correct, the Chinese government believes that if the war can be made to go on to the bitter end, the result will be to expel the Soviet Union and the United States from its southern borderland. Without having to fight itself, Red China would then fall heir to the wreck and ruin of Viet Nam, and the historically anti-Chinese people of Viet Nam would be decimated and prostrated.

These are high stakes, and only high stakes can account for the fierceness of the Chinese campaign against the Russians. If the hypothesis is correct, the first practical conclusion we must draw from it is that we must not be overzealous.

The Soviet Union is still a Communist society, and we must not embarrass it by treating it as if it had turned renegade. We should act on the principle that the Soviet Union is a mature Communist society, and because of that — since both of us are mature societies —we have a common vital interest in co-existence and world peace.

It is not for us to make ostentatious and dramatic overtures to Moscow. But we can move with deliberation to remove the minor irritations, as for example over the payments to the United Nations. Beyond this we should let other governments do the running while we hold on in South Viet Nam and ponder the crucial and unavoidable decision of whether to encourage negotiation among the Vietnamese.

The fierce intransigence of Red China is a fact. Potentially and theoretically it threatens everyone. The great question is whether Red China's militancy and expansionism will be moderated in the course of time or intensified during the few years that remain before Red China becomes a nuclear power.

It is a gamble, of course. But I am betting that moderation will appear in the course of time and natural evolution and can be brought on by patience, firmness and diplomatic skill. The alternative is preventive war.

Back in the late 1940s when the cold war had begun, when Stalin was at his worst, I was invited to lunch in the Pentagon with a high official. The object of the lunch was to persuade me to write articles in favor of launching a preventive nuclear war against the Soviet Union.

Stalin, I was reminded, was a villain who was moving step by step toward the conquest of the world. There was no stopping him by measures short of nuclear war, and as we had the Air Force and the nuclear bombs, while Stalin did not yet have them, it was our duty to strike him before he struck us. Not to do so would be criminal negligence. If we flinched and waited we would lose the future.

I did not write the articles, but the luncheon made a profound impression on me, particularly in the years which have followed during which the Soviet Union has emerged from Stalinism. We gambled correctly that Stalinism would pass, and we won that gamble. We shall have to take the same gamble with Red China.

THE SEXUAL REVOLUTION

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

An Irrelevant 'Freedom'

Hutchison

THE Sexual Revolution, as its triumphant leaders call it, produces so many learned books, articles and debates that the thing has become a suffocating bore. But this sudden rediscovery and leering exploitation of certain obvious facts as old as human experience misses the main point. Sexual freedom, we are told, is being achieved after centuries of struggle. Humanity, in the Western world at least, is emancipated. Man has broken his chains. In fact, he has merely forged new ones. As any Canadian over 50 years of age can testify, personal freedom on the whole is not growing. It is shrinking, rapidly.

Half a century ago the sexual code was stricter than it is now. Sigmund Freud had not yet possessed the Western mind, psychoanalysis was in its infancy and, incredible as it may seem today, most men went to their graves without suspecting their own sanity.

By modern standards the country swarmed with lunatics and anarchists, often the most respected citizens of any town. Sex existed even in those dark ages but it was not a public issue, a general obsession or a major commercial enterprise.

That was before we invented the all-wise and all-powerful state to protect our liberties.

A man seldom thought of the government except on election day. He drove (a horse, I mean) without an examination or a licence. He built a house where and how he pleased without the permission of the building inspector or the civic zoning law. He broke the prairie land, cleared the Pacific jungle and almost absent-mindedly built a nation without any thought of social responsibility or the least regard for public relations.

He had other freedoms as well, even freedom from income taxes. His name and number were not whirled through a computing machine in Ottawa. His private affairs were unknown to the minister of national revenue.

He was free, too, from the tyranny of statistics. No one had heard of the Gross National Product. The cost-of-living index had not been devised to alarm the housewife, nor inflation to rob her of the family's savings. The average man was poor but lacked any figures to measure his poverty and excite his envy.

He was also shockingly ignorant, especially of his own ignorance. Some of the most powerful figures in politics and business had never been through high school. No one needed a university degree to get a good job. No personnel manager or psychologist calculated the candidate's intelligence quotient if he looked reasonably honest and could do a day's work.

No youngster in search of employment asked anxiously about the company's pension plan because there was none. He was not thinking of his retirement in old age. He was thinking of life while still young enough to enjoy it.

It is useless, however, to explain the different attitude of earlier times in Canada. The contemporary youngster wouldn't understand or believe it anyway.

I am not arguing, either, that things were better then than they are today. No doubt in many ways they were much worse and full of misery, vice and injustice now unthinkable. I am arguing only that men were essentially freer and that the new sexual freedom, touching a single aspect of life, does not begin to balance the loss of other freedoms, above all the freedom to live without the fear of total destruction.

Indeed, it is ironical and preposterous to talk of freedom as if it were growing when the Bomb hangs over every household, when literally no one who can think at all is free of the haunting, universal threat.

Invisible Ink

To every bill of rights forbidding cruel and unnatural punishments, an extra paragraph has been added with invisible ink. The punishment of annihilation has become legal and denies all the freedoms specified in the other paragraphs.

When man everywhere seeks security in a thousand laws, charters and contracts he is less secure than he has ever been at any previous time. To this, the most obvious fact of our time, the so-called Sexual Revolution is irrelevant

The older sort of liberals (in no partisan sense) supposed that men would always choose freedom before any other consideration and certainly they have often sacrificed their lives for it in battle.

But in modern society they constantly weave around themselves innumerable tiny strands of restriction that together form a network imprisoning the ordinary individual as Gulliver was enmeshed by the pygmies.

We break one frail strand of sexual taboo and a cheer goes up throughout the Western world but every day our parliaments add another strand of one kind or another and every strand diminishes the human person.

Hence the paramount question before us is not the wisdom of this or that policy, political doctrine or party, not whether we can conquer poverty, as assuredly we can, not whether we shall be increasingly rich as our cunning machines already guarantee.

No, the question is whether the individual can survive in an industrialized system where the machines threaten to make man a comfortable slave with his social security card, two cars in the garage and plenty of Bombs for everybody if the experiment fails.

Nature Rambles

By FREEMAN KING

THOSE who like to find unusual flora should go to a bog or marsh. Here there are many different plants.

Along the edges you can find the Hardhack with its purple, pyramidal plumes; those will be mixed with several kinds of Willows.

Also at the margins will be the Silverweed with its buttercup-like flower, along with the Brooklime and perhaps some Knotweed.

Often growing here will be the Western Birch or a Lodgepole Pine.

Among the conifers will be the Sitka Spruce with its sharp needles and soft, light brown cones.

Here in abundance will be the Labrador Tea. See how different the new leaves are, green on the under-side while the old leaves are a mat of reddish hairs and curled at the edges. Do you know that this plant belongs to the heather family?

Associated with it will be the Swamp Laurel and the Bog Cranberry, with its dainty pinkish-white flower.

Underfoot will be the Sphagnum moss with its many colors and its pungent odor. Do you know that this moss can be used as a dressing for wounds because of its absorbant qualities. The plant forms the peat which is used as a fertilizer and in some places as a fuel.

IN THE DROSS

Le Mans, a Win for TV

By TONY EMERY

Emery

IF you want to know how I kicked the television habit, it is really the simplest thing to explain: I made sure that it wasn't in the living room. I had it tucked away in the basement in our last house, and where we live now it is pushed upstairs in what I dared not call "the children's corner" if they were around to hear me. This way they can watch it after we have yelled at them to find out if they have finished their homework, and until we yell at them to turn it off and go to bed. Like most junior citizens they believe in having it on loud enough to wake up not just the ordinary dead, but the deaf departed—say Beethoven—so we usually sit around in the evenings quietly, Darby and Joan, with a knotty great stick to beat on the ceiling when the gunfire and gutbucket music rise above the level of middle-aged toleration.

We did get our own back last Saturday and Sunday morning, though. We oldies actually got up at seven-thirty in the morning to watch the start and finish of the classic 24-hours race at Le Mans. As you may be aware, the Early Bird satellite was whirling around in space ready to transmit the picture, but there was some old-fashioned hitch on the ground and all we got was the sound, although that was quite exciting.

On the Sunday morning there was nothing wrong with the transmission at all, and television captured most of the magic of that half hour before the big clock above the pits points to four o'clock, and the leading car comes in to get the chequered flag. By means of hand-held remote control cameras and a jet helicopter the cars could be followed most of the way round the circuit.

We could see them flashing down the Mulsanne straight at around 200 miles an hour—the Fords were touching 218 mph, which is a respectable velocity for a car which has to come down to 20 mph at the end of the straight to get round the right angle bend—and follow them through the twisty back roads to White House Corner and on to the straight past the pits. Exactly 8.3 miles is the length of the lap, and the faster cars were covering it in 3½ minutes. Does that impress? The winner, going very cautiously in the last hour of the race, was still lapping in 4½ minutes—after 24 hours and over 2,800 miles, and every kind of crisis.

With a Future?

I have watched the race at Le Mans twice, and although I would always rather be there on the circuit than watch it on a screen, it has to be said that the viewer sees more of the race on television than he ever could on the dusty crowded Sarthe circuit. It almost makes me feel that TV has a future.

Any excessive optimism for the medium was kept well in check by a film shown on television on Sunday night. It was made by Richard Cawston of the BBC's television staff, and it covered the use made of television by an assortment of countries: Japan, the U.S.A., Soviet Russia, Thailand, Egypt, Nigeria and Italy were some of them.

Outside the Communist bloc the favorite—because the cheapest—way of filling hours of programming is by screening old movies, and so it comes about that the quiet canals of Thailand and the grass-hutted villages of Africa, and the remote hamlets of the Nile Delta all resound nightly to the slow drawl and the lightning draw and the staccato pistol shots of antique "Westerns."

Cawston was hardly fair to the U.S. networks in showing only a clever montage of "commercials," each more nauseating than the last, but if this part of the movie was slanted, the underlying truth of the film remained unshaken. Who can doubt that television, taken over the whole globe and judged by its programs in their totality, is in fact not making the enormous contribution to education and human betterment that it is capable of making?

Teacher Envied

We saw a glimpse of what the medium could do when Cawston showed us the villagers of a remote Apennine village in Italy learning to read and write. Some of them looked about 80 years old (which means in those parts that they were at least 60) and with them were their grandchildren and great-grandchildren. They watched with a close attention that made me envy their teacher, as they painstakingly traced out a copybook line from the screen, and copied it into their books.

As one saw them waveringly writing "Cristoforo Colombo ha scoperto l'America," one could not help feeling that the proper sentence for them to practise on might have been "L'America ha rovinato il televisione." Or if the commercialization of television has not exactly ruined it, it has certainly degraded it from what it might have been, and made of it a cheap toy, a gaudy entertainment.

It will be interesting to see whether the emergent nations of Africa and Asia use television wisely and well, or whether they will follow the lead given by the more "civilized" countries and purvey advertisements and parlor games and give-away programs, spaced out with ancient movies. From the signs that Cawston detected, and showed us in his film, and from my own observations in Spain and Portugal, I would wager that garbage will triumph.

THE SIMPLE THINGS

I am thankful that I have never lost my joy in simple things. And by joy, I mean a real, definite pleasure. . . The day you can't enjoy a play unless you sit in a comfortable, and expensive, stall, when a beautiful dish of fried eggs and bacon, the smell of newly-baked bread, the fragrance of coffee fail to stir you, make you experience a little thrill of excitement—you can tell yourself that you have grown OLD!

Sauve Adds Up National Unity

OTTAWA—Forestry Minister Sauve had, I imagine, a tough time with arithmetic in grade school. It shows even yet, in the way he adds:

Three plus one equals two. That is, Upper Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia plus Lower Canada—the Confederation lineup 98 years ago—equals two, namely English Canada and French Canada.

Also, three plus six equals two. That is, the three English-speaking provinces of Confederation plus the six English-speaking provinces admitted or created since then, plus French-speaking Quebec equals two, namely English Canada and French Canada.

It is on this addition that Mr. Sauve bases his formula for national unity: an equal partnership between Quebec, population five million, and the other nine provinces, population 15 million.

* * *

"We (in Quebec) are finally preparing to take our long-awaited place as full partners in Confederation with our English-speaking countrymen," Mr. Sauve said June 3 in an address to the Montreal Labor Council.

"Equal partners with equal duties, equal privileges, equal rights and equal responsibilities."

He spoke of Parliament as the forum for "conducting relations" between Quebec and English Canada, "where the spokesmen and representatives of both partners in Confederation must meet together to decide the destinies of our common country . . . . on the basis of equality."

Quebec, he emphasized, must elect high-calibre men to Parliament so that Quebec and the rest of the country would "become equal partners in fact rather than in theory."

Whose theory? Obviously Mr. Sauve's, for one.

In the era of Wellington and Waterloo, the sesquicentennial of which the British have just been celebrating, the arrogant Albionites used to say that one Englishman was worth ten Frenchmen. Mr. Sauve is more modest. In his Canada the ratio would be three to one.

His Canada would be saddled with equal partnership between a 25 per cent minority and a 75 per cent majority. This implies a minority veto on substantive decisions, so that the Canadian government could be frozen in the same futility as the UN Security Council under the big power veto.

Justice Minister Favreau's rival formula for national unity is much more realistically and democratically based, on equality for all citizens, regardless of race, language, creed or color. It would unite Canadians by making them cognizant of what they have in common, and by destroying prejudices that deprive French-speaking Canadians of their share of the common heritage.

Mr. Sauve's equal partnership is based on falsification of the arithmetic of history: nine plus Quebec does not equal two. Obviously Canada comprises two main linguistic groups, but Canada is not a partnership of these twain; it is a partnership of regional political and cultural groups, originally four, now ten. Mr. Sauve's insistence that a political organization is based on an unpolitical linguistic fact merely accentuates the division of the country on linguistic lines. Thus his formula for national unity is actually one for national disunity.

* * *

Mr. Sauve is a brilliant man, and it would do him injustice to assume he doesn't recognize his case's failure on historical, democratic and logical grounds. But Mr. Sauve's proposition to make each French-speaking citizen the political equal of three English-speaking citizens will bring him votes in Quebec. On this proposition he personally can't lose.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

'The Beauty of Sport'

FOR 15 of the first 23 years of my life I gave a full measure of devotion to sport.

Among my earliest memories are pick-up games of rounders in the small plot surrounding the "House of Parliament," as we called the convenience at the top of the Foul Bay cement steps.

Stott

From that I graduated to indifferent unorganized baseball on what used to be a big vacant field on Robertson Street. At Margaret Jenkins I played soccer, more uninspired baseball and even less impressive lacrosse.

At Oak Bay High it was more soccer and a glamorous introduction to rugby that fell short of installing me on the first team. There, too, I played a little tennis, with more ability to wallop the ball over the fence than to control my forehand drive. In between these sports there was a flier at basketball of little success and a nudging acquaintance with track.

I confess it now, though I didn't then, that my most athletic muscle manipulated my tongue. No one would say I was a star at team sports, but very few youngsters talked a better game than I.

* * *

A glib tongue and a sort of Julius Caesar privilege which allowed me to write my own press notices brought small success as a springboard diver. Had I been able to perform as well as I talked the sport, I would have been very good indeed.

It surprises me now that so few people saw through my deceit and conceit. But if I succeeded, with the help of this newspaper and Archie's support, in the mild deception of self-image-making, I honestly loved sport and participating in it.

A two-and-one-half front somersault is as remote to me now as the personal prospect of walking in space. If, by accident, I caught a rugby ball and somebody tackled me with the enthusiasm I was tackled as a boy, I'd probably sit down and cry. And just thinking of a hard game of tennis sets me worrying about cardiac conditions.

The memories, though, are sweet, and I think the dividends I derived from sport, no matter how indifferently I played, are greater than have come my way from any other activity.

They aren't tangible. Once, after an exhibition trip to Ireland, I wound up with 10 bob more than I started because somebody made a mistake in expense accounting. And twice I won swim suits during my 10 years of competitive aquatics.

The dividends I cherish come from the very fact that they were not represented in terms of cash value. They included friendships. They involved the high exhileration of winning, the satisfactions of good workouts, the contacts with people—and some pretty stiff body contacts that caused bruises worn with pride. Like most of the young people of my generation—and like most competitors today, I hope—we played because there was joy in it.

* * *

This is the sort of background against which I view the criticism of athletics today. Dr. Delbert Oberteuffer, head of the Ohio State University physical education department, is the most recent critic. He foresees the destruction of "the beauty of sport" unless certain evil influences are corrected. He ought to know. Ohio State didn't establish a monopoly on diving championships during the late war and early postwar years just by hoping that good material would come to the school. The school went after it—and very successfully.

Dr. Oberteuffer does not single out this recruiting practice for excoriation. He objects to the "personality cult" established by the playboy athlete, the cult of "the will to win at any costs," the cult of violence in football and hockey which often inspires mass violence, the cheating that passes occasionally as smart tactics, the injustice of some athletic associations which penalize a team for the misdemeanor of one member, and the cult of solemn, deadly seriousness which some attach to sport and which leaves no room for fun.

* * *

Good for Dr. Oberteuffer. But isn't he overlooking an important factor? Throughout the world, thousands, millions, of boys and girls play for fun — not for the entertainment purposes of professional sport, which is an industry with the inevitable concerns of profit and loss. And as long as the kids play because they love to play—because there isn't anything else in the world that appeals to them more—the "beauty of sport" will survive, at least if the adults will temper their solemn, serious inclination to over-organize it.

Another Secret Quebec Deal?

By PETER NEWMAN

The most significant problem this Parliament, will have to resolve before breaking off for a badly needed summer recess involves a precedent-shattering request made by Quebec Premier Jean Lesage in the unusual form of an "Address to the Queen."

Because it turns on fine points of constitutional law—the least precise of the legal disciplines—the issue has received relatively little public attention. But the procedure which has been followed by the Pearson government is troubling some of the most knowledgeable parliamentary veterans and there's a growing suspicion that some kind of secret Quebec-Ottawa deal may be involved.

Lesage is seeking passage of a new section (79A) of the British North America Act which would reduce the powers of Quebec's upper chamber.

Under the proposed amendment, the Legislative Council—the Quebec version of the Senate, which is now dominated by a Union Nationale majority of political appointees—would lose its authority to obstruct legislation passed by the elected Legislative Assembly.

The Formula

The time of Lesage's request is indirectly connected with the controversial Fulton-Favreau formula for repatriating the Canadian constitution.

Quebec is the only province which hasn't yet adopted the formula, which the Pearson government is anxious to add to its list of legislative accomplishments. Although Lesage himself approves the Fulton-Favreau approach, he faces heavy opposition inside his cabinet, partly because adoption of the formula would strengthen the veto powers of Quebec's upper chamber.

Some members of the Pearson administration are hopeful that by helping Lesage reduce the legislative council's powers, they would make it easier for him to sell his colleagues on the F-F formula.

The object of all this massively legal and political manoeuvring is the "Address to the Queen" passed by the Quebec Legislative Assembly on May 26, which embodied the resolution reducing the legislative council's powers. In a kind of comic opera move, the upper chamber then rejected the "Address", substituting one of its own which requests that no action be taken on the lower house motion.

A By-Pass

The Lesage government by-passed the upper chamber by requesting that its address be transmitted to the Queen for approval, through the governor-general of Canada. The relevant documents were received in Ottawa by Secretary of State Maurice Lamontagne on the morning of June 1, and immediately passed to Governor-General Georges Vanier.

On June 8, the governor-general formally requested the government's advice on how to proceed. The question was discussed by cabinet on the morning of June 15.

The next day, Paul Martin, in his capacity as acting prime minister during Lester Pearson's absence in London, informed the Commons that the government intended to adopt a most unusual procedure. It amounts to a new constitutional amending method for the province.

Three Ways

In the past, there have been only three ways of obtaining amendments to the BNA Act.

1. By invoking Section 91-1, which allows the federal government to amend sections of the constitution concerned exclusively with matters that come under federal jurisdiction.

2. By invoking Section 92-1, which allows a province to amend matters, exclusively in its own jurisdiction. (Quebec can't use this method in this case, because the legislative council won't approve the amendment.)

3. By forwarding to Westminster a joint address of the Canadian Commons and Senate, requesting a constitutional amendment. (This procedure is customarily used for changes that affect more than one province.)

The Pearson government has decided to establish a fourth category for its treatment of the current Quebec request. It plans to pass on the Lesage amendment to London with cabinet, rather than parliamentary approval.

The justification for this departure from precedent seems to be that since the proposed amendment affects only Quebec (because no other province still retains an upper chamber), the federal parliament need not sit in judgment on the request.

Condemned

The Pearson government's method was roundly condemned in the Commons during the past week.

John Diefenbaker lambasted the procedure as part of an "arrangement made under the table" between Lesage and Pearson, while Tommy Douglas accused the Liberal administration of "setting aside any pretensions it ever had for parliamentary government and the constitution."

Paul Martin has admitted that the government's actions are unprecedented, though he stoutly maintains they are "entirely constitutional."

Official protestations to the contrary, it seems clear that the Pearson government is performing a large constitutional favor for Jean Lesage.

Juan Bosch Protests U.S. Version Of the Dominican Republic Revolt

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

LONDON — A document written by the ex-president of the Dominican Republic, Senor Juan Bosch, in whose name the Caamano forces are maintaining their resistance in the civil war in the Old City of Santo Domingo, has reached The Observer from Puerto Rico, where Bosch is now in exile.

It seeks to clear up several unanswered questions, notably why Bosch himself is not at the scene of conflict in his own country, and to show that the U.S. intelligence authorities were ill-informed about the situation in the Dominican Republic before the revolt began.

JUAN BOSCH

. . . no parallel with Cuba

When the United States special envoy, Mr. John Bartlow Martin, was sent to Santo Domingo, writes Sr. Bosch, "I was delighted by the news because I believed that Ambassador Martin knew about the Dominican situation and would be able to orientate himself quickly . . .

"But on speaking to Mr. Martin I realized that although he had lived more than a year among Dominicans, and although I told him repeatedly of the revolutionary spirit of the people, the ambassador had not succeeded in understanding the Dominican situation. He was and is a sensitive and good-hearted man . . . but he hasn't reached the point of understanding what kind of people these are, and what they aspire to, and why they fight."

Sr. Bosch denies that the movement started in his name, to restore the constitutional government, was a Communist one or one liable to be dominated by Communists.

"The ambassador," he writes, "went on talking about Communist control of the Dominican revolutionary forces. Mr. Martin didn't know that 50 years before, Mexico had had a similar revolution, and that it hadn't been Communist; that this was the kind of revolution which all we Latin Americans understood; that Communist revolutions followed a different pattern, in which the first thing is that the Communists take power and then the revolution happens."

Lack Training

A Russian official, Sr. Bosch suggests, would never make the mistake of confusing a democratic with a Communist revolution, but United States officials mostly lack the training and professionality of their Russian counterparts, and so cannot tell the difference.

Often, he alleges, the North Americans believe that anybody who talks about liberty and social justice must be a Communist:

"Finally," he says, "the fear of Communism is so continually propagated in the United States, without explaining how serious Communism is and how it works, that logically a man like Ambassador Martin has to believe there is a Communist revolution in the Dominican Republic, given the fact that this revolution doesn't correspond to what he and millions of North Americans understand by revolution"—this being, he suggests, a military coup which in most cases represents no revolution at all.

Sr. Bosch discounts any parallel with what happened in Cuba, quoting Mr. Thomas Mann, U.S. under-secretary of state in charge of Latin American affairs, as saying: "Look at Cuba. There were only 12 people in the beginning and yet they took it over."

Well Organized

"If," writes Sr. Bosch, "Mr. Mann means by this that there were only 12 Communists in Cuba, and that although there were so few of them they had the power to take over the island, one must remind Mr. Mann that the Cuban Communist Party . . . was the most numerous, the best organized, and the best run in Latin America long before Fidel Castro landed on the Cuban coast in 1956."

Why, in these circumstances, didn't Sr. Bosch go home to lead the revolution which broke out in his name? Because initially, he says, the Americans wouldn't let him. The second secretary of the U.S. Embassy ("Mr. Arthur Bresensky — I don't know if I've got his name right") had shouted at members of the Dominican Revolutionary Party: "We won't let Bosch come back here!"

Subsequently, when Mr. Martin went to Puerto Rico, Sr. Bosch suggested it would help matters all round if he returned, and asked for an aircraft to be put at his disposal. He says Mr. Martin replied: "No, it's impossible; they'd kill you."

"But," said Sr. Bosch, "if so many Dominicans are dying, it doesn't matter much if I die, too."

Don't Understand

"Mr. President," he reports Mr. Martin as saying, "you don't understand the situation. Your people have shot at me, so have Wessin's (the forces now commanded by Gen Imbert), and even the Marines. If you go, they'll kill you, and you're their leader; you mustn't die."

But the following day, says Bosch, Mr. Martin returned and asked "Would you return to advise and assist in the rebuilding of the country?"

This time it was Sr. Bosch himself who refused. In the meantime a possible pro-Bosch government had been mooted under Dr. Molino Urena, and Sr. Bosch didn't want to embarrass him. ("If I go back I shall be the president").

Another Plea

Later, he says, the North Americans made another plea for him to return, with several conditions, among them that he had to declare that the revolution had fallen into Communist hands and that therefore the landing of U.S. forces was justified.

This, Sr. Bosch says, he refused to do. "Mr. Martin answered that I had to make this declaration. 'Excuse me, Mr. Ambassador,' I said, I am not a North American official and therefore Washington cannot dictate to me what I should do. I understand that you defend the point of view of your country, but I must defend the point of view of mine."

In 35 Years—6 Billion People

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON — One sentence in President Johnson's annual message to Congress last January has set loose a rising tide of debate about birth control, long taboo for United States and other governments as too controversial to handle.

"I will seek new ways to use our knowledge to help deal with the explosion in world population and the growing scarcity of world resources," Johnson said.

The effect was widespread, in the U.S. and abroad.

Many now regard the population increase — perhaps reaching 4,300,000,000 human beings by 1980 compared with the present total of 3,300,000,000—as mankind's gravest threat.

Director-General B. R. Sen of the Food and Agriculture Organization, a United Nations affiliate, saw the issue in these terms last March 24 in a New York speech — the strongest reference he has made about birth control:

Most Critical

"The next 35 years will be the most critical period in man's history. Either we take the fullest measures both to raise agricultural productivity and to stabilize population growth or we will face disaster of an unprecedented magnitude."

Everywhere, births tend upward and deaths decrease.

The increase has been most rapid—and will continue to be most rapid, experts fear,—in the poor nations. Thus India and the United Arab Republic for example have seen their rising populations engulf economic advances painfully fashioned from foreign and domestic funds.

Studies by the UN and private groups have pointed to a world population by 2000 of 6,000,000,000.

Birth control is no magic wand, it is agreed. Programs in India and elsewhere have had indifferent success so far whether by pills or other means. One reason is the problem of getting poor and often-illiterate people to use them effectvely.

The Washington Senate subcommittee was told this week that some of the chronically poor in the capital didn't even know about the birds and bees.

The other line of attack is more food but while it is admitted that the land and sea can yield much more than they have to date, a discouraging feature is the inability to produce much more in the areas where the need is greatest.

THE GALLUP POLL

Davie Fulton Gains Favor

By The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

When given the choice between Davie Fulton and three Conservative premiers, as successor to leadership of the Conservative party, should Mr. Diefenbaker resign, about three in ten voters choose Mr. Fulton.

Next to the ex-minister of justice, John Robarts of Ontario was second choice, named by 15% of the people. Duff Roblin, premier of Manitoba, and John Stanfield, premier of Nova Scotia, each won 6% of the voters.

Presumably as a "favorite son," greatest support for Mr. Fulton comes from the west (43%) and least support (21%) from Ontario.

The question: "If Mr. Diefenbaker should resign, which of these possible successors do you think would make the best leader for the Conservative party?"

Citation Ignored

NEW YORK (AP)—Two members of a Pulitzer Prize music jury, whose recommendation that Duke Ellington be cited was turned down by the Pulitzer advisory board, resigned from the jury recently.

The third member of the music jury said he did not resign because it would have been academic—he was only named to serve this year.

The resignations of Winthrop Sargeant, music critic of the New Yorker magazine, and Robert Eyer, music critic of the Long Island newspaper Newsday, were in a joint letter to the advisory board.

The two and Thomas Sherman, music critic of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, had voted not to recommend a Pulitzer Prize for a specific musical work appearing last year.

Instead, they recommended a special citation to the noted jazz composer, musician and bandleader, for his work over the years.

In their resignation letter, Sargeant and Eyer said they proposed the citation because in their opinion Ellington had "made an incalculable contribution to contemporary music."

They said the advisory board had seen "fit to ignore this recommendation . . . without any plausible explanation either to us, to Mr. Ellington, or to the public."

SHOW PARADE

Stage Sets Ready to Go Six Weeks Before Opening

Problem: Build theatre sets light enough, portable enough to survive a journey down Douglas Street, yet strong enough to be actor-proof.

Solution (as revealed by Show Parade 1965s technical director Maurice Johnson): Forget old-fashioned theatre habits. Instead, take a cue from space-age technology, TV staging techniques, highway mobile homes, the newest plastics which bend but never break.

As a result, settings for three full-scale productions will be ready long before the August 14 premiere of Show Parade's repertory theatre at McPherson Playhouse.

INAUGURAL SEASON

In fact, Johnson promises, an eye-opening complex of stage sets, all completely assembled under one roof, will be available for rehearsals at Show Parade's Douglas and Herald Streets building by early July.

Show Parade, inaugural season of Festival Theatre Society, will run through September 6, except Sundays.

Repertory format includes the English comedy "Hobson's Choice," a contemporary American musical "The Fantasticks" and a modern classic "The Winslow Boy," with artist Peter Franklin White in an evening of music and ballet on August 18.

STAGED 'AMAHL'

Children's theatre will present "Pinocchio" on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, also at McPherson.

Johnson's technical achievements in Victoria theatre include his brilliant staging of "Amahl and the Night Visitor" in Christ Church Cathedral during the 1959 and 1962 Christmas seasons.

In 1952 he was technical director for Victoria Theatre Guild's The Heiress, which won Dominion Drama Festival's B.C. Region competition, adjudicator Pierre LeFevre giving high praise to the entry's technical excellence.

Johnson gives full credit for meeting this new and unusual challenge to stage carpenter Ed Burkholder and the latter's crew.

Burkholder, whose background includes mining and shipyard construction in addition to carpentry, turned his technical know-how to theatre for the first time in the building of Show Parade's sets.

Skilled helpers are Alan Mackenzie and William DeVries. Set designer Robin Robertson, who will stage manage the entire Show Parade run, is also lending a hand on construction.

"Oddly enough," Johnson said, "Ed's shipbuilding experience has been relevant to a degree, you wouldn't believe. The necessary move to McPherson almost constitutes a launching."

Burkholder, in turn, admits to a course in instant theatre from Johnson. "A sticking door or loose door knob can spoil a bravura exit," Ed points out.

NEW SERIES JULY 2

Noon Show 'Finds'

Re-runs may be considered adequate fare for midsummer TV viewing but they are not going to be much in evidence when Ken Gravenor launches his new series of lunchtime concerts, July 2 at McPherson Playhouse.

Auditions are now being held for the series and so far about 10 promising singers and instrumentalists have been selected and are now working hard polishing up special programs.

One of the most interesting performers to be "discovered" at the auditions is Johnny Booker, who sings Folk and Blues in a classical vein and plays a 12 and a six-string guitar.

He is an experienced performer whose background includes appearances at the Royal Festival Hall and Prince of Wales Theatre in London, three years in Europe playing at top ski resorts and Parisian nightclubs and in Spain.

Booker will appear as part of the July 2 noon concert and also will be featured Monday, July 5.

The re-opening concert July 2 will present the new format of continuous performance with frequent short intervals to permit audiences freedom in coming and going. Performances will begin at 12:15 sharp.

Headliners for this program will be George and Rosalie Essihos who were on the inaugural program, May 3.

Mr. Essihos will present an entirely new short concert under the title, The Many Moods of Chopin, and Rosalie Essihos will give a recital of songs.

Outstanding young Victoria baritone Martin Chambers will sing operatic arias and songs by Handel, accompanied by Gail Wall, and the program will close with Johnny Booker and his folk songs.

Anyone desiring an audition can arrange it by calling Mr. Gravenor at 386-2343 after 6 p.m.

LIZ TAYLOR TO TELL ALL

NEW YORK (UPI) — Film star Elizabeth Taylor is taking pen in hand to tell all.

Harper and Row, publishers, said Miss Taylor has agreed to write her autobiography in which she "plans to discuss freely her entire life."

The autobiography, scheduled for November publication, will be illustrated with 50 photographs by her actor friend, Roddy McDowall.

NORTH BREEZES
It's barbecue time and many people are enjoying every second of it. For others, it's plain misery. They burn their fingers, they drop the steak where they shouldn't or they end up with meat half-cooked and too cold to eat.
It's like everything else—cooking is a job for an expert. If you don't fall into that category but you like mouth-watering steak, leave the barbecue alone this week.
Come in and enjoy the work of experts at our poolside dining room. Easy parking; credit card service, too.

WITH TWO PROGRAMS

NYO to Tour West After Training Session

The seventh training session of the National Youth Orchestra opens July 5 when 105 young musicians arrive at Toronto's Victoria College from all over Canada.

Eight provinces are represented—British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

They will stay in Toronto for four weeks undergoing intensive section and orchestral rehearsal (with a special program in chamber music) at the Edward Johnson Building of the University of Toronto and will make their first public appearance kicking off their western tour at O'Keefe Centre on July 29.

On August 1 they will play at the Festival Theatre in Stratford; August 2 the Memorial Community Centre, Peterborough; August 5 the Auditorium, Winnipeg; August 7 Exhibition Auditorium, Regina; August 9 the Capitol Theatre, Saskatoon; August 11 the Northern Jubilee Auditorium, Edmonton; August 12 Southern Jubilee Auditorium, Calgary; August 15 the Royal Theatre, Victoria, and finally August 16, the Queen Elizabeth Theatre, Vancouver.

The National Youth Orchestra played in all of the western cities in 1963 with the exception of Regina. It will perform for the third time at Stratford, and Peterborough will be a first.

With Franz-Paul Decker of the Rotterdam Philharmonic conducting the orchestra will perform two programs. No. 1: Siege of Corinth Overture — Rossini; Symphonic Ode — Weinzweig; Mathis der Mahler—Hindemith; Symphony No. 3—Beethoven. No. 2: Benvenuto Cellini Overture—Berlioz; Symphonic Ode—Weihzweig; Haydn Variations—Brahms; Symphony No. 4—Tschaikowsky, and for the Stratford Concert only — Schelomo Rhapsody for Cello and Orchestra Bloch (in lieu of Hindemith on program No. 1).

This year for the first time there will be a teachers' seminar wherein 21 music teachers from across the country will join the session for the last two weeks to watch the making of the National Youth Orchestra 1965 and participate in classes under the distinguished faculty.

The seven members chosen this year from Victoria will leave next weekend for the east. They are violinists Veronica Milton, Vivienne Abbott, Don Kissinger and Mark Butler; Betty Gahn, violist, and Merlin Naduriak and Norman Abbott, cellists.

This city has every reason for pride in its representation for worked out as an average of 14 players per province, seven from one city is a sizeable percentage.

PRESENTING A CHEQUE for $1,000 as a contribution to the National Youth Orchestra from Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada, is Sir Ernest MacMillan, famed former Toronto Symphony Orchestra conductor and Grand Old Man of Canadian music. Receiving the cheque is Mrs. S. J. Zacks, president of the NYO board of directors.

FIRST MEN IN THE MOON
H. G. Wells On Film
Capitol Theatre

Some books, I fear, are best left as books.

As youngsters most of us thrilled to the magic of H. G. Wells' early vision of a landing on the moon though, even then, there were snub-nosed little conservatives who scoffed and said it was "all tommyrot."

They must feel very foolish today when a landing seems so close.

But Wells went further. He envisioned a race of ingenious insect men living below the surface of the moon who would welcome the visitor from earth until they discovered he was capable of war and destruction.

And then, in a vein of deep irony, he had his insect men decide that earth men were too dangerous to live. They should perhaps be exterminated before they ravaged the universe.

* * *

By the magic of his pen, Wells made these intellectual insects come alive in our imaginations.

But on film, alas, the whole thing creaks. The insects are all too obviously dressed-up extras emitting weird noises as they pursue the earth men from crater to crater and from cave to cave.

The photography, the direction and the sound effects are ingenious, even magnificent, but the story never comes to life as it did on paper.

The film was made at Shepperton, England, and I have no doubt producer Charles Schneer and director Nathan Juran tried heavens hard to put the teeming imagination of H. G. Wells on film.

They failed—but it is a gallant failure.

The story has been modernized to the extent that a team of United Nations representatives lands on the moon, only to find that the Wellsian characters made a landing some 60 years before.

From decaying papers they transmit names back to earth and a UN investigator locates ageing novelist Edward Judd in a London nursing home. Judd relates what happened years before when he moved into the country and lived next door to an experimental scientist named Cavor (Lionel Jeffries).

Cavor has discovered a substance which eliminates the pull of gravity and this is used to build a space vessel.

Judd and Cavor subsequently land on the moon. The surface is barren but way below it they encounter a race of weird beings resembling giant ants. They are highly civilized and know nothing of war until the earth men very foolishly tell them about it.

From then on the action is in high gear, but it never grips the imagination as the book did and the introduction of a girl—even a pretty one like Martha Hyer—seems a little unnecessary.

Symphony Plays First in Square

What Victoria Symphony music director and conductor Otto-Werner Mueller describes as "the hit parade of classics" will fill Victoria's Centennial Square with the sound of music Sunday afternoon.

This will be the first occasion of the square being used as an outdoor concert hall. But not the last.

There will be a second free concert in the square on July 25 and on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 5, Victoria Symphony Orchestra will add to the festival atmosphere with a third concert as Show Parade 1965 draws to a close in the McPherson Playhouse.

For tomorrow's concert Mr. Mueller has programmed the Overture to Verdi's La Forza Del Destino, Preludium and Allegro by Kreisler, featuring concert master Jean Angers as soloist; excerpts from Schubert's Rosamunde, Sibelius' Finlandia, Smetana's The Moldau, Strauss' The Blue Danube and Minuet for Strings by Boccherini.

The concert begins at 3 p.m. and it is advised that those attending should bring folding chairs, stools and cushions.

Lucky Lager Breweries have sponsored this free concert.

Duo Pianists Return For Music Seminar

For five days, July 5-10, pianists Homer Simmons and George Scharl will conduct a summer study schedule at the Empress Hotel.

For several years, the two American artists have held this seminar in Victoria. It is specially designed for teachers and consists of sessions on choral music, the accompanist, good teaching music, recordings and the 25 questions most often asked by teachers.

On July 5 Mr. Simmons and Mr. Scharl will present a two-piano concert in the Georgian Lounge of the hotel at 8:30 p.m.

Their program will include a Rachmaninoff group of four numbers, some compositions by Mr. Simmons and a group consisting of Brahms Waltzes and pieces by Granados, Villa-Lobos, Ravel and Chopin.

Culture Festivals Bloom In All-Out Tourist Bid

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pied Piper of Hamlin, the Vikings of lusty saga and Sir Laurence Olivier all star in Europe's upcoming profusion of tourist-angled theatre festivals.

The dramatic variety listed for this spring and summer is rivalled by an exotic motley of performing locales — from ancient island fortresses to the Bavarian forest, from great cities to all over Holland and Israel.

The biggest events are Stratford's six-month spree with Shakespeare and such long-established shrines of visiting artistry as the Edinburgh 19th, Stockholm 13th and Paris ninth fetes.

The centennial of composer Jan Sibelius is being celebrated in Finland with drama as well as music, and the 750th anniversary of Magna Carta is to be saluted with a play commissioned by London's city council.

Several theatrical enterprises are being launched. In a sudden burst of dramatic enthusiasm, the citizens of Malta are initiating a May display, with prizes for winning scripts which will first be screened carefully to exclude anything offensive on moral, religious or political grounds.

REP PROJECT STARTS

Under the supervision of Sir Michael Redgrave, a new repertory project begins at Guildford in June, the same month in which an English-speaking resident company plans to start operations in Oslo.

One of the more recently established invitational events, the World Theatre season at London's Aldwych Theatre, is to feature New York's Actors Studio Troupe along with companies from Rome, Athens, Tel Aviv and Paris.

The calendar for Paris' own festival is being trimmed to span May-June only instead of stretching through 3½ months as heretofore. Oliver's production of Othello is the only specific item thus far programmed.

Late May will bring roundups of theatre dance and music to two ancient amphitheatres in Turkey at Aspendos and Pergamum. During the same period Bordeaux, France, stages its culture array.

Switzerland joins the gala display in June with a month-long Zurich festival. Classic drama starts a two-month run at Epidaurus in Greece, with rival exhibits at Salamis and Kyrenia on Cyprus.

Tyrolean passion plays are to be performed on June-October weekends at Thiersee, Austria, and Venice has announced a theatre festival for the same five-month period.

The legend of the Pied Piper is celebrated with play and parade at Hamlin, Germany, from June 6 to Aug. 29, and there will be country-wide special theatre events in Holland and in Israel.

INCLUDES MYSTERY

The July procession includes medieval mystery on Visby in the Black Sea, a performing arts assortment at Knokke, Belgium, another month-long festival on Gibraltar, enactment of Viking hero legends at Froson, Sweden, and The Road to Heaven, an allegory, at Leksand, Sweden.

Two centres of artistic activity in July will be Yugoslavia's Adriatic resorts of Dubrovnik and Split.

The Bregenz, Austria, international panoply of music and drama is set for July 24-Aug. 23, and the famous Salzburg fete featuring Everyman as well as Mozart takes place July 26-Aug. 31. Tiny Luxembourg competes for attention from the end of July into August with operettas and dramas performed by visiting artists.

The Belgium National Theatre Festival fills the August calendar at Spa, while Spearing the Dragon, a legendary play, goes on at Furth in Germany's Bavarian forest.

APPROVED

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — After seeing newcomer Charmian Carr in its "The Sound of Music," 20th Century-Fox signed the star for another year.

GIFTED DANCER with a charming personality, Sylvia Mobey will again star with Jerry Gosley's Smile Show this summer at Langham Court Theatre. She was last seen on stage in Bastion Theatre's Dark of the Moon, playing the heroine, Barbara Allen. Sylvia, and Bill Hosie, another Smile Show principal, will be hurrying back from their honeymoon for the show's opening, July 3. It will run through Aug. 21.

Concerts, Lectures Mark Uvic Festival

Several unusual concerts and special events will mark the five-and-a-half weeks of University of Victoria's Renaissance Festival.

These are in addition to the two plays, A Man For All Seasons and Twelfth Night, which will run in repertory from the first performance of the Bolt play July 28, to the final performance on Aug. 28.

The festival actually opens July 22 with the first concert entitled Now Music Sound, which will present a brass choir, chamber singers and consort of recorders.

Other concerts featuring dance, humor, a boys' choir, harpsichord, guitar with voices, a consort of strings and the Gayfer Singers, take place on July 24, 27, Aug. 2 and 23.

There will also be two special lectures by Robert K. Donovan and Dr. Roger Bishop.

The lectures and three of the concerts will take place in the Student Union Building and all other events in the new—but still temporary—small Phoenix Theatre on Gordon Head Campus.

Brochures and full particulars are available through the university.

OPEN SHELF

By John Mika

Among the quieter moments of my recent trip to Japan were those spent in book shops—ah sweet oases of the Ginza—and watching the reading habits of the Japanese.

Aside from a tendency to read up and down, or was it down and up, they seemed to be normal readers—hanging by subway straps while nodding nervously over the ideographs, poring through magazines at the newsstands, buried between book covers in the park.

Perhaps normal is not quite accurate, because they are voracious readers. Japan's literacy rate is slightly over 98.5 per cent, about the same as their proportion of electrified houses—both about the highest in the world in their respective lines (written and power, that is).

Two Newspapers in Every Home

So it is not too surprising to learn that 26,000 volumes are issued each year by the Japanese book trade, compared with the 32,000 put out by the entire English-speaking world.

They also have the second-highest newspaper circulation on earth, a total of 42 million in 1963 with continued increases since then. Only the United States sells more.

I was told that the average Japanese family subscribes to a minimum of two daily newspapers, and I can believe it. Judging by the four English-language versions with which I became familiar—and the daily collection of Japanese-language editorials that were translated for bearded western devils such as myself—their newspapers are very well written, tightly edited and much more cosmopolitan than most of ours.

International and economic news was very prominent, crime stories always were relegated to the inside, less-important pages and editorials were frequently front-paged and passionate.

More Journals Than Square Miles

All told, there are 102 newspapers and nine news agencies in Japan but the Asahi, Mainichi and Yomiuri—Shimbun, as newspapers are called—dominate the field with circulations over four million each. This big three staff the capitals of the world, promote international cultural exchanges and generally wield a great deal of influence.

They also love to find fault with the government—a healthy contrast to the prewar situation when the willing assistance of the newspapers glorified the military.

They also have main editorials and mechanical departments in each of the big Japanese cities, operate airplanes, helicopters, walkie-talkies and cars in pursuit of news and even send complete pages by facsimile reproduction to the northern Island city of Sapporo for similtaneous publication.

Backing up the daily press is a periodical outpouring large enough to flood countries many times Japan's size.

No less than 15,200 magazines and periodicals are published—not counting the very limited circulation magazines of narrow specialization.

Traditions Go Back 1,000 Years

Many of the big general interest magazines have circulations of more than one million but there are weekly, semi-monthly and monthly publications on virtually every human activity, from movie making to politics to dress making and almost all are superior technical productions—I can't vouch for the content, not being able to read them.

But I can vouch for the quality of their choices in translated editions. The English and French titles I recognized would grace any library.

Japanese literature has traditions going back more than 1,000 years and I was able to scan some translations into English but that's another story.

Suffice it to say that I've changed my mind in thinking that so high a proportion of Japanese need spectacles for congenital reasons—it must be because of all the reading they do.

Delightful Travelling Companion

ENGLAND FOR EVERYMAN, H. A. Piehler, J. M. Dent & Sons (Canada), 1965. 288 pp. Maps. Index. $3.15.

Reviewed by R. H. ROY

This hard-cover, pocket-sized traveller's guide has gone through eight editions since it was published in 1933. This latest, revised edition is an up-to-date guide for the traveller in England, whether he goes by car, bus or on foot.

The author uses an interesting approach. He has divided most of the country (exceptions are London and the industrial and mining area) into 12 tours, each covering from 200 to 500 miles.

As the author writes in his foreword: "A tourist who conscientiously followed out the whole series would, in the course of about 4,000 miles' travelling, have seen nearly every cathedral in England, most of the abbeys, greater churches, castles and picturesque old towns, a great many pretty villages and stately mansions, and a large proportion of the most charming scenery!"

Aside from the tours and a 32-page atlas insert, there are chapters on "How to Travel," "Where to Stay," "Architectural Styles," as well as a three-page bibliography pointing travellers to books which would give him added information about England.

This is a delightful, and informative, traveller's guide.

RECORD OF A JOURNEY

Artist Observes With Intensity

By RICHARD CICCIMARRA

Drawings and sketches brought back by adventurous travellers have always held a special charm for me.

Until the advent of photography they were the only means of recording, visually, the experiences and impressions of explorers and travellers-for-pleasure alike, and photography has certainly not made obsolete these often delightful personal reactions and comments on strange and distant places and people.

Vicky Husband, who, not long ago, returned from a prolonged journey around the world, shows at Victoria Art Gallery (until July 11) the visual records of her many and varied experiences in the form of a large number of drawings and watercolors—and it is a delightful show!

In all her drawings—of people, the towns they live in, the landscapes surrounding the towns — she shows a lively and friendly interest in her subjects; the drawings are fresh and direct, but, above all, Miss Husband avoids the pitfalls of including non-essentials.

She draws to the point, and her drawing is totally free of gimmicks — a welcome feature in itself. She presents the essence of her impression; and since her approach to her subject was always sensitive and sympathetic, she conveys these feelings to us with considerable intensity.

Her drawings of the people of Mykonos in particular are often superbly effective; her obvious affection for them becomes our own.

On the merely technical side, the drawing in some of them is very good indeed: "The Washerwoman" and "Theodoris" are loosely drawn, yet coherent, strongly and innocently reminiscent of the sketches and portraits of Topolski.

Others are perceptive—and almost cunning—statement of fact.

Many of Miss Husband's drawings of land—and townscapes—little quiet corners, boats in a harbor—convey the same visual pleasure she must have felt: Paros, a Forgotten Corner, Bursa, the City of Pink Mosques, Paris, Notre Dame, in particular.

In others, however, Miss Husband, begins to expand her "reportage" into a concern with shapes, patterns and space: these again are in Mykonos; but, presumably, after the first wonder had worn off, she begins to look beyond the immediate impression and develops it into something like The Town Pattern of Mykonos and Sunset on Mykonos, both good and more ambitious water colors.

The drawing Ghazni, bought by the Gallery for its permanent collection, belongs in the same category.

Throughout her journey Miss Husband seems to have worked very hard indeed—and it requires determination to draw in, say, Kabul, surrounded by not always friendly critics.

Having started her journey in Japan, she proceeded around the world going west—and her work got better by the month—culminating in the Greek drawings and some of the Italian and French ones.

Thus, one feels, that, given the same amount of determination, Miss Husband may well continue to develop into an artist of perception and considerable technical accomplishment.

DISPASSIONATE BIOGRAPHY

High Aims for the Clan Drove Shrewd Irishman

When those fatal shots rang out in Dallas, the whole world was shocked by the tragedy. While Americans grieved, the entire world community pondered the passing of enlightened American leadership. We all mourned for the heroic young widow and the prostrate nation. And for ourselves.

BEST SELLERS

Within a year of the assassination some sixty books were published about John Fitzgerald Kennedy or the people around him; three of them ranked among the ten best sellers of the year. More recently The Founding Father has also made the "Top Ten" listings.

It is one of the best books yet to appear about the remarkable Kennedys.

Joseph P. Kennedy, father of the late president, was a remarkable man in his own right. Picking the best brains but exercising his independent judgment, and an uncanny ability for selling the market short, he parlayed his way to a fortune in movies—five million in thirty-two months—real estate, and the stock market.

THE FOUNDING FATHER: THE STORY OF JOSEPH P. KENNEDY. By Richard J. Whalen. General Publishing Co. 486 pp. Illustrations, notes, index. $8.75.

Reviewed by J. E. Hendrickson

Although Kennedy pursued wealth with extraordinary singleness of purpose, he never regarded it as an end in itself, and he never permitted financial matters to be discussed in the home.

When Fortune in 1957 reported the Kennedy wealth at more than $250,000,000, his wife Rose demanded naively, "Why didn't you tell me that we had all that money?"

To an Irish scion from East Boston, money was important for the future welfare and security of his family, for the social entree and status that affluence could afford, and for the political influence that usually accompanies wealth.

EYED CABINET POST

Political power proved to be the most elusive, for although Franklin Delano Roosevelt selected Kennedy for important regulatory commissions and even as ambassador to the Court of St. James (1938-40), Kennedy had his eyes on a cabinet post — or something even higher.

The eldest son, Joseph Jr., fell heir to the political ambitions of his father, but when young Joe failed to return from a dangerous wartime mission for which he had volunteered, the elder Kennedy was inconsolable.

That son Jack, hitherto overshadowed, could step into his brother's shoes and win the most powerful elected office in the world is, perhaps, the most striking tribute to the Kennedy patrimony. As another of the children recalled, "The important thing was to win—don't come in second or third — that doesn't count—but win, win, win."

CREDIT WHERE DUE

Journalist Whalen has written a careful, dispassionate biography that glosses over nothing but attempts to give credit wherever credit is due. Aloof and uncompromising the author presents the man as he was: relentless, shrewd, resourceful, vain, devoted, and even foolish.

But try as he may for objectivity, Whalen gives the impression that much as he admires many of "Joes" characteristics, he doesn't really relish the man.

Interracial Hostility Basis of Astute Novel

SHADOWS ON A WALL, Charles E. Israel. Macmillan Company of Canada. 1965. $6.50.

Reviewed by Grant McOrmond

This is an interesting and readable novel. In it, Charles Israel has brought to the attention of his readers a number of important contemporary problems. While he offers no solutions to these problems, each one is handled with perception and artistry.

The story is concerned with the adoption by a young American couple, of a Negro girl, Akua. They introduce her into their home in California at the age of 18, transplanting her from her native Ghana.

If Shadows on a Wall is not a great book, it is certainly a timely and provocative one.

By bringing together a sophisticated, literate, socially conscious pair of whites anxious to help, and a Negro girl clever and greatly in need of help, but just emerging from savagery and childhood, Mr. Israel gives his readers a chance to consider in detail the problem of race relations.

Parents and foster child are united by love, but separated by fear, distrust, differences of tradition and temperament that lead, if not to hatred, at least to a total breakdown of communication and faith that is tantamount to hatred itself.

Similarly, the problem of adoption is examined.

Here, in spite of the motivation of love and the willingness to supply the material, intellectual, and emotional needs of the child, the adoption fails. Perhaps it is the absence of a spiritual centre that causes failure.

Perhaps it is the author's purpose to show that this situation, in miniature, is as a shadow of the problem faced by Western man as he tries to evolve a new system for the co-habitation, with colored people, of this troubled world.

GREEN BUT EAGER

THE MEMBER FROM PASQUOBIT, by Walter O'Hearn; McClelland and Stewart Ltd., Toronto; 158 pages; $4.95.

This is a fictional account of the political education of Arthur Elwy Tweesdale, the new Liberal MP from Pasquobit in Nova Scotia, who arrived green but eager to take his place in the first session of Parliament under the Pearson administration.

The author, Walter O'Hearn, has built his story around the issues and news events which marked the first session. The flag, Hal Banks, Judy's Canada pension plan (the earlier version), national unity—they are all there.

It is light fare and, at times, mildly amusing. But the naivety and purety of Arthur Tweesdale are such that one can scarcely believe that he could be nominated, let alone be elected.

And shades of Mackenzie King, Arthur too has an absent mother!

His letters home explain and rationalize the policies of the government and, one suspects, that they are intended to make the reader more understanding and sympathetic toward Mr. Pearson. —R.W.

SPACE STARS

NEW YORK (UPI)—At least three of the adult guest stars appearing on the 1965 Honeywell "Science All Stars" television series (ABC-TV) are prominent in the field of space and aviation. Constitutional Revisions Most Needed To Mend Rifts in Canadian Relations

TEN TO ONE, THE CONFEDERATION WAGER. Marcel Faribault and Robert M. Fowler. McClelland and Stewart, 1965. 150 pp. $2.50 (paper).

Reviewed by R. H. Roy

In recent months McClelland and Stewart have published several books dealing with Canada's domestic political problems and, more specifically, with "the question of French Canada."

In this book two lawyers, one a Roman Catholic of French origin, the other a Presbyterian of Anglo-Scot origin, unite to discuss the merit of Canada's constitution, and reach the conclusion that national unity can and will be maintained providing we are willing to mold the century-old B.N.A. Act to present-day needs.

In remarkably clear and forthright language, free from legal or constitutional jargon, the two authors give a short, concise account of the original pressures leading to confederation, and a somewhat more detailed but lucid argument outlining the need to revise the constitution so as to meet the needs of present-day realities.

In the latter part of the book both men present their joint version of a workable constitution.

For all too many of us, perhaps, the winds of sparatism are only gentle zephyrs by the time they are filtered by the mountain passes and reach the Pacific Coast.

In Ten to One, readers will find a moderate view of this political gale, and at the same time some might even find themselves nodding in agreement to a number of measures the authors suggest to prevent the roof being blown off.

Certainly this book is recommended to those who wish to be au fait with the Canadian political scene.

The fourth volume in a series dealing with the Grace family. Readers of the previous three will no doubt be glad to meet old friends again, but the new reader may feel somewhat like an outsider. The story concerns the love-friendship triangle of Imogen Herkomer, Lance Thomas and young Laura Grace.

Four Aspects Of True Love

THE TREE OF DREAMS, by Mika Waltari (Putnam's.)

In this book, Waltari sets forth four short love stories, each concerned with the less-than-smooth path of true love.

There is the remembered rapture and frustration of puppy love; the hopelessness of love unreturned; the thrill of a new love; and in the final story, the obsessive love that will not be denied.

But Waltari is such a storyteller that his characters and their doings fascinate even though the author is behind the scenes pulling the strings.

Miracle Coating Replaces House Paint

Textured Coatings of America has developed a remarkable product for exterior walls that virtually eliminates outside painting for many years to come and is factory guaranteed for 10 full years. This product, called TEX-COTE, combines the long lasting properties of fiberglass, asbestos, mica and perlite to make a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Guided Missiles

Guided Missile manufacturers for the United States Government have found TEX-COTE a superior product for insulation of heat shields used in the space program.

Throughout the country, School Boards have found textured coating so economical and lasting over the past several years that they are now specifying this type of material for school buildings.

Many thousands of textured coating applications have been made on home, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, and these buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years' exposure in all weather extremes.

The United States Government and large corporations, such as Shell Oil Company and Thunderbird International Hotels are using TEX-COTE. This remarkable exterior surfacing provides waterproofing, insulation and beauty, far outlasting any ordinary paint.

Comes in Colors

TEX-COTE comes in 12 beautiful decorator colors—and does not change the structural lines of the building. Actually it adds beauty to any home or structure and increases its value.

Waterproof, Insulates Fire Retardant

In addition to beauty, TEX-COTE has the additional advantages of water-proofing and insulation. Through the use of silicones, a modern day scientific advance, a water repellent "blanket" envelops the entire building so that no moisture can penetrate and damage the interior of the home. Through the use of fibreglass and perlite, highly efficient insulating material, the building becomes cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

Applied With a Gun

TEX-COTE is applied with heavy duty spray equipment under high pressure. It fuses itself to the wall surface to a thickness 15 to 20 times that of normal paint. It remains flexible and withstands cracking and normal surface expansion and contraction.

Factory Guaranteed

Every TEX-COTE job is registered and factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking or peeling. TEX-COTE is the only coating with this unqualified guarantee.

No Obligation

Applications of TEX-COTE are being made in this area by DEBONAIR DISTRIBUTORS LTD. Free information on how easily you may have TEX-COTE applied at low bank terms with no down payment may be obtained by calling HE 5-6424 or by mailing coupon below.

SHAREHOLDERS LOSE BILLION ON MARKET

By JOHN BELANGER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

What's a billion?

A billion—and then some—is what the shares of Canadian public companies have lost in price in the last six weeks.

Losses on Canadian stock exchanges this week added impetus to a general decline in North American stock markets that has been in force since mid-May. There hasn't been—yet—any kind of panic selling—as in the decline of May, 1962—but securities analysts are holding their breath and watching the ticker tape.

* * *

On the Toronto Stock Exchange, the 124 stock composite index, a potpourri of favorite issues, has fallen 14.30 to 153.23 since May 14 when it hit a high for the year of 167.53.

This represents a drop of $1,829,504,000 or 7.78 per cent. The 87 stock industrial index at the exchange has dropped 7.52 per cent to a low of 163.30. Its high of 178.32 was also reached May 14.

Both lows were attained Friday.

This week all major sections on the exchange faltered again. The lone light was the golds group, which gained about 5½ points on index. Investors traditionally employ gold stocks as a hedge in a declining market.

Industrials, base metals and western oils each declined, with hefty losses going to major issues. Volume, however, was light, as it has been throughout the current decline. Much of this can be traced to a lack of interest in speculative issues, although volume in the penny issues appeared to pick up a little this week.

The market's drop was predicted by a score of seasoned securities analysts late last year. At that time they said lower prices could be expected for the latter half of 1965 after strong gains earlier in the year.

So far, they've been right. But the underlying note of caution that runs throughout all analysts' comments on the future direction of the stock market is strong.

On index at Toronto, industrials fell 4.58 to 163.30, the composite index 4.35 to 153.23, base metals 3.76 to 76.03 and western oils 4.00 to 96.65. Golds rose 5.50 to 158.40.

Total volume at Toronto was 13,237,860 shares compared with 14,018,794 the previous week, and total value of transactions was $52,541,283 compared with $63,967,559.

On index at Montreal, industrials fell 5.00 to 158.60, utilities 3.00 to 147.00 and banks and papers 2.40 each to 123.10 and 129.30.

Industrial volume was 708,321 shares compared with 1,045,596 last week. Mining volume was 3,503,377 shares compared with 5,262,000.

American Consumers Get Break As Johnson Signs Tax Cut Bill

NEW YORK (AP)—American consumers got a break this week when President Johnson signed the excise tax cut.

Whether they will get all they are entitled to remained to be seen.

When Johnson signed the $4,700,000,000 piece of legislation, he appealed to manufacturers and retailers to pass along the cut in lower prices.

An Associated Press survey of merchants in major cities indicated that most had changed price tags and were giving buyers the benefits resulting from elimination of taxes which had been charged at the retail level.

However, David L. Yunich, president of Macy's New York division of R. H. Macy and Co., department store chain, said "some manufacturers are resisting by contemplating raising their base prices."

GET BENEFITS

Consumers began receiving the first benefits from $1,750,000,000 of the cuts which went into effect immediately. Another $1,750,000,000 will go into effect Jan. 1, 1966, and the remaining $1,200,000,000 will be stretched out until Jan. 1, 1969.

The 10 per cent tax on air conditioners was repealed retroactive to May 15 as was the first stage cut in the new car levy from 10 per cent to seven per cent.

General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Co. began sending refund application forms to 830,000 purchasers of new cars since May 15.

Tax cuts effective at once include the 10 per cent levies on luggage, handbags, furs, jewelry, cosmetics, television sets, household appliances, cameras, musical instruments, phonographs, business machines, pens, pencils and phonograph records.

EXPECT DROP

In general, business in the second quarter has held up well in comparison with the record first quarter but some sources contended there would be a slackening in the second half.

The darkest spot was the stock market, which had slumped sharply after reaching an all-time peak on May 14.

The commerce department reported that new factory orders for durable goods in May fell 5 per cent from April's record and housing starts fell 4 per cent from the April level. However, government economists called these changes "minor."

Automobile production slowed this week but remained far ahead of a year ago. Automobile sales continued to top the 1964 rate.

Steel production moved up last week to 2,740,000 tons from 2,696,000 the previous week.

Japanese Not Welcome In Africa

LAGOS (AP) — Japan's economic welcome is wearing thin in Africa because of heavy trade imbalances with some of its new countries.

Tanzania has banned all Japanese goods and two Kenyan ministers have called on their government to do the same.

Kenya's assistant agriculture minister, James Osogo, told Parliament the trade balance can never be changed and the only cure is to halt all trade with Japan.

Another minister said Kenya imports goods worth £12,000,000 ($36,000,000) annually from Japan while exporting only £3,000,000.

Japanese officials in this Nigerian capital say the main obstacle to increasing imports to their country from Africa is simply that there are few goods that Japan needs from this continent.

Report Leak On Windfall

TORONTO (CP)—A Kirkland Lake mining engineer testified Friday that assay results from Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd. had leaked out three days before the results were made public.

Frank Hughes told the reconvened Windfall royad commission that the results, which showed no commercial ore values, had been given to E. J. Smith, a Kirkland Lake businessman, and Ralph Taylor, a stock salesman with Doherty, Roadhouse and McCuaig Brothers.

The results were given to Mr. Smith by an employee of Swastika Laboratories, Mr. Hughes testified.

He said he knew this because Mr. Smith had told him. He also said Mr. Smith admitted paying the assay office employee for the information.

The royal commission, headed by Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly of the Ontario Court of Appeal, is investigating the rise of Windfall stock to $5.60 from 56 cents and its decline to 80 cents last July.

Nova Scotia Studies Coal Mine Takeover

HALIFAX (CP)—Government takeover of Nova Scotia's faltering coal industry was being suggested once again Friday as Dominion Coal Co. disclosed it needs major financial assistance.

The idea of nationalization has been discussed since the booming coal days of the Second World War, usually tempered with the suggestion that Dosco—the province's biggest coal producer—would find answers to its problems.

But the company, which employs 7,000 coal miners in Nova Scotia, apparently has run out of answers and this has rekindled talks of nationalization.

Company president J. E. Clubb told shareholders in Montreal Friday that $25,000,000 is needed to keep the Nova Scotia industry alive and "there seems no alternative but to have these funds made available on some basis or other by the interested governments."

While there has been no decision from Ottawa, informed sources here say the federal government is cool to the company request for $25,000,000 and the provincial government could not afford a grant even approaching that amount.

NEEDS FINANCIAL HELP

Mr. Clubb repeated what he has said often in the past—the company needs financial relief if it is to stay in business. It operates all the major coal mines in Nova Scotia.

It is known Premier Stanfield has been advised privately that his government will have to take over the industry, or at least have representatives on the Dominion Coal Co. board of directors.

The coal miners themselves have sought nationalization. William Bull March, fiery president of District 26 of the United Mine Workers (Ind.), made the request as early as Oct. 26, 1960, when Dosco announced it would close three mines. These pits have since been shut.

Meanwhile, two of Dosco's production indicators were sliding. Mr. Clubb reported that average daily coal output in the eight-month period ending March 31 had slipped to 12,616 net tons from 12,898 for the same period in 1964.

Output per man-shift — the coal produced by a miner during an eight-hour shift—dropped from 3.04 tons to 2.85 tons during the same period.

Probe To End With Hearing In Victoria

VANCOUVER (CP)—An Imperial Oil Company spokesman asked the windup session here of the provincial gasoline prices inquiry to find that oil companies in British Columbia operate on a fair and competitive basis.

A two-day sitting in Victoria, July 12-13, will end the inquiry. It has had 64 sittings since it opened hearings Dec. 9, 1963.

The royal commission was initiated following complaints by Cyril Shelford, MLA, that gasoline prices were too high and the pricing system worked a hardship on consumers, especially in remote areas. He proposed some form of government control.

T. E. H. Ellis, Imperial Oil Ltd., counsel, said the commissioner's report should find there is no evidence of collusion among companies on prices.

On the contrary, evidence had shown effective, active and satisfactory competition at all levels, he said.

"Price has gone down and quality up. Surely no consumer can ask more of a competitive free economy," he said.

Evidence has been presented to Judge C. W. Morrow, the sole commissioner, that between 1951 and 1964 the price charged by the gasoline refiner dropped from 20.2 cents to 18.1 cents per gallon.

In the same period, dealer margin rose from five cents to seven cents and taxes rose from 11.3 cents to 14.8 cents per gallon, while company profits declined steadily.

Mr. Ellis asked the commissioner to reject a statement by the commission's staff economist, Prof. A. M. Moore, that the manufacturing and marketing aspects of the industry should be separated.

Mr. Ellis said an effect of separation would be an increased business risk in all segments of the industry that are now mutually supporting financially and otherwise.

He said the practice of consignment selling, in which the gasoline retailer receives a commission on sales, meets "the practical requirements of protecting dealers in wildly gyrating price situations from losses they could not long endure."

If manufacturing and marketing were divorced the quality of outlets would deteriorate because operators would be unable to raise funds to build stations, which can run as high as $115,000, he said.

Attractive, Gay Room Easy to Keep Clean

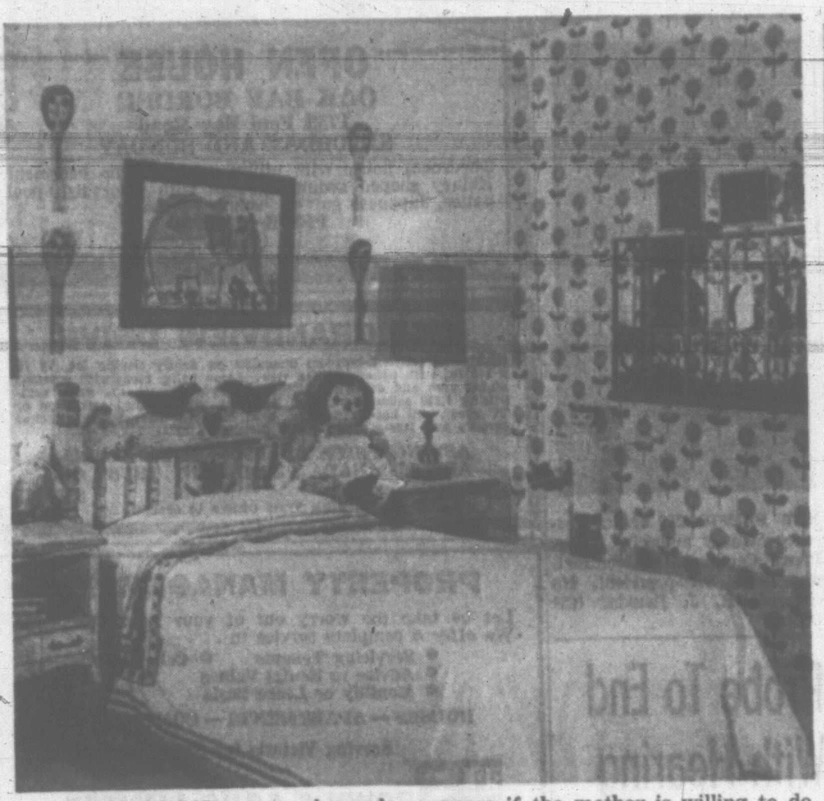
By PAULINE GRAVES

How better to teach your daughter to create an attractive environment than creating one for her yourself. Give her color, give her a room that's gay, let her become used to this as a norm, and she will not want to settle for anything else. What's more, if she takes pride in her room, she will keep it neat and clean without prodding.

Take a look at the room shown here, decorated by Dorothy Paul. Little touches lift it out of the ordinary, and they are ideas that can be easily duplicated. Above the bed, four wooden spoons painted with female faces surround a juvenile picture of an elephant.

Wooden spoons are inexpensive and it would be fun to paint them in this fashion. If you would like something larger, try table tennis paddles.

The bedspread and pillow sham offer possibilities, too. They are of plain fabric, heavy enough to hold their shape, decorated around the border with various types of trim, ball frings, plain fringe, braid and the like. You are limited only by your imagination. A plain throw is much easier to make than a fitted spread, although either could be trimmed in this way.



A YOUNG GIRL'S room can be made attractive with relatively little expense if the mother is willing to do creative work with sewing, paintng.

CMHC Chief Predicts Major Hike in Building

OTTAWA (CP)—In five years Canada should be building enough houses annually to line both sides of a street stretching more than 1,000 miles from Toronto to Regina, H. W. Hignett, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., said this week.

And each of these houses represents a growing turnover in wages and salaries, building materials, and family expenditures on food, clothing and household equipment, he said.

Mr. Hignett spoke to the Life Underwriters' Association on the implications for housing and the construction industry of the goals set by the Economic Council of Canada for Canada to achieve optimum output by 1970.

The goals mean finding 1,500,000 new jobs for a population which is growing rapidly in the family-formation and job-seeking ages. The same increase in total employment is needed in the seven years between 1963 and 1970 as occurred in the previous 14 years, Mr. Hignett said.

SEES SHARP INCREASE

"The rate of family formation in Canada is going to rise sharply through the remainder of this decade. It will be something of the order of 150,000 a year in the last half of the 'sixties, compared with 112,000 in the first half.

In five years since 1959, nearly 250,000 new housing starts were made with mortgage loans provided by life insurance companies. By 1970, the number of new housing units built in one year will be 200,000.

"If these units were placed on 60-foot lots they would make a street lined on both sides that would stretch from Toronto to Regina, a distance of 1,170 miles."

Mr. Hignett said the new housing investment should be thought of in terms of gainful jobs created in construction and building supply firms, and in grocery bills paid, children clothed, and families housed.

More Value For Your Money In New Homes

The home has taken on a new dimension. The change has been brought about with the introduction of modern services—heating systems that you never have to touch—modern plumbing that is practically trouble free for life, electrical power that does your washing, drying and ironing, sweeps the floor, opens tin cans, cooks your meals, washes the dishes then provides you with an evening of entertainment.

The modern home has been improved not only through the relief of household chores but through better building materials and building techniques as well.

Graded lumber, rust proof nails, long lasting paints, waterproof bonded plywoods, built-in storm sash, mineral wall insulation—these and many other advanced features add to the comfort of living.

In fact the home buyer today gets more value for his money than ever before, considering that the increase in the average income for Canadians has kept pace with the increase in costs of the average Canadian home.

BEASTALL ADVISES

The Art of Watering

Artifical watering will claim much of the gardener's attention during the next three months regardless of the temperatures that may prevail or the frequency of showers.

Jack

Watering is as much an art as any other phase of gardening, and it is an art that must be learned in one's own garden.

Differences in soil, under drainage, location of garden (high or low ground), exposure to wind, amount of shade, and the kinds of plants being grown, make it impossible to give any set rules.

The common factor to all gardens is that plants can only take up food from the soil when dissolved in water, therefore moisture must always be present in the root area.

At the same time the roots near the surface (approximately the top four to six inches of soil) require a certain amount of air, which means that the soil should not be continuously full of free water.

MAINTAIN BALANCE

The art of watering is to maintain a balance between moisture and air which is suited to the plants; stream and bog plants requiring more water than air.

Since water drives out air as it fills the tiny spaces between the soil particles, there must be a time lapse between waterings to allow the water to drain away and air to re-occupy the spaces.

If plants are not to suffer from lack of water during these "draining" periods each application of water should be of sufficient duration to penetrate the entire top six inches of soil and remain there long enough for plants to take their requirements.

In practice this means that the garden should receive a thorough soaking once a week or once a month according to the differences mentioned above.

The only way to determine how deeply the water has penetrated is to make a hole with a spade or trowel at least six inches deep. If the soil is dry at that depth, watering should be continued.

EIGHT HOURS

In heavy soils it may take four to eight hours to accomplish this penetration, and further watering may not be necessary for a month. In light soil, one hour may be sufficient but at intervals of possibly a week.

The thought of leaving a sprinkler in one place for eight hours horrifies many gardeners, and they resort to dampening the surface every day.

This practice uses far more water in a month than one or two thorough soakings. Its only benefit to the plants is the wetting of the foliage which prevents severe wilting for a few hours.

No matter how much food is in the soil, or how much fertilizer is applied to the surface, the plants will starve unless nutrients are available in liquid form at the six-inch level or lower.

DRAWS ROOTS

Surface dampening also draws feeding roots upwards in an effort to reach moisture. The nearer these roots are to the surface the more easily they are killed by heat in the soil after light sprinklings have evaporated.

This is one of the main causes for burning of lawn grasses during the summer. Roots have come upwards for moisture from light sprinklings instead of going down to reach water that is slowly sinking into the subsoil.

The structure of some soils tends to cause puddling on the surface or run-off. Where this condition exists, watering should be done intermittently until penetration is achieved. In other words, water an area for 15 minutes (or one hour if it will take it), then leave for half an hour before repeating.

While sprinklers have some good points under certain conditions, the old style canvas soaker is still the most efficient way of watering plants.

It puts water at the roots where it is needed and keeps the water bill at a minimum.

WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

Prick out the seedlings of wallflowers, Brompton stocks and other biennials sown earlier in month. They may go direct into nursery rows to grow for summer, or into flats for fall transplanting.

Old lilac shrubs may be reconditioned now by drastic cutting back to strong young growth.

Bedding plants will be well established and blooming. A liquid feed now will promote growth and flowers.

Border pinks, carnations and other diathus will enjoy wood ashes or oil free soot as a tonic now.

Chrysanthemums need ample watering to promote growth. Mulching with grass clippings prevents soil from baking and packing.

* * *

Keep onions, leeks and garlic growing with a little fertilizer well watered in. Begin to draw soil away from onions and garlic, but towards leeks to blanch the stems.

Fall and winter cabbage should have been picked out to continue growth rapidly. Planting out time is early July.

* * *

Suckers of roses which have been budded should be cut off below" soil level as soon as detected.

When grown or own roots, these suckers may be retained.

AMERICAN HERITAGE

AARS WINNERS

Best in Roses

NEW YORK—Three new and vibrant roses, American Heritage, Apricot Nectar and Matterhorn, have been named as winners of the coveted AARS awards for 1966.

For the first time in four years, All-America Rose Selections has named more than two roses to receive top national honors.

Two years of intensive trials in 23 official test gardens scattered throughout the nation were necessary to single out American Heritage, a hybrid tearose of majesty and beauty; Matterhorn, a vigorous, free-blooming hybrid white tea, and the delightfully fragrant, rich apricot colored Apricot Nectar, a floribunda, as the finest of the new roses of today.

In contrast to the vivid, heady colors of the preceding AARS winners, this trio luxuriates in queenly pastels and regal ermine.

The first white hybrid tea to win an award in six years, Matterhorn, with its snowy, perfect, five-inch blooms fit for a king's garden, combines beauty and unusual vigor to a degree unequalled by any other white rose.

American Heritage is truly one of the most distinctive new tea roses of modern times.

MATTERHORN

Its fascinating succession of color from the first small, ivory-yellow buds to the completely mature cream and light canary-yellow blooms, charmingly tinted with shades of scarlet and vermillion, is a worthy tribute to its namesake.

The floribunda, Apricot Nectar, will find a ready and permanent place in the gardens of today and tomorrow.

A direct descendant of vigorous, prolific Spartan, this floribunda is a large-flowered, clear, soft apricot with a delightfully haunting old-fashioned rose fragrance.

Masses of gay dancing, many-flowered bloom clusters adorn the plants from spring to late fall.

Beauty of bloom alone did not win awards for American Heritage, Apricot Nector and Matterhorn.

Many a rose candidate for AARS honors having gorgeous blossoms has been turned down because of lack of quality in plant, foliage, or one of a dozen other characteristics that AARS requires of its award winners.

All members of the winning trio are outstandingly vigorous and each variety develops its own individual type of foliage varying from bright green in Matterhorn, rich, dark green for Apricot Nectar, to a striking two-tone bronze-green in American Heritage.

Disease resistance is a must for all AARS winners and all three roses honored for 1966 are highly resistant to the common troubles of roses—black spot, mildew and rust.

They should be given the care and culture ordinarily accorded garden roses to bring them to perfection.

Such care will be repaid a thousandfold in beauty and excellent performance.

USES

The floribunda, Apricot Nectar, forms a broad, bushy plant to the height of about three feet.

With its continual masses of large, fragrant roses, it makes an ideal plant for the dooryard garden, beds around a bird-bath, gazing globe or sundial, borders around a terrace or patio, house foundation planting beneath a picture window or large window wall, in small group plantings in front of evergreens or shrubs, in triangular beds at the corner of the property, or in any one of dozens of other interesting locations.

Gardeners Strike It Lucky With Two Winning Zinnias

It was a lucky strike for the plant breeders who developed Bonanza zinnia and you'll know you made a lucky strike when you see the huge, golden flower in your garden this summer.

The zinnia has everything — brilliant color of an unusual shade, cactus-type graceful flowers to six inches across and two inches deep, borne on long, stiff stems from big, 30-inch-high plants.

In addition, the foliage is resistant to mildew, a disease which often whitens the leaves of some zinnias in late summer.

If you grew the variety Firecracker, with its scarlet flowers, last year, you have an idea of what Bonanza zinnia will give your garden, for it is a counterpart of Firecracker in another color.

Both zinnias are winners of All-America Selections silver medals—Bonanza for 1964, Firecracker in 1963. Both are hybrid zinnias of great sturdiness, with immense flowers.

The difference between them is, of course, in the colors.

Whereas Firecracker is a knock-your-eyes-out scarlet, Bonanza is an unusual golden zinnia — sometimes the blooms are yellow-gold, sometimes almost tangerine-gold.

Apparently the slight variation in color depends on soil and weather conditions.

But always, in any shade and in any garden, these two zinnias are outstanding.

Best of all, they're easy-as-pie to grow from seeds sown where the plants are to bloom.

Q. What keeps all flowers, shrubs and plants Bug-Free?
A. New GREEN CROSS General Purpose Flower & Ornamental Spray

It works in two ways because it is both a SYSTEMIC and a RESIDUAL insecticide. Result: widest possible control of sucking and chewing insects and mites. We especially recommend it as an early season spray for evergreens and for all-season insect control on shrubs and flowering plants. It even protects new growth which appears after spraying.
Bonus: it's completely free of any objectionable odour.
For rose lovers, we advise regular use of GARDAL ROSE SPRAY with SYSTEMIC action. It controls insects and diseases which attack roses in particular.
Remember: SYSTEMICS ARE NOT WASHED OFF BY RAIN SINCE THEY ARE ACTUALLY WITHIN THE PLANT. They penetrate right into the sap stream and kill insects which suck the plant juices.

OPTIMISM PASSWORD

IN GROWING INDUSTRY

Canada Braced for Record Tourist Year

By FRITZ ROOS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The number of inquiries handled by Canadian travel bureaus indicates the tourist industry can brace itself for another record year.

Federal and provincial government travel bureaus, park administrators and resort owners all report inquiries by prospective visitors are running 10 per cent or more ahead of last year.

"Last year we handled more than 1,300,000 letters and this year we are expecting 1,500,000," says Dan Wallace, assistant director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, which is spending $6,300,000 this year to lure foreign visitors to Canada.

"Heavy mail, sometimes as much as 17,000 letters a day, shows a keener interest even than in 1964—a record year," he says.

Optimism is the perennial password in the fast-growing tourist trade, recently estimated by the Canadian Tourist Association to be worth $2,400,000,000.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canada Press shows foreign tourist income, worth $661,000,000 in 1964 and expected to surpass $700,000,000 this year, is well on the way to the $1,000,000,000 target set for centennial 1967, when the Montreal world's fair is expected to give a big, extra boost.

Although the major, but sometimes forgotten, share of the tourist cake is provided by Canadians visiting in their own country, the American dollar is still the glamor symbol of the trade.

Last year visitors from the U.S. spent $589,000,000 here while Canadian tourists spent $483,000,000 in the U.S., producing a $106,000,000 surplus for Canada.

But Canadians spent $230,000,000 overseas against the $72,000,000 left here by overseas tourists. The resulting overseas deficit, of $158,000,000 plunged Canada's over-all foreign tourist business $52,000,000 in the red.

The tourist trade with overseas countries, long a problem, shows signs of improving. The numbers and financial weight of overseas visitors have made them one of the fastest-growing sections of Canada's tourist trade. Their spending here last year was more than triple the $22,000,000 they left a decade earlier. European visitors now are estimated at more than 100,000.

Another fast-growing type of tourist trade is camping, "now one of the most popular kinds of outdoors recreation in Canada," according to J. R. B. Coleman, director of the national parks branch.

OUTDOORS BIG LURE

Last year the national parks registered about 2,000,000 camper - days—five times as many as in 1954. This year the total is expected to grow at least another 10 per cent. Provincial parks have the same experience and outlook.

Outdoors recreation is Canada's largest foreign tourist attraction. In a 1964 survey of 600,000 Americans, 42 per cent said they liked most the scenic outdoors, fishing, hunting and camping.

Others mentioned historic sites and big events such as the Calgary Stampede (12 per cent), opportunity for quiet recreation (nine per cent), hospitality (16 per cent), reasonable cost (12 per cent) and a pleasant summer climate (seven per cent).

"Take a fun-crowded holiday in an uncrowded Canada" is the slogan of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau this year, appealing to the Americans' desire for good accommodation and recreation in a quiet environment.

Here's the tourist picture by provinces:

NEWFOUNDLAND

Fearing that inadequate services can do much harm to future tourist business, the government is still taking the soft line in advertising. Last year tourist traffic jumped 21 per cent as an estimated 110,000 persons, some 40 per cent of whom were Americans, spent nearly $27,000,000 on the island, up about $4,500,000 from the previous year.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

With inquiries running 18 per cent ahead of last year, prospects for this summer seem good. Last year some 300,000 tourists spent more than $12,000,000. This year's over - all tourism promotion budget will pass $360,000.

NOVA SCOTIA

The province's $620,000 tourist promotion budget is claimed to be one of the highest in Canada. In 1964 the number of visitors increased some 10 per cent to 826,392, including 228,865 from the U.S. Altogether they spent more than $56,000,000.

NEW BRUNSWICK

At least as many tourists are expected this year as in 1964 when 1,960,000 visitors spent a record $58,000,000. Of the visitors, 1,089,000 came from the U.S.

QUEBEC

With inquiries more than 25 per cent ahead of last year, the government expects a considerable increase in visitors, despite its recently announced six-per-cent tax on room rentals. The province has planned a $4,000,000 expenditure this year for camping and picnic facilities ($600,000 last year) and a $500,000 tourist promotion budget.

ONTARIO

Tourism Minister James Auld predicts a record tourist income topping the $1,500,000,000 mark, including $375,000,000 from south of the border and $75,000,000 from other provinces. Last year, more than 2,000,000 foreigners with $351,000,000, 1,279,915 Canadians from other provinces with $70,000,000 and an unknown number of Ontario residents provided income of $1,406,000,000.

MANITOBA

Inquiries indicate another record year, as in 1964 when more than 1,500,000 tourists visited the province. Last year 878,000 Americans spent an estimated $25,300,000 and out-of-province Canadians $20,400,000, pushing the total $2,500,000 above that in the previous year.

SASKATCHEWAN

This province hopes for 1,000,000 tourists, a record. In 1964 some 252,000 visitors from the U.S. and 515,000 Canadians from other provinces spent an estimated $31,000,000.

ALBERTA

With inquiries and hotel accommodations about 23 per cent higher than last year, the province's tourist industry expects a five-per-cent increase in business. Last year 3,800,000 persons visited the national parks in the province and this year the 4,000,000 mark should be passed.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Remembering last year's jump of $32,500,000 in tourist trade income, this province has set its sights on another 10- to 15-per-cent increase. Last year's total tourist income was $184,000,000, including $106,000,000 spent by 2,664,652 Americans and $63,227,000 by 1,580,000 Canadians from other provinces.

KRONBORG CASTLE NEAR COPENHAGEN

'Fairytale Land Tour of Denmark'

The Fairytale Tour of Denmark is one adventure which friendly Danes should miss. This tip comes from Scandinavian Airlines System whose gateway city, Copenhagen, is the starting point of the tour.

For here is the enchanted world of the little white houses with storks nesting on chimney tops, thatched roof farms and wooden shoes, moated castles and mermaids.

Fairytale land lies in the vast "unexplored" part of Denmark beyond the boundaries of Copenhagen—this is the land that inspired Hans Christian Andersen's wonderful fairytales.

A three-day tour departing Copenhagen and terminating with Dinner at Hotel Royal, Aarhus cost only $91. The four-day tour from Copenhagen-Aarhus finishing with breakfast is listed at $94 and the four-day tour ending after lunch in Aalborg or Frederikshavn cost $98.50.

Each tour is conducted in a comfortable first class motor coach with a friendly English-speaking guide accompanying the group.

Ship Purchased

VANCOUVER (CP) — Northland Navigation has purchased a 2,500-ton ship, the Hoeghariane, from Norwegian interests. The ship, which will be renamed, will be put into service on northern coastal routes after arriving here in August.

Give the Turtles A Little 'Brake'

PORT ROWAN—Motorists taking the Long Point causeway to camping grounds south of this Lake Erie resort village are urged by signs to "Watch for Turtles."

It is estimated that nearly half of Canada's total mainland turtle population inhabit the marshes along the route and thousands of the creatures are slaughtered every summer by the wheels of passing cars.

The carnage might have continued unstemmed but for the concern of an organization called the Canadian Amphibian and Reptile Conservation Society which persuaded the Ontario department of highways to post caution signs at either end of the causeway.

While the signs will not discourage complete destruction of the animals, the society is confident they will at least stop some of the needless killing.

Studies have shown that June is the worst time of all for turtles in this area, especially for pregnant females which for some unknown reason cross the highway from one marsh to another to dig nests and lay their eggs.

The society claims that of the 11 different mainland species found in Canada, seven make their home on Long Point, but warn that their constant exposure to summer traffic could all but wipe them out.

Ontario highways officials review road sign applications always with scrutiny but were softened by the impassioned plea of this little known group of nature lovers in a carefully-worded four-page brief.

So, if you happen to be camping or fishing in the Long Point area of Ontario this summer, the CARCS asks only that you give the turtles a brake.

"WATCH FOR TURTLES," says this sign on the Long Point causeway near Port Rowan, Ontario. Thousands of the creatures are slaughtered every summer by cars en route to camping grounds on Lake Erie's north shore.

Nice Surprise, ...When Trip Over

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — Driving in Moscow offers many a surprise. You get a pleasant one each time you finish a trip in one piece.

There are a lot of little things you have to learn to cope with. For example:

● Absence of traffic lanes, which makes for a chaotic traffic pattern, characterized by vehicles veering and cutting in on one another with gay abandon. To survive you must develop a kind of sixth sense that tells you when you're in danger of being crunched between a trolley bus and a two-ton truck. Peripheral vision helps.

● Getting trapped on streets from which there is no left turn for long distances, meaning you have to travel at least around the block to end up going in the right direction.

● Policemen at intervals of 100 yards or so on main thoroughfares, anxious for a chance to fine you on the spot.

● A constant war of nerves between pedestrians and drivers which quickly conditions the driver more or less to ignore pedestrians at the peril of being delayed at every intersection.

● Dimly-lit streets for night driving and a rule against turning on your headlights. For city driving, parking lights only are allowed, and you're not permitted to blow your horn except in an emergency.

MUST NOT CROSS LINE

The oddest thing about Moscow traffic rules to a North American—and the most frustrating—is the difficulty of finding a way to go directly left off a main street. This results from a prohibition against crossing the centre line. U-turns are often few and far between.

If you miss a certain U-turn off Kutuzvky Prospect in the west end, for example, you have to go 3¾ miles to get turned around and come back to the same spot.

Right turns are generally permitted, though not in all cases, and there is no right turn against a red light.

As a general rule, drivers find it advisable to study each section of the city individually and every main intersection in order to cut down on the amount of time wasted making wrong moves.

OLD TOWN HALL PRESERVED IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Ice Grotto Largest in World

Bratislava, capital of Slovakia and one of the more interesting cities of Czechoslovakia—it is the country's third largest, after Prague and Brno—is located on the Danube about 40 miles downstream from Vienna.

The great river is about 1,000 feet wide at this point and from 10 to 13 feet deep. On a sunny day, you can stand on one of the hills encircling Bratislava and look beyond it to where the borders of three nations (Czechoslovakia, Austria and Hungary) meet on the rolling Danubian plain.

The historical evolution of Bratislava began when Roman legions set up their camps on the confluence of the Danube and Morava rivers during the first and second centuries A.D. and established lookout posts on what later was to become the site of Bratislava Castle.

The city's many architectural relics are stone witnesses to its medieval days. The old town hall in Fourth of April Square, for example, has been the seat of Bratislava magistrates since the 14th century—before Columbus was ever born, let alone discovered America. Some of the original parts of the building have been preserved to this day.

One of the oldest monuments in what might be called Greater Bratislava is St. Martin's Cathedral on which construction began in 1284, within a lifetime of the day the barons of England forced King John to sign the Magna Charta at Runnymede.

After the battle of the Mohacs in 1525, St. Martin's became the coronation church of the kings of Hungary for more than 300 years.

This is the battle in which the Turks defeated the Magyar armies and threatened what is now Budapest. Bratislava became the temporary capital of Hungary and the seat of the Hapsburgs.

In fact, during the Turkish invasion, many Maygass and Croats fled north and settled in the city, contributing to its colorful racial composition.

Among Bratislava's most beautiful buildings, and one that is of comparatively recent vintage, is Grasalkovich Palace, an 18th century Rocco structure on First of May Square whose magnificient old gardens are open to the public. The Church of the Holy Trinity with its valuable frescoes by the Italian master Bibien is another 18th century structure of unusual interest.

Another Slovakian attraction is the Dobsina Ice Grotto, one of the largest in the world.

DIVERSIFIED INCOME SHARES

Your opportunity to share in the growth and profits of 15 leading Canadian companies which have paid uninterrupted dividends for an average of 40 years!

DIVERSIFIED INCOME SHARES is a semi-fixed investment fund. It consists of a selected list of Common Shares in 15 Canadian companies that have proven records of stability and growth. It holds shares in 15 Canadian companies selected from a "regular" and "alternate" list of 30. If one of the "regular" stocks doesn't perform well, a substitution can be made on advice of the Advisory Board. This means that only the best performers among Canada's "blue-chip" stocks are maintained in the DIS portfolio. The result is a very high degree of security.

● Aluminium Ltd. ● Bell Telephone ● British American Oil ● Consolidated Mining & Smelting ● Consolidated Paper ● Dominion Tar & Chemical ● Dominion Textile ● Ford of Canada "A" ● International Nickel ● Loblaw Co's. "B" ● Massey-Ferguson ● MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Limited ● Noranda Mines ● Ogilvie Flour ● Steel of Canada

WHY INVEST YOUR MONEY?
Thirty years ago you could buy far more with a dollar than you can today. Even a penny went a long way. But the rising cost of living has cut the dollar's value so drastically that if you had kept $1000 in 1949 without putting it into a savings account or investing it, its purchasing value would now be less than $600.

To have your money keep pace with rising costs and earn you a good profit, it would pay you to invest in Diversified Income Shares. Every dollar is invested in common stock of the 15 companies which, without exception, represent the leaders in manufacturing, utility and natural resource industries of Canada. Because of this broad diversification, as the Canadian economy grows, your investment must also grow.

HOW YOU CAN PROFIT FROM DIVERSIFIED INCOME SHARES

PAST RECORD: 43.9%
Average gain per year for 16 years, including capital gains and reinvested dividends.

In late 1949 and 1950, one man invested a total of $23,350 in the Fund. At the end of January, 1965, he had received $27,497 in dividends and his DIS holdings were worth $93,450.

Even a little money grows into a sizable amount when it is invested on a long-term basis in "blue-chip" stocks. For example, a capital investment of $20 a month would have grown, in five years from $1200 to $1560, in ten years from $2400 to $4010, and in fifteen years from $3600 to $6426 (approximately).

This growth represents the combined effects of dividends and capital gains in share value (which changes according to market fluctuations).

ALL CAPITAL-GAINS ARE TAX FREE!
The DIS 16-year past performance shows an average tax-free Capital Gain of 31.9% per annum, with the result that a $10,000 investment in 1949 has enjoyed a tax-free Capital Gain of $51,132.49—more than five times the original investment and, in addition, the same investment would have averaged 12% annual dividend in the total amount of $19,249.21—twenty percent of which is deductible from net income tax payable.

THE TIME TO BEGIN IS RIGHT NOW
If you are a young man, Diversified Income Shares will help you accumulate funds for your children's education, your family's future welfare, or your retirement. If you have retired, or plan to retire in a few years, Diversified Income Shares can provide you with a steady income. You determine the periodic payment you desire, and the Fund will redeem sufficient shares to pay you the Dollar Income requested.

CAN THE SHARES BE SOLD AT ANY TIME?
Diversified Income Shares are redeemable any time at the "Bid" or redemption price. The "Bid" value is calculated on the current market prices of the common stocks which are held in the portfolio and which are subject to general market trends. It should be remembered that a mutual fund is a long-term investment and that you have nothing to gain by buying shares today and selling them tomorrow.

WHAT ARE THE OTHER FEATURES?
● Systematic purchase plans are available in amounts you select. Purchases may be made monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually. Monthly purchases are recommended, and because of "dollar-cost-averaging" and expert supervision, your savings will grow whether the market rises or declines. In actual fact, when prices go down, your money buys more shares and you benefit by higher returns on your investment.

● Dividends are paid twice yearly in cash or are reinvested for you in more shares, as you wish.

● Because no Bonds or Preferred Shares are included in the portfolio, you can balance your investment program at considerable savings in commission charges.

● Shares may be redeemed direct with Diversified Income Securities Limited, or through notification to the Custodian and Trustee of the Fund, Commonwealth Trust Company.

● All securities purchased for the Fund are deposited with the Custodian and Trustee and held by them under the terms of the Trust Deed covering all assets of the Fund.

● With the Fund's assets spread among 15 leading stocks, it is impossible for a change in the earnings of any one company to greatly affect the Fund's total income or market value.

● Why not phone, write or come to my office and find out what DIVERSIFIED INCOME SHARES can do for YOUR savings dollar. It doesn't cost you anything but a half-hour of your time; or if you are too busy, I'm glad to discuss your future prosperity in the privacy of your home without the slightest obligation on your part.

Nurnberg Church Planned

An evangelistic centre in Nurnberg, Germany, is the aim of members of Victoria Seventh-day Adventist Church, who are joining some 12,000 other Adventist churches in the project.

About 600 church members in Nurnberg are currently meeting in emergency barracks erected after three meeting houses and a church were destroyed in the Second World War.

A church-wide appeal from world headquarters in Washington, D.C., has been issued for funds to implement the evangelistic programs throughout Germany. All money in excess of an allotted sum for Germany will go to Nurnberg.

Nearly 41,000 Adventists live in East and West Germany—almost double the figure at the close of the Second World War.

St. John's

Church choirs, big and small, have often been called the backbone of a nation's music. They raise the morale of the service and keep up the tempo of the singing. Every Saturday, The Times will publish a picture of a Victoria choir.

THE HEAVENLY VOICES soar to the rafters of St. John's Anglican Church every Sunday as a highly-trained ensemble of men, women and boys gives of its best under the leadership of organist Kenneth Ansdell. There have been choirs in St. John's ever since it was founded as the old Iron Church in 1860. Famed city organist Frederick Chubb led the choir for 17 years and was succeeded after his retirement by Robert Rhodes. Mr. Ansdell has been choirmaster since March, 1963. (Photo by Strickland.)

CWL Honors Long-Time Director

Rev. Lewis McLellan of Victoria was honored at the 40th annual membership tea of the Queen of Peace Council, Catholic Women's League, recently.

He was presented with a gift by Mrs. H. Y. Wakelin, president, in honor of his untiring efforts as director of the league for more than 20 years.

Among the guests were Mrs. W. Rogers, diocesan president, CWL; Rev. Paul Monahan, diocesan director; Mrs. L. Michaelis, diocesan secretary.

Also present were three charter members: Mrs. M. O'Leary, Mrs. E. White and Mrs. H. Craven. Mrs. Craven was first secretary of the council in 1925.

Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. J. Pryke, and Mrs. G. Malenfant was responsible for the floral arrangements.

Jehovah's Witnesses 'Going All Out' For Big Assembly

A cafeteria to feed more than 4,000 people three times a day is being set up in the Memorial Arena.

And 2,000 more will eat in private homes or in city restaurants.

The Jehovah's Witnesses of Vancouver Island are going all out to provide for 6,000 Witnesses from six Canadian provinces and 13 of the United States who will converge here next Wednesday.

Occasion is the Word of Truth Assembly to be held in the arena from Thursday to Sunday. It is sponsored by the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, the legal corporation for Jehovah's Witnesses.

The Witnesses take their stand solidly on the Bible and insist on a literal translation of all its teachings.

STRENGTHEN FAITH

"Purpose of the assembly is to strengthen faith in the Bible as God's word of Truth," said Clifford Roberts, leader of the Victoria group of nearly 600.

"We believe this is vital today when the Bible is under attack from so many different quarters."

Jack Troutman of Port Alberni is acting as information officer for the assembly. He will work from temporary headquarters set up in the Shellbourne Street Hall.

He said Jehovah's Witnesses now operate in 194 different countries, including Russia and China, but in the latter they have to work "underground."

NEUTRAL IN WAR

"We are a truly international organization in that we never lose touch even in wartime. We have our own methods of communication with so-called 'enemy' countries, but we are entirely neutral in war because we do not believe in armed forces of any kind."

Mr. Troutman said part of the assembly will be devoted to "archaeological proof of the authenticity of the Bible."

A large orchestra, made up of volunteer musicians, will play for hymn-singing in the arena and there will be a mass baptism.

FASTEST-GROWING

Mr. Roberts describes Jehovah's Witnesses as the world's fastest-growing religion.

"Every six minutes we enrol a new member and all our members are ministers. It isn't necessary to go to a theological college to become a minister of God. The Bible is all a minister needs."

The Witnesses held a similar assembly in Victoria in 1956 when nearly 5,000 attended. This time Witnesses are coming from such distant places as Saskatchewan, Louisiana and Virginia.

Local Witnesses have found accommodation in private homes for 3,367 visitors. The rest will stay with friends or in hotels and motels or boarding houses.

POPULAR soprano Grace Hanning will be soloist at morning and evening services in Metropolitan United Church Sunday. She will sing With Verdure Clad (Hadyn) and O Loving Father (Riego).

Writer Questions Merger

What would be gained by a union of the United Church of Canada and the Anglican Church?

The question is raised by The Man Behind the Pillar (believed to be a well-known Victoria dignitary) in The Anvil newsletter published by Christ Church Cathedral.

"The merger of any two large enterprises inevitably brings in its wake diminution of service and top-heavy bureaucracy," he writes.

"We must first consider carefully what advantage any organic union, a marriage of doctrine, faith and liturgy, will bring to the task which all Christians must assume as individual subjects of the Kingdom of Heaven on earth; that church militant which term, so far as I know, is not limited to the members of this sect or that . . .

"We now have diversity in unity, and unity in diversity. It is not at all an unworkable arrangement. Why change it from without when it is steadily, in God's good time, changing itself from within?"

Boys', Girls' Choir Feature of School

A choir composed of girls and boys ages 7 to 14, and led by Mrs. Ron Berry, will be an added feature of Victoria Seventh-Day Adventists' vacation Bible school to be held at 1462 Hillside, Monday to July 8.

Trained adult teachers will instruct the classes in handicrafts and group singing and Bible stories will be taught. All supplies needed are furnished without cost.

Children from 5 to 14 are welcome.

Museum Open July 1

Provincial government offices will be closed Thursday for the Dominion Day holiday, it was announced Friday.

But the Provincial Museum in the east wing of the Legislative Buildings will be open to the public from 9:30 a.m. until 9 p.m.

First Woman Pastor Feted; Leaves Ganges

GANGES — Dr. Norah L. Hughes, who has served Ganges United Church as pastor since 1960, was honored on her departure by the congregation at an informal dinner held in the church hall.

W. M. Mouat, in presenting a purse to Dr. Hughes from the congregation noted that several "firsts" had occurred during her ministry, including the choice of a woman pastor.

Dr. Hughes had also been elected to the presidency of B.C. United Church Conference, the first woman to hold that post; and the honor of doctor of divinity was conferred on her by Union College.

Mrs. M. M. Sober presented United Church Women's life membership certificate and pin to Dr. Hughes. The pastor's companion, Miss Agnes Herd, received an amethyst brooch, presented by Mrs. J. D. Reid on behalf of Mizpah Unit and the Sunday School. Edward Parsons was master of ceremonies.

In September, Dr. Hughes will take up a new charge in the Okanagan.

PREACHER in Christ Church Cathedral at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday will be Dean Brian Whitlow, who has served the diocese since 1955. Rev. E. W. S. Gilbert, a former RCAF padre, will speak at Evensong.

Portland Professor Takes Uvic Post

Dr. Clyde R. Pope of Portland, Ore., has been appointed assistant professor of anthropology and sociology at the University of Victoria.

Dr. Pope's appointment becomes effective July 1.

He has been doing research in Portland on community services.

Damages Awarded

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Allen of Vancouver has been awarded $18,800 damages in Supreme Court for injuries and loss of his wife in a highway crash near Yale Aug. 18, 1963.

Peace Searchers Plan Conference on Island

TORONTO (CP) — Jews, Roman Catholics, Protestants, Buddhists and Quakers will maroon themselves on an island in the Rideau Lakes next month to talk about world peace for a week.

The 50 clergymen and laymen will stay in cabins on Grindstone Island, 60 miles southwest of Ottawa near Portland, for a week from Sunday, July 11.

They will study two questions based on the late Pope John's encyclical Peace on Earth—how can peace be attained? What can religion contribute toward peace?

Conference leaders will include Rev. Emlyn Davies, a Toronto Baptist; Prof. Jarvis McCrudy, department of philosophy, University of Toronto; Rev. John Shea, director of the social action department of the Canadian Catholic Conference, Ottawa; Rabbi David Powell, Toronto, and Norman Whitney, consultant in peace education, American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), Philadelphia.

The island is owned by Mr. and Mrs. James Wright of Saskatoon who have leased it to the Canadian Friends Service Committee for $1. Mrs. Wright is the daughter of Sir Charles Kingsmill, director of naval services during and after the First World War.

Partnership For Women

TORONTO (CP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has affirmed the right of women to full partnership in the work of the church, but deferred a decision on whether they should be ordained as ministers and elders.

In a report, Rev. Eoin S. Mackay of Toronto Rosedale Church said 36 of the 49 presbyteries had replied to a study sent by the general assembly in 1964 and all agreed women should be full partners in the church.

Rev. L. H. Fowler of Aurora, Ont., said the matter of ordaining women to the ministry or eldership must be placed before the church courts under barrier act legislation that requires a two-thirds majority before church law is changed.

REV. TOMS SAYS:

Where Is God? What Is the Truth?

Where is God?

Recently, the Baroness Summerskill, a distinguished British visitor to Victoria, said that world government is inevitable.

But in reading press reports of the deliberations of the World Federalists of Canada I find no mention of the most important part of any government—God.

In other parts of the world, church leaders are branding much of the Word of God as a "myth" and ridiculing such basic and fundamental doctrines as the Virgin birth and Resurrection of Jesus Christ, with no apparent protest from the laity.

This is a strange development.

The truth is that God, in a marvelous way, is visiting all churches and pouring out of His Holy Spirit upon hungry people with the supernatural Bible evidence of the Glossolalia, or speaking in other tongues.

Mark 16-17 and Acts 10-45-6. This is an evidence of the fact that we are rapidly approaching the end of the gospel dispensation which will bring a period of unparalleled suffering upon the world under a World Government ruled by the man of sin, "Anti-Christ," Rev. 13-7-8.

This will be brief and will be followed by the glorious return of the Lord Jesus Christ in power and great glory, to usher in the new heaven and the new earth and His universal reign as King of Kings and Lord of Lords. Rev. 19 to 22.

Then, and then only, will there be peace with the Prince of Peace and He will reign for ever and ever.

The only way to be prepared to share in this glorious Kingdom of God is to be born again. Jesus stated unequivocally: "Ye must be born again." John 3-7.

Rev. R. E. S. Toms has been minister of Victoria's Apostolic Church for the past eight years. Born at Reigate, Surrey, England, he was minister of the Apostolic Church at Saskatoon for 17 years and was famed for his Sunday radio sermons heard across the Prairies.

SHE'S GOT NO JOB

Suspension Lifted On Social Worker

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—An 18-month suspension against a part-time social worker whose outspoken criticism of British Columbia government welfare services caused a province-wide controversy, has been lifted.

But Mrs. Bridget Moran said Friday that while she has been informed that the suspension is lifted, she has also been told that there are no vacancies for her at the Prince George welfare office where she was employed previously.

She said she received her notice by letter.

The letter had made no mention of its being necessary to cease her criticism of the department and she said she will continue to make statements about the welfare department if she thinks it necessary.

She said she feels that the lack of a job in the Prince George office was a mistake.

There had been an understanding that when the suspension was lifted she would go back to work.

In January, 1964, Mrs. Moran sent an open letter to Premier Bennett in which she criticized the lack of social workers and the lack of treatment facilities in the province, particularly in the northern areas.

Toronto Plans Trade Showcase In CNE Change

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto council voted Friday to take over operation of the Canadian National Exhibition and said it will develop the 85-year-old fair into a national industrial showcase and convention centre.

A $2,000,000 rebuilding program was recommended to expand the workings of the two-week annual fair into a year-round showcase by 1975.

Council has asked the provincial government for an amendment to the Metropolitan Toronto Act which would allow the takeover of the $50,000,000 CNE and expansion of its property.

Metro Chairman William Allen estimated the net revenue of the CNE for 1965 at $294,000 compared with net costs of $725,000 and a $1,020,000 debenture debt charge.

PILL CASE

Ad Agency Responsible For Claims

NEW YORK (AP—A federal judge fined a Manhattan advertising agency $50,000 Friday for false claims for worthless no-diet reducing pills, Regimen tablets.

The case was billed as the start of a U.S. government crackdown to hold ad agencies responsible for the produce claims they advertise.

John Andreadis, 53, the marketer of Regimen tablets, also was fined $50,000 and sentenced to 18 months in prison and his firm, Drug Research Corp., was fined $53,000.

A spokesman for the advertising agency — Kastor, Hilton, Chesley, Clifford and Atherton, Inc.—said an appeal was being filed because:

". . . This conviction and fine . . . if permitted to stand, subjects all advertising agencies to criminal responsibility for reliance upon clients' representations and materials."

U.S. District Judge John R. Bartels in Brooklyn stayed the sentences, pending appeal.

Another firm, New Drug Institute, is to be sentenced at a later date. This firm's president, Arthur D. Herrick, had been indicted but subsequently died. Another defendant, Andreadis' chief chemist, Saul Miklean, won a trial severence and is awaiting disposition.

The government based its case on the contention that millions of overweight Americans were duped by Regimen's television, newspaper and magazine advertising campaign based on claims which were false.

The TV networks and publications were depicted as victims of the fraud, misled by phoney advertising claims, such as endorsers claiming they had lost many pounds solely with Regimen when they actually were on stringent diets under doctors' care.

SWITCH to a new political arena is the hope of Gerald A. Regan, Liberal member of Parliament for Halifax. He announced he will be a candidate for the Nova Scotia Liberal party leadership. (CP photo.)

2,192 Vacancies Filled In Stores

Retail stores are a steady source of jobs, National Employment Service manager George Bevis said Friday.

In the last 12 months, NES was notified of 2,192 vacancies and filled 79 per cent of them.

Demand for sales people is steady throughout the year with some increase in March, May and June, and in September and October, he said.

MORE GO TO MUSEUM

The Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto was visited by 329,671 people in 1964, 25 per cent more than in the year before.

POLICE ISSUE WARNING

City police Friday issued a warning about phoney Bank of America travellers' cheques that may be in circulation in Victoria.

The cheques are supposedly drawn on the National Trust and Savings Association of San Francisco, Calif.

The first six numbers of the counterfeit series are 803870 and this is followed by three more numbers which apparently vary.

LOOKS AT SPORTS

Wake the town and tell the people:

Bobby Hull is revered in the National Hockey League as a man whose shot is so powerful goalies (like Jacques Plante) think up reasons for retiring when they see him wind up.

Fortnight ago, when Toronto's John Bower was in town, somebody asked him which player gave him the most trouble. Hull, maybe?

"He's rough on me. On everybody," Bower answered. "So is Normie Ullman. I think they both scored four on me last winter.

"But the player I really hate to see coming is Jean Ratelle of the Rangers. Scored six goals on me. Hull and Ullman beat you with power. Ratelle does it with finesse. There's no book on him; he never does the same thing twice . . ."

A source close to a source close to a keyhole says that Alan Stanley is thisclose to directing Victoria Maple Leafs next autumn.

The Toronto brass likes the large defenceman, but they are concerned with finding a leader for their junior Marlboros.

Jack Gregory, the man guiding the Marlies, has been approached by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to guide Canada's national team. Rev. David Bauer would act as deacon.

If Gregory can negotiate a deal with the CAHA, Stanley might slip into the Marlie post. If that happens, why not Andy Hebenton as coach of the Leafs? Nobody in hockey commands more respect or is more conscientious . . .

Bobby Pulford, like Bower an emissary for the oil company that wants to stuff a tiger in your gas tank, believes Vancouver will merely be a stepping stone to an NHL position for Bert Olmstead.

"I don't know anybody in hockey," Pulford says, "who is more knowledgeable about the game."

Pulford acquired a taste of Olmstead's personality when they roomed together for five years.

"In his last year with Toronto, Olmstead acted as another coach," Pulford says.

"If we goofed off on the ice, he'd come into the dressing room and the lockers would shake. But if we had played well and were still losing, you could barely hear Bert. Before it was time to go back out he'd pat everybody on the back.

Luckies Tighten Softball Chase

Victoria Luckies tightened the Senior Men's Softball League race Friday, moving within half a game of the leaders with a crushing 11-0 victory over Morrison Motors at Heywood Ave. Park.

Luckies erupted with seven runs in the third inning and coasted to the one-sided triumph behind the shutout pitching of Bob Haldane.

The surge was aided by a pair of Morrison miscues, a single by Don Glass, run-producing doubles by Stu Mitchell and Haldane, and a two-run double by Joe Patterson.

The winners picked up single tallies along the route with basehits by Darrell Lorimer, Mitchell and Haldane and a two-base hit by Glass.

Haldane, who along with Mike Rye must fill the gap vacated by star pitcher Barry Jackson, who is moving to Penticton, allowed only six hits.

Sudden Sam on Target To Erase Idol's Marks

By UP International

Sam McDowell stands six feet, five inches tall and sets his goals as high as he sets his baseball cap.

Ever since he began pitching high school ball back in Pittsburgh, the gangly Cleveland southpaw has had only one idol and one set of goals. The idol is Bob Feller, who first met Sam when he was 14, and the goals are "to break Bob Feller's records—all of 'em."

And at least in one respect, Sam is right on target.

Feller, the legendary hall-of-famer of the Indians, gained his greatest fame with record strikeout feats and Sudden Sam is quickly establishing a reputation as the American League's biggest strikeout king since the days of Herb Score, another Cleveland star, in the early 1950s.

The 22-year-old McDowell, who received approximately $75,000 to sign with the Tribe in 1960, has struck out 137 batters in only 105 innings this year after a 13-K effort against the Kansas City Athletics Friday night. The Cleveland southpaw, with ninth-inning relief help from Gary Bell, blanked the A's 2-0 for his sixth straight victory and ninth of the year.

FASTEST IN LEAGUE

McDowell, who Baltimore manager Hank Bauer tabs "the fastest pitcher in our league and maybe in both," has struck out 1.3 batters per inning for an amazing percentage of 11.7 per nine-inning game, an average better than that of Sandy Koufax. He now has fanned 10 or more men in one game seven times this season, one less than the Dodger dandy.

Minnesota edged Detroit 4-3 on a ninth-inning infield hit to retain its one-half-game lead over Cleveland and Chicago, which blanked the Baltimore Orioles 6-0. New York Yankees defeated Los Angeles 5-1 and Boston battered the Washington Senators 8-6 in other American League games.

CARDINALS CRUSHED

Over in the National League, the Dodgers edged Pittsburgh 4-1; Cincinnati stopped Milwaukee 3-1; Chicago Cubs crushed the Cardinals, 12-4; Houston whipped the New York Mets 6-2, and the San Francisco Giants bounced the Phillies 4-1.

McDowell's accomplishments have done more than frighten the opposition. They also have played a major part in Cleveland's climb to the top of the AL ladder. He hasn't allowed a run in his last two starts and the four hits he surrendered on Friday raised the total to six during that period.

Rocky Colavito, long a favorite in Cleveland, continued to respond with his 17th homer of the season and Fred Whitfield also connected for a solo circuit to account for both Tribe runs.

Game times Sunday are 2:30 and 6:30.

Aaron Takes Aim At First Pro Win

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Tommy Aaron, who has never won a professional golf tour tournament, took a two-stroke lead Friday at the halfway mark in the $100,000 St. Paul Open.

Aaron overcame tricky southern breezes with a strong short iron game and fine putting to post a five-under par 66, giving him a 36-hole total of 133, nine under par.

He had identical rounds of 33 over the par 36-35—71, 6,700-yard Keller golf course.

Locked in a six-way tie for second with 135 was Arnold Palmer, who shot a 69; Joe Campbell, Bob Goalby, Bob Batdorff, Dean Refram and Jacky Cupit.

Tied at 136 were Lionel Hebert and Ray Floyd.

Toronto's George Knudson failed to make the 143 stroke cutoff and did not qualify for the final rounds.

Meadow Court Wins Irish Derby

Max Bell Sold Third Interest To Bing Crosby

DUBLIN (AP)—Meadow Court, the favorite carrying the silks of Calgary publisher Max Bell, staved off the stretch bid of Convamore today and won the Irish Derby. Wedding Present was third in the field of 21 three-year-olds

Meadow Court, ridden by Lester Piggott, had finished second in the recent Epsom Derby.

Bell sold one-third interest in Meadow Court to singer Bing Crosby just be*fore the race for an undis*closed sum. Crosby saw the horse win.

Bell, Canadian millionaire, sold another one-third interest in the winner to Frank McMahon, a Vancouver oil executive.

Crosby, McMahon, and Bell all were on hand to watch their horse trail the early pacesetters, move into a challenging position about one-half mile from the finish of the 1½-mile race and then swing into the lead as the field made the final turn for home.

The Derby carried the hopes of holders of Irish sweepstakes tickets.

The victory was worth $166,950 to the three owners and was watched by a crowd estimated at 150,000.

"This is crazy, real crazy . . . but it's great," Crosby said when he accompanied Bell and McMahon into the winner's circle.

BING CROSBY
. . . shares in win

"What a day . . . what a race," Crosby added.

ON TURF COURSE

Meadow Court started 11 to 10 favorite over the turf course. Convamore was 20 to 1 and Wed*ding Present was 33 to 1.*

Ballymarais, officially placed fourth, was a 25 to 1 long shot.

Meadow Court won by two lengths with three parts of a length separating second and third.

Meadow Court, trained in Ireland by Paddy Prendergast, was in the centre of the field shortly before the halfway mark.

GOING EASILY

But the chestnut colt by Court Harwell out of Meadow Music was going easily and the soft turf did not upset him.

With five furlongs to go, Ballymarais led from American-owned Baljour with Indian Show third and Meadow Court fourth.

Piggott booted Meadow Court to the front with about two furlongs to go and coasted home to a good win.

Meadow Court was second to France's Sea Bird II in the Epsom Derby. Sea Bird skipped this Irish race and left the field wide open for Meadow Court.

PRIZE MONEY

Convamore, ridden by England's Jimmy Lindley and owned by E. R. More O'Ferrall, won £11,130 ($33,390) and Wedding Present, owned by Lord Donoughmore and ridden by Australian Bill Williamson, won £10,000 ($30,000).

The win was worth £50,000 ($150,000) to holders of an Irish sweeps ticket on Meadow Court.

People holding tickets on Convamore won £20,000 ($60,000) and those [illegible] Wedding Present collected £10,000 ($30,000).

It was estimated that about $10,000,000 will be paid out in prize money by the Irish sweeps organization.

CFL TRIES AGAIN

New Formula For Imports

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Football League Friday replaced its controversial naturalized Canadian rule with a new formula to define imports.

The semi-annual meeting scrapped citizenship and substituted football training as the standard to be used to define an import.

Commissioner G. Sydney Halter said players who have participated in football outside Canada prior to their 17th birthday will be classed as imports—with the exception of players who have been physically resident in Canada for 17 of their first 21 years.

The formula will not apply to players now classed as non-imports or to those who acquire Canadian citizenship by July 30 this year.

To spread the formula's effect evenly teams that have fewer than three naturalized Canadians on their roster July 30 will be allowed to designate as a non-import one player who has played in five whole or partial CFL seasons.

The import rule was drafted at a special meeting in Calgary last month to meet criticism of the regulation it replaces. The original proposal would have limited each of the nine CFL teams to three naturalized Canadians.

VIOLATED CODE

Players and the press claimed such a restriction was discrimination. Prof. Bora Laskin, constitutional law expert at the University of Toronto, advised the CFL it probably violated such legislation as the Ontario human rights code.

The new formula — like its predecessor — aims at better team balance and reduced player cost.

CFL clubs are limited to 14 imports on a 32-man roster. Thirteen can dress for a game.

The CFL's Eastern and Western conferences decided they could do nothing to ensure that 1965 season games will be televised.

It has been reported that the advertising agency which purchased 1965 television rights is having problems getting sponsors.

PREPARED STATEMENT

Halter said in a prepared statement:

"Both the Eastern and Western football conferences have contracted their entire 1965 television rights to the advertising agency of Bouchard, Champagne and Pelletier Ltd., and are not and will not be in a position to consider the contracting of rights elsewhere.

"The televising of the games on any stations is a matter to be worked out between BCP and the station or networks with which they are affiliated.

Maria Struggles To Round of 16

WIMBLEDON, England (CP)—Maria Bueno of Brazil turned in a spotty performance but advanced Friday with other women stars to the fourth round of the all-England lawn tennis championships.

Meanwhile, experts were choosing favorites in the men's singles, shaping up as a United States-Australia battle with the field scheduled to be narrowed to eight today.

Miss Bueno reached the last 16 in the women's singles by downing Madonna Schacht of Australia 6-4, 7-5.

FIVE YANKS ADVANCE

Other prominent contenders to advance were Margaret Smith of Australia, Glenda Swan of South Africa, Lesly Turner of Australia and Ann Jones of Britain.

In the men's competition, six Australians and five Americans have advanced to the final 16. Others include Thomaz Koch of Brazil, Mexico's Rafael Osuna, Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy and Keith Diepraam and Keith Drysdale of South Africa.

Two of the eight matches will be all-Australian affairs. Roy Emerson, the defending champion and top seed, will meet Ken Fletcher, while lanky Fred Stolle, runner-up for the past two years, plays Bob Hewitt, with whom he won the 1964 Wimbledon doubles title.

Emerson outplayed Fletcher at the London championships last week, and Stolle defeated Hewitt when they last met two years ago in Austria.

Australian John Newcombe will play South African champion Drysdale.

Californian Dennis Ralston, now third favorite for the title, plays Koch.

The other surviving seeded player, Mexican champion Osuna, takes on American Negro Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., ranked third in the United States.

NEW GAME REGULATIONS . . . INTRODUCE BLACK BEAR SEASON

Humble Blackie Given Glamor

Among other things, British Columbia's new game regulations are intended to make the humble black bear a more glamorous creature and to protect moose in the Squamish Valley from the inroads of civilization.

The two major changes in the regulations from 1964-65 are introduction of the province's first closed season and bag limits on black bear and a year-round closed season on antlerless moose in the Upper Squamish Valley.

The regulations, approved by order-in-council Friday, provide for a closed season on black bear next year from mid-June to the end of August.

A spokesman for the recreation department's fish and game branch said the move isn't prompted by any reduction in the black bear population.

"Rather, we're trying to encourage resident sportsmen to regard the black bear as a trophy animal rather than as scrap," he said.

"Many hunters who come here from the States would give their eye teeth to take home a black bear."

The new bag limit will be two bears.

Neither the bag limit nor the closed season will apply to farmers or ranchers who hunt on their own lands.

The spokesman said the closed season on the antlerless moose is being introduced to build the herd up after a sharp decline in population blamed mainly on improved access for hunters.

Most of the other changes in the new regulations are of minor importance to Vancouver Island hunters:

The season on ruffled grouse and ptarmigan in Upper Vancouver Island is being extended three weeks to Jan. 2 to allow hunting in the Christmas season.

In the Cariboo the season on short-tail grouse is being closed because the birds have reached a low point in their cycle.

The season on hen pheasants in the Lower Mainland is being cut to five from seven days in the light of a count showing the population below a 10-year average.

NHL on West Coast No Later Than 1968

NEW YORK (CP)—The National Hockey League is going to expand to the West Coast no later than 1968, from the way plans are shaping up.

Los Angeles and St. Louis seem well on their way toward nailing down NHL franchises at a cost of $2,000,000 apiece just to get off the ground.

The NHL is going ahead with a radical expansion program that will bring about the first changes in more than 20 years. The league was reduced to its present six clubs in 1942 when Brooklyn Americans dropped out.

In addition to Los Angeles, other West Coast cities in the running for franchises in the NHL are Vancouver and the California cities of San Francisco and Oakland.

Last March 11, the NHL agreed to expand to a 12-team league by creating a second six-team division.

Friday, the NHL board of governors formally agreed to accept applications immediately for new franchises and set the date for expansion no earlier than the 1967-68 season and no later than the 1968-69 season.

In the process, the NHL for the first time disclosed the 12 cities that are being "principally considered" for franchises. The other seven are Baltimore, Houston, Minneapolis and nearby St. Paul, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington, D.C.

BOTH HAVE ARENAS

Although the NHL didn't say yes or no to any particular city, Los Angeles and St. Louis were at the forefront of the choices because both cities have arenas that meet the standards laid down by the NHL.

Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL, said the governors at their two-day meeting approved Los Angeles and St. Louis as the first two acceptable sites. But the NHL still must approve "suitable" applicants from the two cities.

Applicants from these and other cities may be approved at the next NHL meeting in October, probably in Montreal.

"Los Angeles and St. Louis could go tomorrow," Campbell said.

"Both cities meet the requirements for standard arenas and we are satisfied also with the solidity, integrity and financial stability of the applicants."

Campbell did not name the applicants, but the New York Herald Tribune said that it had been previously reported that Bing Crosby is behind "the West Coast group," meaning, apparently, Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles Sports Arena and St. Louis Arena, which seat the required 12,500, at present house hockey clubs. Los Angeles plays in the Western Hockey League and St. Louis is a member of the Central Professional League. A St. Louis team called the Eagles played in the NHL in 1934-35, replacing Ottawa.

PLAY 74 GAMES

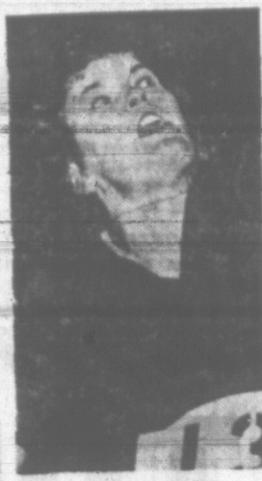
There will be a partial interlocking schedule calling for a total of 74 games in the regular season, compared with 70 now. Each of the present NHL clubs will play two home and two away games with each team in the new division. Playoffs, too, would be inter-divisional.

Campbell, in a statement after the NHL governors wound up their meeting, said the governors in effect were laying the ground rules to be followed by applicants for new franchises.

The governors said each new franchise will be required to put up $2,000,000 for franchise fee and 20 professional players to be drafted from the six existing NHL organizations, which all have minor league affiliates.

The NHL now comprises Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs, Boston Bruins, Chicago Black Hawks, Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins.

A total of $12,000,000 thus will go into the NHL kitty for the expansion program.



NANCY McCREDIE

Canadian Track Marks Survive First Assault

ST. LAMBERT, Que. (CP)—The Canadian track and field championship moved into the second and final day today with national records still eluding the heavy field of competitors.

Nancy McCredie of Toronto's Don Mills Club was the only double winner Friday but her distances in the javelin and discus throws fell well short of Canadian open and native records.

Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., running for East York Track Club, won the 440-yard contest in 48.4 seconds.

John Hunter, 18, of the Toronto Olympic Club cleared the cross bar at 6 feet 6½ inches to win the men's high jump.

Alasdair Heron of the Oxford-Cambridge team edged Ron Wallingford of Hamilton in the men's six-mile race. Heron's time was 29:52.8 to Wallingford's 29:53.2.

THREE FINISH TOGETHER

In the men's 100-yard dash, Ed Hearne of East York, Jeff Archer of Oxford-Cambridge and Terry Tomlinson of Winnipeg could scarcely be separated by the judges at the finish. All were timed at 9.6 seconds, with Hearne declared the winner.

Judy Dallimore of the Ottawa Uplands Club beat out Jenny Wingerson of Toronto, an Olympic team member for Canada last year, in the women's 100-yard dash. Her time was 10.9.

Abby Hoffman of Toronto Olympic was upset in the women's 440 by Cecilia Carter of Hamilton Olympic, who won in 57.3 seconds.

Vollmer Gets by Gardner; Tackles Russell for Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Veteran John Russell and youngster Wayne Wollmer battled today for the B.C. amateur golf title, after scoring impressive wins over beleaguered competitors Friday.

As expected, Russell, a 33-year-old sales engineer, bombed 22-year-old Terry Campbell 7 and 6, in a scheduled 36-hole match. Vollmer, 20, at the same time dashed Don Gardner's title hopes 5 and 3.

Playing his own Point Grey Golf and Country Club course, Russell shot a sizzling 5-under-par for 30 holes. Campbell was plagued with slices into the rough and golf balls that rimmed the cup on short putts in the match play competition.

Vollmer, recent winner of a golfing scholarship to Arizona State University, was four up after 18 holes Friday morning.

He kept up the pace in the afternoon round to finish with his 5 and 3, two-over-par for 32 holes.

Russell was eliminated in the quarter-finals in last year's B.C. amateur tournament and is going for his first title.

Foursomes Event To Mearns, Todd

Mrs. H. G. Mearns and Mrs. J. H. Todd fired a net 73 to win the annual Margaret Todd foursomes competition at Victoria Golf Club.

Mrs. C. C. Mann and Mrs. A. S. Gulston were second at 74.

The Oak Bay club will stage a woman's par competition Tuesday with players starting the following times:

LAWN BOWLING

Barr Rink Derails Burnside Express

Burnside aces Jack McMillan and Andy Dickie have finally been sidetracked in their run through trophy competition on local lawn bowling greens.

After winning a doubles event and taking two triples contests with different partners, Dickie and McMillan came to the end of a 23-game victory streak this week at the Lake Hill club.

Playing with Kay Dickie, they made it to the final of Whittaker Cup mixed triples before Sam Barr, John and Joan McNair came up with some of the finest bowling of the season to send the Burnside trio down to a 19-17 defeat.

Next week, one foursome from each of the Greater Victoria clubs will battle in the Cameron Nichol competition for men's rinks. Games will be played at a different club each night, starting Monday at Burnside.

The Peace Cup, emblematic of the men's singles championship of Vancouver Island, will be up for grabs July 3 on the Beacon Hill greens of Victoria Lawn Bowling Club.

Spicing the season are exchange visits between local and out-of-town clubs. Burnside shotmakers have hosted Nanaimo and will make a trip to White Rock Sunday. Beacon Hill bowlers have been visited by the Mann Park club and will travel to White Rock July 14.

Eight blind bowlers are trying their skill at hitting the jack Friday mornings at the Beacon Hill greens.

TOP CANADIAN STARS IN JUNIOR NET MEET

Some of Canada's top-ranking young tennis players started swinging on city courts today in the annual Pacific regional junior championships.

The tourney, which started at noon and continues until Tuesday, is rated one of the main events on Canada's net calendar this season.

Barry Shakespeare of Halifax and Montreal's Andree Martin, the country's top-rated 18-and-under players, and Toronto's Nancy Green are three of the brightest stars in the event.

Also high on the list of aces are Victoria players Theo Booker, Marg Maysmith and Roger and Pat Skillings.

Games are being played on courts at the Racquet Club, Stadacona Park, Norfolk House, Oak Bay Tennis Club and Carnarvon Park.

FISHING REPORT

Breezes Boost Ire of Anglers

Mention wind to a salmon fisherman these days and you're liable to find a tackle box bouncing off your scalp.

Wind has been chasing anglers off open water for more than a week and if things don't calm down for Sunday some of the salt-water boys might be tempted to try tennis.

Things looked promising Friday morning, but the breezes were back around noon and angling dispositions were getting meaner by the minute.

Although they are far from plentiful, big spring salmon are cruising in many Island waters. The men who own commercial licences have been taking salmon up to 35 pounds off Oak Bay and the springs are running just as big off Otter Point and Becher Bay.

Best salmon fishing reports continue to come from the Campbell River and Nanaimo areas, where wind has also been troublesome.

Several limit catches of coho up to eight pounds have been taken this week in Campbell River waters and a fair number of springs to 18 pounds have been hooked on plugs close to the shoreline just before dark.

Fisheries officials checking boats last weekend reported that 23 boats in the Thrasher Rock-Flat Top Island section of Nanaimo had 45 coho, six jack springs and one big spring.

Sunday boat checks off Yellow Point and Coffin Point showed all 18 boats checked had fish, with a total of 15 springs, one jack and 44 coho.

Wind has been only a minor misery in sheltered Saanich Inlet, where schools of small coho and springs are producing a fair number of limit catches. One of the best stretches of water is near the Goldstream end of the inlet, between Chesterfield Rock and The Narrows.

Occasional heavy strikes indicate there are some big springs in the inlet and they may provide some action Sunday when Chinook Club members stage their annual derby for the Hugh Clarke Sportsmen's Cup.

Vic West Duo Collects Cup

Mrs. J. Turner and Mrs. M. Wakefield of Victoria West placed ahead of Mrs. D. Green and Mrs. D. Thirlwell of Oak Bay to win the Baker Cup in women's doubles lawn bowling competition, Thursday at Victoria West.

The consolation round will be played Wednesday, June 30, at Victoria West green.

July 3, at Burnside Lawn Bowling Club, the Wenger Cup competition for women's singles will begin at 9 a.m.

Medal Golf Event Slated at Colwood

Distaff golfers with handicaps of 15 or under will play a medal round Monday at the Colwood course with players starting at at the following times:

9:30—Mearns, Harrell, Skillings.
9:36—Riley, Lovatt, Fortye.
9:42—Liddell, Price, Chapman.
9:48—Naysmith, Poyntz, Locatelli.
9:54—Lawson, McCormack, Fry.
10:00—Saunders, Peden, Tribe.
10:06—Harwood, Rivers, Anderson.
10:12—Fall, Vajo, Stephenson.
10:18 — Sinclair, Archambault, Cook, Green.

Post entries accepted.

This School Will Be Fun

More than 400 city youngsters who got out of school this week for summer vacations will be going back to classes next week.

This time they expect it will be fun since the lessons will be of the tennis variety, conducted on the new Beacon Hill courts.

Starting Monday morning is the first junior tennis clinic sponsored by the city parks department and the B.C. Lawn Tennis Association. The clinic will continue for six weeks and be followed by a tournament.

Here is the weekly schedule:

10-year-olds—Girls, Mondays and Wednesdays at 4:00 p.m.; Boys, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:00 p.m.

11-year-olds — Girls, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:00 p.m.; Boys, Wednesdays and Fridays at 2:00 p.m.

12-year-olds — Girls, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2:00 p.m.; Boys, Tuesdays and Fridays at 11:00 a.m.

13-year-olds—Girls, Mondays at 3:00 p.m. and Wednesdays at 11:00 a.m.; Boys, Tuesdays and Fridays at 10:00 a.m.

14-year-olds — Girls, Wednesdays at 10:00 a.m. and Fridays at 3:00 p.m.; Boys, Mondays and Thursdays at 10:00 a.m.

15-year-olds—Girls, Mondays at 2:00 p.m. and Wednesdays at 3:00 p.m.; Boys, Mondays and Thursdays at 11:00 a.m.

16-year-olds—Girls and boys, Mondays and Thursdays at 11:00 a.m.

House Heads for Showdown on Newspaper Tax Bill

By WILLIAM NEVILLE

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons is headed for a showdown vote on the Liberal government's controversial tax proposals affecting newspapers and magazines.

After two earlier bids proved unsuccessful, the New Democrats finally got the issue before the Commons Friday and thus set the stage for what appears at first glance to be a crucial roll-call vote of MPs.

The vote, expected Monday, could pit all four opposition parties against the minority government for one of the few times in the current Parliament.

If so, attendance on both sides of the Commons will decide whether 128 Liberals — Speaker Alan Macnaughton does not vote except to break ties—can withstand the combined opposition of 93 Conservatives, 18 New Democrats, 13 Creditistes, nine Social Crediters. There also are two independents and one seat is vacant.

The issue at stake is a double-barrelled government proposal to aid Canadian magazines against foreign competition and to prevent Canada's daily newspapers from falling under foreign ownership. The proposed method is the same in both cases — to disallow advertising in any publication with more than 25-per-cent foreign ownership as a deductible expense for income tax purposes.

IS PROCEDURAL

The NDP amendment, moved by rules expert Stanley Knowles, is primarily a procedural one and, as such, does not appear in itself to involve the confidence of the minority government.

It asks the House to send clause four of the 29-clause income tax bill—the one covering newspapers and magazines — back to committee of the whole House for further consideration.

But, as Tom Barnett (NDP—Comox-Alberni) remarked Friday, the amendment, if passed, could have the effect of requiring Finance Minister Gordon, the only man who can make such changes, to amend his bill.

And, as Larry Pennell, Mr. Gordon's parliamentary secretary, was quick to put it, this could involve "something far more serious."

Mr. Gordon has said previously the government is determined to "stand or fall" on its proposals.

INDICATES AIM

While Mr. Knowles' amendment does not specify which aspect of the measure he wants reconsidered, the veteran MP made it clear in introducing it that his concern rests with the proposed exemption for the Canadian editions of Time and Reader's Digest from the magazine tax penalties.

Both magazines are owned by United States parent companies.

But the government has decided, on the grounds that the two publications have been operating here since the 1940s, to consider them as Canadian periodicals for the purposes of its legislation.

Some other opposition spokesmen, notably the Conservatives and Social Credit Leader Thompson, pinpointed most of their criticism at the newspaper measure.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker denounced the press section as "one of the most serious potential invasions of freedom ever seen in this country." He said he doubted the measure would hold up in court against provisions in the Bill of Rights guaranteeing freedom of the press.

ACCUSES PEARSON

Mr. Diefenbaker also accused Prime Minister Pearson of misleading and deceiving officers of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association over the bill.

The prime minister had told the CDNPA executive last month he would welcome alternatives to the government measure. Now, Mr. Diefenbaker said, after the CDNPA had asked for time to come up with such proposals, the government was pushing ahead with the bill.

Mr. Thompson acused a mild surprise in indicating his group, which supported the government in earlier vote on the bi'l, would go along with the amendment.

"This section strikes at the freedom of the press and at the heart of private enterprise," he told the House.

It seemed for a while Friday that the issue would come to a head then without further delay. In a surprise move, however, government House Leader McIlraith rose in mid afternoon and moved the immediate adjournment of the debate.

WANTED DELAY

Liberal sources said afterward that the move was made at the request of the Conservative party. Conservative members admitted they did not want the issue to be voted on Friday, preferring to have the weekend to "think things over."

The main thought appeared to be how hard the Conservatives might "put the whip on" to get out as many members as possible to try and out-vote the government.

Mr. Gordon entered the debate briefly before the adjournment to suggest the NDP amendment is pointless. The issues had been debated over and over again and nothing had changed.

"Let's get on with the business of the country," he said.

He gave no indication what the government might do if the NDP amendment were accepted.

Earlier in the day, the New Democrats had failed for a second time to force a specific vote on the Time and Reader's Digest exemption. The chair's ruling was the same as in the previous bid, namely that opposition members do not have the right to adjust either the rates of taxation or the groups to be covered by it.

JAPAN AGREES

In other developments Friday:

—Mr. Gordon announced that Japan has agreed to voluntary quotas for the current year on such "sensitive" items as textiles, transitor radios and stainless steel flatware. On average, the quotas provide for an "orderly" increase of three to five per cent over 1964 levels.

—Resources Minister Laing, answering criticism by Premier Lesage of Quebec, maintaining that underwater resources in the Gulf of St. Lawrence fall under federal, and not provincial jurisdiction.

—The Commons passed two pieces of veterans legislation one raising to $34 from $25 a month the educational allowance for children of war dead and the other increasing the amount of interest paid by the government for use of money deposited by the army benevolent fund.

Two other bills, one to create a $318,000,000 revolving fund under the Veterans Land Act and the other to provide for a 10-per-cent increase in veterans allowances, were introduced.

SIX WEEKS — STARTING TODAY — CLOSING SATURDAY AUG. 7th

$10.00 WEEKLY PRIZES IN EACH OF THREE CATEGORIES

1. "The World in Which We Live"
2. "People in the World" 3. "Animals of the World"

Additional $25.00 Prize for Grand Winner in Each Category at End of Contest, PLUS — Entry in the National Competition for $50,000.00 in Prizes! Top award is an around-the-world trip for two, plus $1,000 in spending money.

Snapshots made after July 1st, 1964, will be eligible. Submit as many entries as you wish and increase your chances to win! Read the contest rules below and start looking for prize-winning picture opportunities.

SNAPSHOT CONTEST RULES—1965

1. The contest is strictly for amateur photographers. Anyone is eligible excepting employees of this newspaper, or employees of any newspaper participating in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards, employees of the sponsors and their families, and individuals who, personally, or any members of whose families are engaged in the manufacture, sale, commercial fihishing or professional use of photographic goods.

2. Pictures that have been made after July 1, 1964, are eligible.

3. Your snapshots may be made from any brand of negative-type black-and-white film, but not from color transparencies. Black-and-white prints from color negative type films will be accepted. Any make of camera may be used. Developing and printing may be done by a photo-finisher or the entrant. No print or any enlargement more than 10 inches in the longer dimension will be accepted. No art work or retouching is permitted on prints or on the negatives from which they are made. No composite pictures, such as multiple printing or montages, are eligible. Pictures should not be mounted or framed.

4. To enter the contest, mail a print or prints of as many pictures as you desire, within the contest dates, to the Victoria Daily Times "Amateur Snapshot Contest Editor." On the back of each picture print your name and address clearly in ink, and the class in which you wish the picture entered. (See Classes.)

5. No black-and-white prints will be returned. Do not submit negatives with your prints. Keep them, until requested by the Amateur Snapshot Contest Editor. (Only original negatives accepted.) The Victoria Daily Times and the sponsors of the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards assume no responsibility for negatives or prints.

6. All pictures received in The Times office, by mail or personal delivery, by 12 noon of Saturdays ending with July 3rd, to closing week of August 7th will be entered in that weekly competition of $10.00 prizes in three individual categories. At the close of the contest, The Times will award Grand Prizes to the three pictures (one in each class) chosen by its judges as the best entered in its contest. These three winners then will be entered by The Times in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards, where they will compete with the same number of entries from other participating newspapers for cash prizes totalling approximately $50,000.00.

7. All pictures shall be judged in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards on general interest and/or appeal. Photographic quality, although important, may not necessarily be the deciding factor. The decision of the judges shall be accepted as final.

8. It is not permissible to enter pictures in the contest of more than one newspaper participating in the 1965 Newspaper National Snapshot Awards.

9. Before receiving the newspaper's final prizes in one or more of the three classifications, the entrant must submit the original negative with print, and sign a statement that his picture, or any closely similar picture of the same subject or situation, has not been and will not be entered by him in any snapshot contest, exhibit, or salon where prizes are awarded, other than the one conducted by this newspaper, and has not been and will not be offered for publication in any manner.

CLASSES

- THE WORLD IN WHICH WE LIVE
- PEOPLE OF THE WORLD
- ANIMALS OF THE WORLD

IMPORTANT

If you snap a picture which you expect to enter in the contest and in which a person or persons appear, be sure to get their names and addresses. This is necessary because before your picture can become eligible for entry in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards, the written consent of such recognizable person or persons to the use of the picture for promotional purposes must be obtained.

TINA LOUISE

Curvy Star Miscast In TV Role

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It's a disgrace; that's what it is, the way they're making a laughing stock of American manhood on "Gilligan's Island" every week.

This television show has one of the most voluptuous beauties in history slinking around an island in a low-cut gown, and all the men on the island, the dummies, are trying to get off the place.

Honest. That's exactly the case.

The girl is Tina Louise, who owns more curves than Sandy Koufax. And the nuts on the island can't see anything but escape routes.

If you think it dents the ego of the average male viewer, just imagine what it does to Tina. At the moment she is considering jumping the show and starring in a new series of her own next fall — something with a trifle more realism in it.

BAIL OUT

Comes the day when guys on an island paradise aren't interested in this sexy redhead it's time to bail out.

"I do a lot of cooking and housekeeping on the show," Tina sighed, "but none of the men show any interest in me at all."

It's a case of miscasting—like giving Brigitte Bardot the role of Ma Kettle.

Tina claims she is happy in the show, but rumors to the contrary have sprung up. There is talk of a feud between the glamorous redhead and Bob Denver who plays Gilligan.

During shooting lags most of the rest of the cast gathers in groups to talk and joke. Tina sits alone reading a book.

SHE'S A SNOB

Some say Tina is a snob. Others claim the balance of the cast can't read. Still others infer that Tina is an outcast.

It's symptomatic of most television series. Actors and actresses from diverse backgrounds are thrown together every day for months on end. They tire of one another as quickly as a patient with his dentist. But still they must continue to work together.

Some who play happily-married couples are revolted during love scenes and many a video parent would gladly grab a brick when asked to pat his TV child on the head.

Tina, however, says, "I can stay with the show next season if I want, but I'm not sure about it. Everything depends on whether we go ahead with the new series.

"Though I haven't been given much to do, I enjoy 'Gilligan's Island.' It's good exposure to me, and I get a lot of marriage proposals through the mail."

Perhaps the writers use Tina sparingly for the excellent reason that viewers forget the plot, the cast and everything else when she undulates into view. She looks as if she's in motion when she's standing still.

"I can't help it," she said. "I guess I'm just all girl."

You could say that for Tina. Yes, you could say that all right.

Great War Re-Examined

British Series Probes Era's Many Issues Friday 8 p.m. Ch. 2, 6

Dominion Day Salute: Camera on Canada Thursday at 8 p.m. on Channels 2 and 6

A definitive television history of the first world conflict of 1914-1918, The Great War—the vast 19th century conflict with 20th century weapons—will be telecast Friday at 8 p.m. on Channels 2 and 6.

FATHERLY ADVICE is given by James Whitmore as Capt. Ewell of Fort Buchanan, Arizona Territory to young Brandon de Wilde in The Tenderfoot drama of Walt Disney Presents, Sunday at 7:30 p.m., on Channel 5.

Probably no war in history has been as fully documented as "The Great War" of 1914-18. Countless newsreels, novels, memoirs and films, as well as popular songs, poems, photographs and paintings have dealt with it in a variety of detail.

But the first attempt towards a definitive history of the war awaited the expansiveness of television.

The highly-acclaimed BBC-TV series The Great War comprises 26 episodes, and each episode includes the best of all existing documentation, including an enormous amount of material never before publicly seen.

The narration for the series is spoken by Sir Michael Redgrave, with Sir Ralph Richardson as Douglas Haig, and Emlyn Williams as Lloyd George. The words of other military and civilian leaders are spoken by Marius Goring, Cyril Luckman, and Sebastian Shaw.

* * *

Two special programs, marking Dominion Day, 1965, will be presented on Channels 2 and 6 Thursday, July 1.

The first of these programs, at 8 p.m., is a repeat telecast of Camera On Canada, an aerial look at the spectacular beauty and variety of the Canadian landscape. It was filmed from low-flying aircraft, over a period of two years, by 10 of Canada's top cameramen.

The second program, at 9 p.m., is entitled Dominion Day Special, and originates from the lawns of the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa. A joint production of the CBC and the department of citizenship and immigration, it is designed as a showcase for various ethnic groups from across Canada.

280-Mile Grand Prix Tries World Drivers Sunday 6:30 on Ch. 5

Sports: Sailing and Boxing Championships Telecast Saturday at 4:30 p.m., Channel 8

Highlights of the Grand Prix of Europe, with some of the world's best racing car drivers in competition, will be featured for the full hour of NBC Sports in Action Sunday at 6:30 p.m. on Channel 5.

The Grand Prix of Europe, which this year is combined with the Belgian Grand Prix, is the third race of the year that counts toward the world's driving championship. The site is Francorchamps, Belgium, and the track poses a 32-lap, 280-mile challenge.

Heading the list of drivers is Jim Clark of Scotland, winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race last Memorial Day and a point leader in the competition for the world's championship. Others include Britain's Graham Hill and John Surtees, Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, and Dan Gurney of the United States.

"NBC Sports in Action" cameras visit the plant of British racing car manufacturer Jack Brabham to learn how the cars are made and what their special features are.

★ ★ ★

The National AAU Boxing Championships from Maumee, Ohio, and the International Trans-Atlantic One-Man Sailing Race (from Europe to U.S.A.) will be televised on CTV's Wide World of Sports Saturday at 4:30 p.m. over Channel 8.

Chris Schenkel and former light-heavyweight boxing champion Archie Moore will do the commentary on the amateur boxing matches at the Lucas Country Recreation Centre, and Jim McKay will do the verbal description of the one-man sailing competition across the Atlantic Ocean.

At Maumee, the cameras focus on the final bouts following preliminary eliminations during which 117 boxers took part in a three-day tournament.

The boxers compete for crowns in 10 weight divisions, including two extra classifications—junior welterweight and junior middleweight.

The bouts are of three-round duration, each round two minutes as opposed to three-minute rounds in professional boxing.

★ ★ ★

Over 40 sail boats, about 40 feet long, leave Plymouth, England, each with only one man aboard, in an effort to reach Newport, Rhode Island first. Mostly Europeans man the boats which embark on this dangerous mission every few years.

The cameras stay with Frenchman Eric Toberly, of the French Navy, as he navigates his boat some 2,800 miles on a 27-day trip. The drama of his trip is captured when his automatic pilot breaks and Toberly sets his alarm clock to go off at one or two-hour intervals so that he can check or change his course.

★ ★ ★

Anna Moffo, Gene Pitney, Chad and Jeremy, Edward Villella and Patricia McBride, Dionne Warwick and special guest Stan Freberg will appear on the second edition of "Fanfare" starring Al Hirt Saturday at 7:30 p.m. on channels 7 and 12.

Stan Freberg is one of this country's leading musical satirists, famous for his version of such works as "St. George and the Dragonet", "The Banana Boat Song" and "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

Lovely Anna Moffo of the Metropolitan Opera is one of the operatic world's leading sopranos.

Gene Pitney and Chad and Jeremy are on the best-seller lists with their records of "Last Chance to Turn Around" and "Before and After," respectively, which they will sing on the program. Pitney's style has embraced rock-and-roll, country-and-western and straight popular music.

★ ★ ★

Ambasador Adlai E. Stevenson, who will head the United States delegation to the United Nations' 20th anniversary celebration in San Francisco next week, will be interviewed on "Meet the Press" Sunday at 6 p.m. on channel 5.

★ ★ ★

The clergy panel of "Challenge" discusses the modern day challenge of retirement Sunday, at 6 p.m., over channel 4.

In "Time to Sit and Rest" the panel will suggest how retirement can be a time of new interests and a period of productivity. It does not have to be a time in life that is feared, or regarded as that time when one retires from life.

The happiness of the Senior Citizen has become a major concern. Many are now looking at the retirement age as a time for further education and the development of new hobbies. It is no longer regarded as a time to just sit. Also discussed by the panel will be the responsibilities that the younger members of a family have to make the elders feel useful and wanted.

★ ★ ★

Other weekend viewing highlights are listed in order of appearance as follows:

"AW, COME ON IN," Flipper seems to be urging his friend Sandy. Both will be seen in a waterfrolic performance Saturday at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 5, in the Flipper Series repeat of The Lady and the Dolphin.

TONIGHT

7:00: Channel 7: America. Passage to Puerto Rico. Highlights include Ponce de Leon's Porta Coeli Museum, the Luquillo tropical rain forest and the annual carnival in Arecibo.

7:00: Channel 12: You Asked for It. 1. Jackie Price performs his baseball comedy act. 2. A diver feeds sharks by hand. 3. Carol Williams, an ice-skating cowgirl performs. 4. Films show San Francisco before the 1906 earthquake.

7:30: Channels 7, 12: Al Hirt. Scheduled guests tonight are: satirist Stan Freberg, Metropolitan Opera Soprano Anna Moffo, country and Western singer Gene Pitney, folk singers Chad and Jeremy, rock 'n roll singer Dionne Warwick, jazz pianist Willie "The Lion" Smith and harpist Bob Maxwell.

SUNDAY

9 a.m.: Channel 7: Camera Three. The Poems of Edith Sitwell. As a tribute to the late poetess, Broadway actress Irene Worth reads selections from Dame Edith Sitwell's works.

Noon: Channel 4: Discovery 65. Visit to the Baird Puppets. The Baird's New York studio is toured and examined. The Bairds tell about the history of puppetry, explain the difference between puppets and marionettes.

Noon: Channel 5: Open End. Seven "retired" members give the lowdown on the Peace Corps.

2:30: Channel 2: Winston Churchill. Gotterdammerun. American and Russian forces meet on the Elbe River and the Nazi war machine dies.

3:00: Channel 2. Heritage brings the second of two parts featuring discussions by teenagers on drinking, the church, and God.

3:30: Channel 2: 20/20. Diary of an Arctic Wildcat shows Calgary oilman Peter Vawden and his crew drilling for oil in the Arctic.

4:00: Channel 2: Voyage Into England. The Canal Giants. A look at England's canals, aqueducts and bridges.

5:00: Channel 2: Show on Shows. Rita Greer Allan interviews actor Sean Connery on the set of the movie Thunderball. Connery talks about the James Bond character he portrays.

6:00: Channel 7: Twentieth Century. The Songs of Harold Arlen. First of a two-part profile on the tunesmith who composed such hits as Over the Rainbow and Blues in the Night.

6:30: Channel 5: NBC Sports in Action. Scheduled: The Belgian Grand Prix, taped June 13 at Francorchamps, site of the 280-mile race run on a twisting course through the Belgian Ardennes.

9:00: Channels 7, 12: Twilight Zone. The Bard, a comedy by Rod Serling. A man "collaborates" with the ghost of Shakespeare to write a show "with" him.

10:00: Channels 2, 6: Masters in Our Own House. The guests at a Montreal wedding reception are unaware that a wounded separatist who has just killed a policeman is hiding upstairs.

10:00: Channel 7: Candid Camera. A miserly boss charges his temporary secretarial help for their paper and pencils; shoppers watch a package "climb" the wall of a supermarket; nursery school children tell how they get home; and films of a Pittsburgh policeman directing traffic are set to music.

ASK RITHET'S
You are invited to submit questions on insurance and similar matters for inclusion in this column. The origin of such queries is kept entirely secret.
Q. I am a carpenter and take my hand tools to and from the job daily. Are these covered by my Homeowners' Policy?
A. Only while the tools are located at your home. The Insuring Agreement providing coverage on personal property temporarily removed from your home excludes property pertaining to a trade or profession. However, coverage for your tools can be added to the policy by special endorsement.

Pat Bay Will Roar For Public

It will be a noisy day Sunday at VU-33, the RCN's air station at Patricia Bay.

Jets will roar, guns will boom and bands will blare at the base's annual open house from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Men and equipment from three forces will be on display giving visitors an inside look to life in the forces.

There will be static displays of armament-equipped aircraft, radar and radio sets, survival gear and other equipment.

In addition, seamen, soldiers and airmen will put on displays of sky-diving, air-sea rescue and gun drills.

PROGRAM

The complete program:

2 p.m.—Concert by 40-piece band of Royal Canadian Engineers, Chilliwack.

2:15—Seven sky-divers under leadership of Lief Moe will free-fall 5,000 feet from 7,000 feet.

2:30—Fire-fighting demonstration by Naval Fire Service.

2:45—Manoeuvrability display by transport department hilcopter with Bob Masters at the controls.

3 p.m.—RCE band in concert.

3:15 Royal Canadian Artillery gun drill using two 105-mm field pieces.

3:25 — Labrador turbine jet helicopter from RCAF Station Comox will demonstrate search and rescue pickup.

3:35—Amphibious search and rescue Albatross will execute a rocket-assisted take-off, followed by a jump of a medical para-rescue team.

4 p.m. — Fly-past by RCAF Neptune and march-past by RCE band.

Movies will be shown continuously and refreshments will be on sale in aid of charity.

Surface Firing Series at Point

Esquimalt-based warships began a week-long series of surface firings Thursday in the Sheringham Point area.

Firings continued today from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and will resume Monday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Thursday ships will participate in gunnery manoeuvres from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and will carry out night illumination exercises with starshell bursts from 8 p.m. to midnight.

WAR CRIMES ALLEGED

Russians Chasing Man Now Living in Canada

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has sent Canada a volume of material alleging war crimes by a man now living in Canada and has renewed a request—refused earlier—for his extradition.

The volume accompanied a diplomatic note sent Thursday to the Canadian embassy here, a Canadian spokesman said Friday. Both have been forwarded to Ottawa.

Reporting the note, the official Soviet news agency Tass identified the man only as Kupyak. He was in the Lvov region during the German occupation, Tass said.

Lvov was part of Poland before the Second World War but was absorbed by the Soviet Union during the war.

Tass said the Soviet Union rejected Canadian arguments used in refusing last October's Soviet request for extradition. Canada said in November that there was no law to permit extradition and that the Soviet Union had failed to offer enough evidence.

The new request was accompanied by a volume about three inches thick containing affidavits, photos and other documents. The note said international law obligated Canada to return Kupyak.

VICTORIA, B.C., SATURDAY, JUNE 26, 1965 —PAGE 23

Arthur Mayse

For the past week or two, I have been doing my best to conceal a guilty secret the size of a small elephant, which sits in our driveway upon a pair of 14-inch wheels.

It is called a travel trailer, and as far as we're concerned, it has rendered tent camping obsolete except under two sets of conditions.

We may consent to unfurl canvas during holiday spells for which the weatherman has absolutely guaranteed A-1, hundred per cent cloudless skies.

Or we might, when our occasions take us where the roads don't go, be persuaded to lug in a tent.

But no longer for us the aching bones, the damp seat, the general clamminess and misery of a campsite on which nature has wept by the bucket for nine consecutive days and nights.

(Two summers ago, that was. Later, when friends asked if we'd had fun on our vacation, we gave them a vacant stare. Fun? Who has fun when life's reduced to a struggle to keep self and possessions halfway dry!)

Last summer, it only rained on us for eight days and nights, which was a slight improvement. But more and more often, we found ourselves glancing out from under a dripping plastic to the trailer parked across the way. Its windows glowed yellow through the weeping dusk. Behind them, we speculated, with chattering teeth, things must be real w-w-warm and c-c-cosy.

★ ★ ★

Even so, we remained stubbornly set in our all-weather devotion to tenting, and the things about it that help make it a unique s-s-sport. (I'm sorry . . . that shiver was left over from the last chill and soggy paragraph.)

There is, for example, the soothing patter of rain on taut canvas, while you lie trying to make sense out of an air-mattress pillow, and wondering if your trenches are likely to overflow.

There are the friendly little wood bugs that stroll out of the tent corners across your face; and never will we forget the night when a cow, or maybe it was a bull, backed into our pavilion . . .

Then, on one of this year's few rainy days since winter, we set off for the stores with some vague notion of buying a tent to replace the faithful though stained and rump-sprung home away from home we have known these 14 years as Saggy-Baggy.

We found the shopping mall cluttered with travel trailers of all sizes. Hunching our shoulders against the rain, we wandered among them, peering into their windows. We even stepped inside two or three for a closer examination.

Down near the end of the rank, we came on a trailer we kind of liked. Two orange lamps in its back picture window gave it a homey touch. Inside was a salesman who has travelled hither and yon with trailers for the last 18 years, and is now in the business of selling the creatures.

He beckoned to us. We entered just as the rain quit sputtering and came down in earnest.

The upshot was that we went home tentless, but committed to viewing the outdoors from a different and, we trust, drier, vantage point.

The trailerman, chuckling, threw in the orange-shaded lamps.

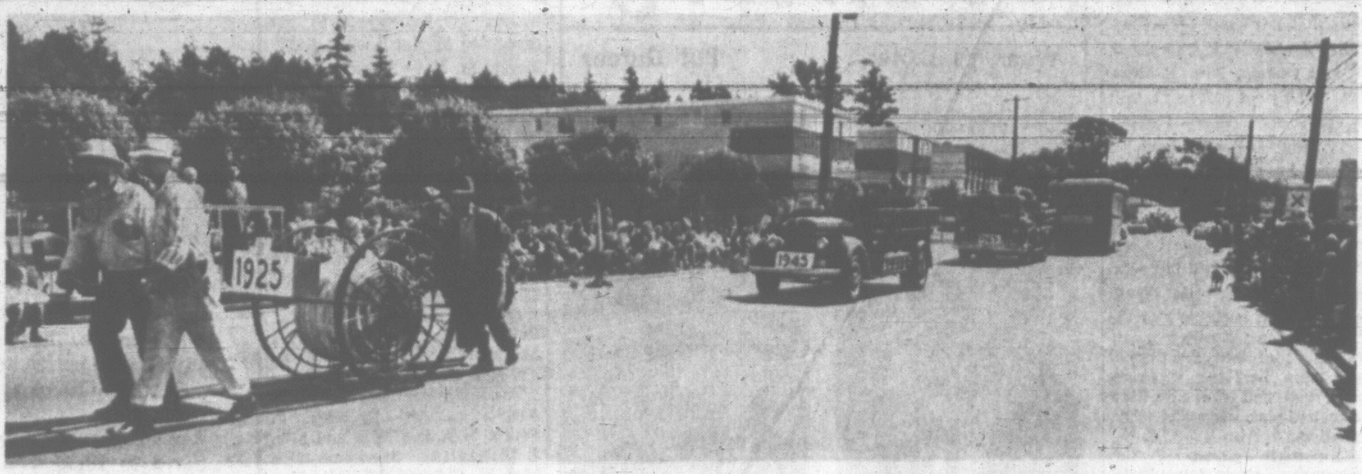
★ ★ ★

Since that recent day, our 13½-foot Canadian-made trailer has seen a lot of driveway use.

Sometimes I work in it. One or other of us is continually slipping out to brew coffee on its gas stove, or to sleep luxuriously on foam rubber beds which become upholstered seats by day.

I wish there were time to describe for you its decor, which the manufacturer insists is Danish modern. But it's time now to load up, hitch up, and push off with my favorite travelling companion for a preview of Island holiday areas waiting their main July-August invasion by B.C. families and out-of-province tourists.

That's it until Tuesday, when I hope to be reporting on our loaf along one of North America's great vacation highways.



Day of Fun Marks Century of Progress

Forty years of fire-fighting equipment rolled past in Esquimalt Day parade today. Hand-drawn hose cart of 1925 led the way, followed by 1945 engine, with gleaming modern truck used by Esquimalt police fire department, in the rear. (Times Photos by Bill Halkett)

EXPERIMENT BY YACHTSMEN

3 Skippers to Hoist Sails On 2,300-Mile Maui Race

By RON SUDLOW
Marine Reporter

An ocean-going experiment will begin here next week by three veteran B.C. sailboat skippers.

They will leave here at 11 p.m. Tuesday from Brotchie Ledge on one of the world's longest yacht races.

They are planning to sail 2,300 miles to the island of Maui in the Hawaiian group in their sloop-rigged racing craft.

If the race, which is expected to take from 16 days to three weeks, is successful local sailors hope it will build to rival the Trans-Pacific Los Angeles to Honolulu race.

TWO FROM VANCOUVER

Two boats are entered from Vancouver and one will represent Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

Owner-skipper of the local entry, the 43-foot Norena of Wight, is Ron Ramsey, 3905 Tudor.

His crew will be Doug Taylor, Sidney commissioner, 2518 Shoreacres; Bob Muirhead, 2297 Musgrave; John Damgaard, 3815 Cadboro Bay, and George West, 863 Royal Oak.

Other sailcraft are the Long Gone, a 36-foot Lapworth sloop owned by J. G. Innes of Vancouver and Valaris, another sloop, owned by Lol Killam, also of Vancouver.

"We hope this will be the start of a number of such races from here. This race is just a friendly one," Mr. Ramsay said.

EVERY TWO YEARS

"And if it does become popular we will hold it every two years, on the odd-numbered year, so it will not conflict with the Trans-Pac race."

Mr. Ramsey added the Victoria-Maui race isn't the longest in the world. The Trans-Pac race is similar distance and the California-Tahiti jaunt is longer

Q. Could you please tell who I should contact to find out what races will be held at Westwood circuit this fall? R.V.P.

A. Write to Art Lightfoot at 1225 East 19th Ave., Vancouver, for schedules.

Q. What's the literary use and meaning of "Hobson's Choice?" N.A.W.

A. Briefly it means "this or none."

Thomas Hobson was a stablekeeper at Cambridge, where he kept 40 mounts always ready and fit for travel.

Whenever a person came for a horse, however, he was obliged to take the mount nearest the door and did not get his choice.

Milton wrote two epitaphs for this eccentric character, says Brewer's Dictionary of Phrase and Fable.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Prominent Long Island socialite Mrs. Eleanor Searke Whitney, will sing at the women's pre-crusade rally in Victoria High School auditorium Monday at 10:30 a.m.

A former concert, operatic and oratorio soloist, Mrs. Whitney is coming here in connection with the Leighton Ford Victoria crusade.

Education Post Filled By Levirs

Franklin P. Levirs, Friday, was named B.C. superintendent of education by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

Mr. Levirs, formerly assistant superintendent of education in the province, will fill the post vacated by Dr. J. F. K. English, who was recently appointed head of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission.

Educated in Vancouver and Victoria, Mr. Levirs, 58, is a graduate of UBC and did post-graduate work there and at the University of Idaho.

CHIEF INSPECTOR

He was chief inspector of B.C. from 1954 until he became assistant superintendent in 1958.

His appointment as superintendent of education means creation of a new senior position in the department, Education Minister Peterson said.

Dr. English served as both superintendent and deputy minister.

'Hell Is Simply the Grave'—Witness

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Church Editor

"There is no such place as Hell, says Clifford Roberts, leader of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Victoria.

"Hell is simply the grave," he said today, answering a Vancouver man who believes in Hell and has been giving it to the Witnesses in the form of so-called hate literature in the mail.

Mr. Roberts said the word Hell comes from the Greek word Hades which means "a covered-up condition."

"In England people once talked of helling their houses, which meant covering their roofs by thatching them.

"A great fiction has grown up around this word. It has been depicted as a place of everlasting torment. But there is no such place. The worst that can happen to a sinner is total oblivion in the grave, with no resurrection.

In Vancouver, 34-year-old F. W. Thomas issued an open challenge to Jehovah's Witnesses' officials to argue the Hell issue according to Bible teachings.

"We have no intention of accepting," Mr. Roberts said. "We don't want to become embroiled in an aimless discussion on biblical truth."

"I am not writing hate literature," said Mr. Thomas, who mailed anti-Witness tracts to Victoria on the eve of their 6,000-member assembly in the Memorial Arena July 1-4.

"I am simply fighting a one-man battle against their deluded teachings."

In Victoria, Rev. Roland E. S. Toms, minister of the Apostolic Church, agreed with Mr. Thomas that his tracts are not hate literature.

"It is a simple religious tract in which the author asks: Are Jehovah's Witnesses deceivers? And tries to prove they are.

"Frankly, I don't consider them a Christian organization at all. They deny the deity of Christ, they deny the resurrection of Christ and they don't believe in the virgin birth."

In the Apostolic Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m., Mr. Toms will answer the question: What is hate literature and has it been manifest in Victoria recently?

"I shall also ask the question: Who are the 144,000 mentioned in the Book of Revelation? The Jehovah's Witnesses say they are Russellites.

"This is entirely wrong."

'Crash' Program Urged

Farmers Want Fast Action On Crop Survey for Pest

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A crash program to determine the extent of a deadly potato disease on Vancouver Island was demanded today by Saanich farmers and nurserymen.

The proposal follows a provincial government announcement that it will take at least a year to complete a survey of V.I. potato and bulb farms to determine the extent of golden nematode infection.

This does not include all nurseries.

The discovery of golden nematode on a single Saanich farm last week dealt a severe blow to the Island's farm and nursery industry and poses a serious threat to the agricultural economy of the province.

The U.S. government has banned imports of rooted plants from Vancouver Island while Ottawa has stopped shipments to the mainland and the rest of Canada.

'Complete Probe By This Fall'

Growers feel the survey to determine the extent of the infestation on the Island should be stepped up and completed this fall.

Nurseryman Ed Lohbrunner felt the government should draft as many experts as are available to complete the survey this year.

"It's worth spending several millions of dollars to complete this survey quickly and to wipe out the disease," he said.

"This is a serious matter, the longer it takes to complete the survey, the more chances the disease has in spreading," he said. "If this disease spreads throughout B.C. it could isolate the province—plantwise—from the rest of Canada and the United States."

Ralph Mitchell, potato grower, said the "sooner we know where we stand, the better."

Norman Putman, B.C. field crop commissioner, said six field workers are working on the survey and four more from Vancouver are being trained for the work.

'Smallpox' of Plant World

"It will take at least a year to survey all the Island farms," he said.

As one grower said, golden nematode is the "smallpox" of the plant world. Nematodes can reduce a crop by 50 or 90 per cent, depending on the severity of the infestation.

The nematode is a microscopic worm which clings to the roots of potatoes and tomatoes and saps the strength of the plants.

But potatoes from infested fields make good eating and are not harmful to human beings.

The problem of controlling nematodes is that they can be carried on soil clinging to other plants, such as nursery stock. It's also tough to eradicate. At one stage of its life it's a cyst. Boiling water won't kill it.

Fire or dousing with formaldehye will eliminate the disease.

But the use of chemicals hasn't proved too successful so far.

Newfoundland and Long Island, N.Y., the only two other infested areas on North America, haven't yet been able to eliminate the disease.

If the disease is found general throughout Vancouver Island the most stringent regulations to prevent spread of the disease can be expected, according to the experts.

A sterilization program for all cars leaving the Island would probably be introduced if the infestation is severe, a plant pathologist said.

This means that tires of vehicles would be run through a solution of formaldehyde before leaving the Island.

This is done to kill nematodes in soils clinging to the tires.

On Long Island, all trucks are steamed before leaving for the mainland. In Newfoundland, formaldehyde is used on tires.

Shipment of fresh strawberries to the Prairies could also be banned if fields were found to contain nematodes.

MEMBERS NEEDED

United Empire Loyalists To Re-Establish In City

Are you a descendent of a United Empire Loyalist?

If so, and if you can prove it, you are eligible for membership in the organization just re-established in Victoria.

Mrs. Olive Detlor Wilson, 3095 Harriet, is reviving the group which has been inactive for 10 years.

She and several other members found the organization still had some money in a bank and decided to revive the movement.

How do you know if you are a descendent of a Loyalist?

Most people just know, Mrs. Wilson explained, but proof can be obtained from headquarters in Hamilton, Ontario.

Prospective members can telephone 383-7073 or 383-3935.

Married in City Church Today—Will Make Home at Maple Bay

After attending summer school at the University of Victoria, newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Maurice Richardson, will make their home at Maple Bay where both will be teaching school.

They were married this afternoon in Central Baptist Church by Rev. Robert Holmes.

The bride, who is the former Miss Sylvia Grace Wedman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyall Wedman, 3220 Frechette Street, and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richardson of Penticton.

Baskets of pink and white snapdragons decorated the church.

Miss Phyllis Hick was organist, and violinist Mrs. E. Richards played "The Lord's Prayer" and Miss Patricia Perry sang "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza fashioned with a lace bodice, scalloped neckline and lily point sleeves. A panel train flowed from the back neckline and the skirt was accented with two narrow bands of lace. A droplet pearl tiara held her shoulder-length veil and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

Floor-length gowns of turquoise peau de soie, topped with lace jackets en tone, were worn by attendants, the Misses Sharron Wedman and Lorna Richardson and Susan Wedman. They had rhinestone tiaras and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Best man was Gerald Richardson. Allan Wedman, Cecil Dickinson and Milo Coldren were ushers.

Following a reception in Holyrood House, the couple left on a honeymoon travelling on Vancouver Island.

For going away, the bride wore a turquoise three-piece suit, white accessories and a wide brimmed hat. Her jewelry was a black diamond pendant, gift of the groom and she wore a corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

Margaret Clark Honored As Prelude to Wedding

Miss Genevieve Dark, who was maid of honor for Miss Margaret Clark at her wedding last evening, entertained at a shower at her home on Alder Street recently. Miss Diane Gooderham was co-hostess. A decorated clothes basket held the gifts.

Invited were Mrs. A. R. Clark, the bride's mother; Mrs. D. Ewing, mother of the groom; Mrs. Don Paulin; Mrs. D. Russell, Mrs. M. Lee, Mrs. G. Dark, Mrs. J. Shearer, the Misses Linda Robinson, Lynda Bishop and Sheila Ewing.

Mrs. Paulin, the bride's sister entertained at a shower in her home on Onyx Place. Co-hostess was the bride's aunt, Mrs. Albert Clark.

Corsages of pink carnations were presented to Miss Clark, her mother and the groom's mother.

A shower cake centred the refreshment table which was decorated with a miniature bride and bouquets of pink carnations. A decorated umbrella held the gifts.

Guests included Mrs. M. Paulin, Mrs. P. Bayne, Mrs. G. Larsen, Mrs. J. Drew, Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. B. Martin, Mrs. J. McPherson, Mrs. I. Restell, Mrs. D. Baker, Mrs. S. Morgan, Mrs. J. Bowcott, Mrs. G. Hayward, Mrs. B. Ambrose, Mrs. N. Hill, the Misses Diane Bonsor, Charmaine Armstrong, Eileen Clark, Susan Clark, Genevieve Dark, Kathleen Paulin and Sheila Ewing.

Returns Home

Miss Adelaide Price is arriving back in Victoria Tuesday after several years living in Montreal. She will be staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price, at their Ardmore Drive home.

Youngsters Entertain

Entertainment, provided entirely by youngsters, was the highlight of the strawberry tea presented by the Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Mary's Priory at the hospital recently.

Musical selections were played by the junior and senior bands of the Elizabeth Fisher Secondary School under the direction of Lt.-Cmdr. H. G. Cuthbert. Dancers from the Adeline School of Dancing and Julia's School of Dancing also entertained. Scottish piper was Gordon Ross.

The tea was opened by Rev. Peter W. R. Isles of St. John's Anglican Church, Colwood.

A sum of $208 was realized.

Tea convener was Mrs. W. Arnott, assisted by Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. D. Smith and Mrs. J. McNamara. Serviteurs were Mrs. F. Chidlow, Mrs. R. Carlow, Mrs. P. Price, Mrs. L. Flatman and Mrs. J. Thomson.

Others assisting were Mrs. L. Brand, Mrs. J. Josh, Mrs. E. Griffiths, Mrs. E. Mullett, Mrs. A. Quail, Mrs. J. Doran, Mrs. R. Tucknott and the Misses Loraine Lacey, Diane Richardson and Lyn Crowther.

Other conveners included Mrs. J. Barwick and Mrs. G. Richardson, home baking, and Mrs. A. Silman, contests. Tickets were taken by Mrs. N. Fenwick and Mrs. J. Henderson.

Woodland Workout

Photos by BILL HALKETT

Completely oblivious of the activity around him, 16-year-old camp counsellor Willard Holmes touches up some of the art-work in readiness for the regular camps which begin next Wednesday.

It's share and share alike as two of the youngest members of this week's camp decide to be sporting about the last piece of pie. Both of North Vancouver, they are eight-year-old Teddy Hartley, at left, and Warren Long, nine.

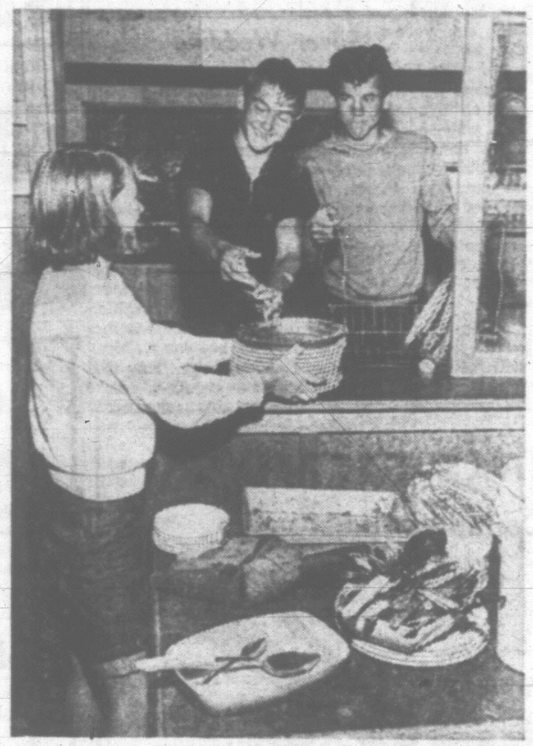
The exercises may be the same, but the surroundings are an improvement on the conventional thinks this attractive trio as they maintain a pose on the beam. Left to right, they are Leslie Bird, 18, North Vancouver; Sandra Hartley, 17, North Vancouver, and Janet Terry, 12, Burnaby.

A novel experiment was carried out at the YMCA's Camp Thunderbird at Sooke this week. Youthful gymnasts from various points of the province "checked in" for a week's workout under the sponsorship of the British Columbia Gymnastic Association. Camp director is Gordon Gannon, assistant physical director for the Victoria Y. In an improvised outdoor gym, the young aspirants showed promise that may well lead them to the winner's podium at future Olympics.

Beginning next Wednesday, regular two-week camps for local youngsters will get under way, the first three being for boys of eight to 15 and the final two-week holiday being set aside for girls of the same age.

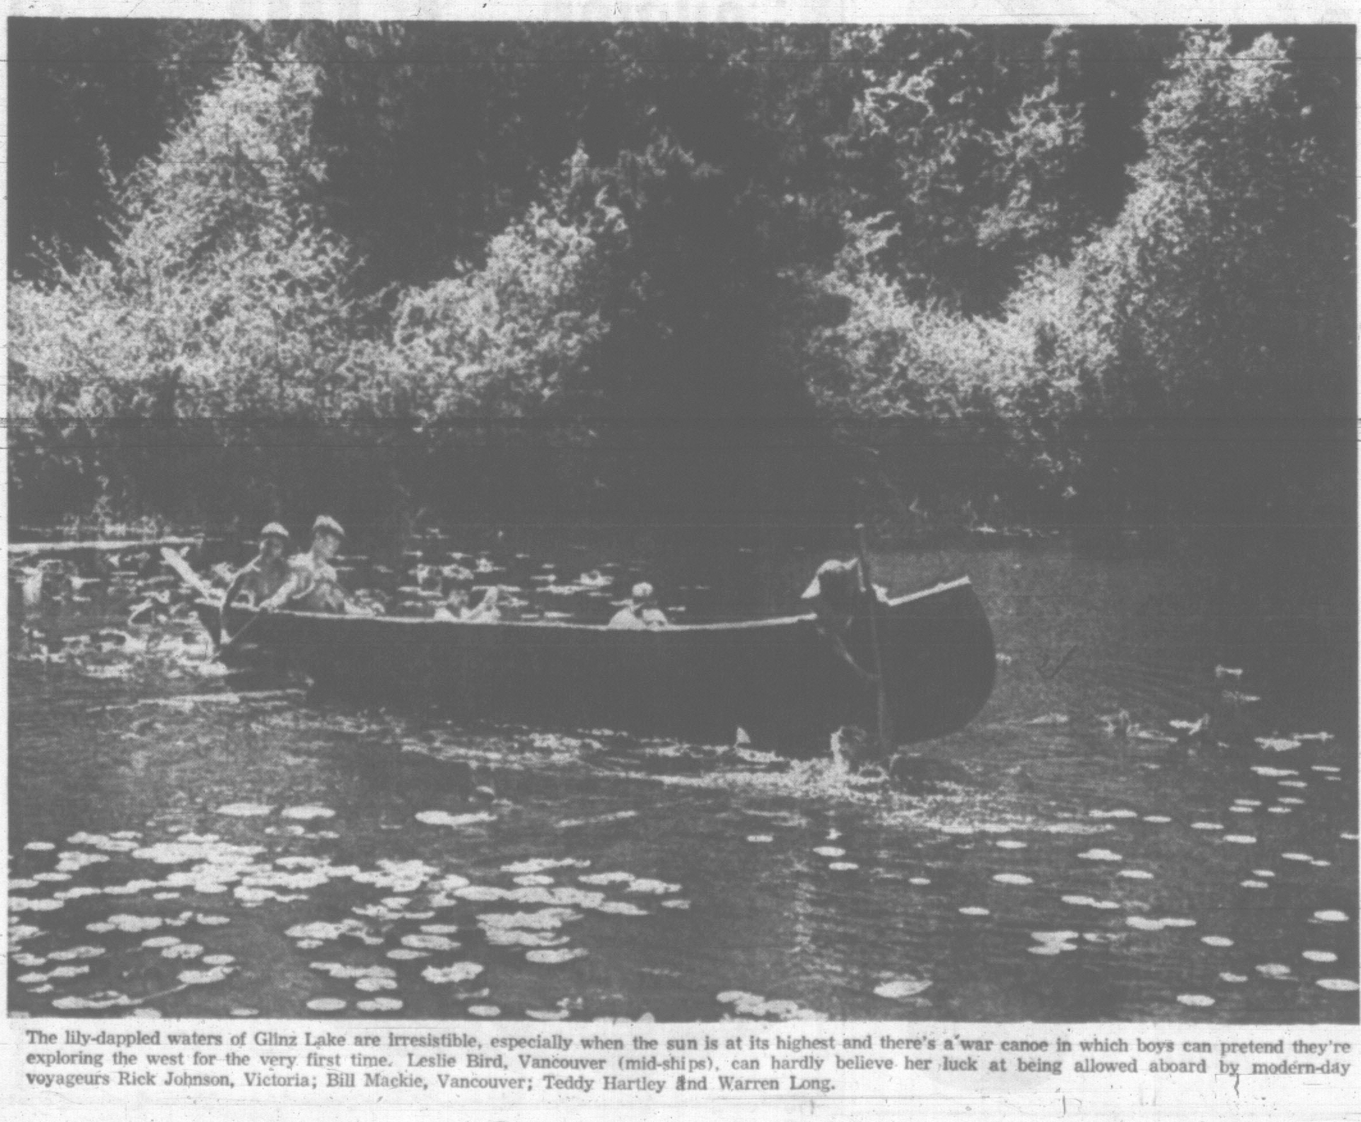
Registrations are already keeping staffs at the Victoria YMCA and YWCA busy as youngsters who know the delight of Camp Thunderbird sign up for another fun-filled holiday. Not least of the attractions is the ample and proficient catering of "Hughie the Cook." I have it in strict confidence that many a Victoria mother would give a month's housekeeping allowance to discover the secret of his culinary skill!

An aspiring young gymnast dreams of the time he can execute one-arm hand-stands like the one being demonstrated by Willy Weiler, head instructor at this week's camp. Willy is 1963 Pan-American champion and competed in the recent Tokyo Olympics. He's a physical training instructor with the Royal Canadian Engineers at Chilliwack.



Even washing dishes can be fun at Camp Thunderbird. Here, Margaret Worsley, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Worsley of Mt. Douglas Cross Road, gives a hand to "kitchen patrol" members, Mike Blades, 15, 2303 Epworth Street, and Lonny Mitchell, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mitchell, 1240 Maywood Road.

Sleeping is the furthest thing from the minds of these three local gymnasts as they chat in one of the eight-bed cabins during the rest period that follows each lunch hour. They are, left to right, Barbara Smythies, Diane Hill and Colleen Lovelace. All are 14.



The lily-dappled waters of Glinz Lake are irresistible, especially when the sun is at its highest and there's a war canoe in which boys can pretend they're exploring the west for the very first time. Leslie Bird, Vancouver (mid-ships), can hardly believe her luck at being allowed aboard by modern-day voyageurs Rick Johnson, Victoria; Bill Mackie, Vancouver; Teddy Hartley and Warren Long.

The camp has its own Paul Bunyan in 16-year-old Darryl Howe as he flexes his muscles, chopping wood for the camp-fire gathering that rings down the curtain on each day's activities. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Howe of Bourchier Street.

Doing The Town

with DOROTHY FRASER

In the good old summertime . . .

Well, it's official . . . Summer's here . . . school's out . . . July 1st holiday coming up . . . and we can all relax and settle down to some good old summertime living . . . This means swim togs and sports clothes and vacation attire . . . Miss Frith's have the greatest collection of such things you are liable to find in a month of Sundays . . . Their swim suits are out of this world . . . everything from brief, ruffly bikinis (lots of lace and embroidered whimsies this season) . . . to svelte, tailored one-piece jobs (some heavenly black ones, with or without fishnet inserts) to flatter any figure! . . . Pretty . . . or delightfully wacky . . . swim caps . . . flowers, lace ruffles, wigs . . . to complete the picture . . . And cover-ups of every description . . . We love the Pantino sharkskin sun suits . . . yellow, blue or hot pink, knee-length shifts with scalloped sides . . . green Bermuda shorts to wear underneath . . . Blue and white checked cotton slims, skirts and longish tops can be bought separately and mixed in a variety of combinations . . . Pretty, pretty patio dresses . . . and an endless variety of slims, slacks, tops . . . For the smartest swim and sports togs ever, don't miss . . . Miss Frith's Millinery & Fashions, 1617 Douglas Street., EV 3-4912.

A dress with a jacket . . . or at any rate some sort of removable top, will be the mainstay of your summer wardrobe.

Sweaters are forever! . . .

We realize we talked sweaters and skirts last week when we told you about Wilson's . . . but such a good, basic, universally loved fashion bears a repeat . . . and this past week Wilson's received a shipment of Munrospun cardigans and skirts from Edinburgh which are so lovely they're bound to disappear fast . . . so we want you to know about them . . . The sweaters are classic style cardigans in Shetland wool . . . or V-neck cardigans in lambswool almost as soft as cashmere . . . And to wear with them, straight matching or blending skirts . . . tweeds and muted plaids . . . The colors are especially beautiful . . . soft and misty as the heathered hills of Scotland . . . Golds, and blues and rose mixtures . . . soft greens, and a pinky brown . . . They're beautifully made, will wear for years and never go out of style . . . What's more, these Munrospuns are not expensive: skirts are tagged at $26.50 . . . sweaters are only $17.50 for the shetlands, $19.95 for lambswool . . . Teamed up with a nice tailored blouse or skirt you've got an outfit that will give you a lot of fashion mileage for day-in, day-out wear . . . all four seasons of the year! . . . W & J Wilson Limited, 1221 Government Street, 383-7177.

If we judged everything by appearance nobody would eat an oyster.

Happy the bride who registers at Eaton's . . .

Seems to us we've been hearing for a long time that Eaton's is Wise in the Way of Weddings . . . but we didn't realize until quite recently how all-encompassing this wisdom is! . . . The fact is, Eaton's can literally supply just about everything but the groom . . . and we shouldn't be surprised if they could even manage that, too, given the right conditions! . . . But leaving aside the jokes, and to give you a quick run-down of what can happen when you consult Eaton's about your wedding . . . First off, you register at the Bridal and Gift Registry and discreetly list your gift preferences . . . Then on to the Bridal Salon to plan your gown and those of your wedding party . . . Eaton's will engrave your invitations . . . make you a beautiful wedding cake . . . handle your complete floral decor . . . arrange and cater your reception at the place of your choice . . . Arrange for your wedding pictures . . . Guide you with your plans to furnish your first home . . . No extra charge for any of these services . . . And when you register at the Gift Registry, you're given a handy reference book to help answer your questions, and a sterling silver coffee spoon to start you on your way . . . Eaton's—Bridal Registry, China Dept., 382-7141.

Brushes are the big news in beauty care. Almost anything you can name is better applied with a brush.

All aboard for adventure! . . .

We came home from Paulin's the other day clutching the most fascinating travel folder in our hot little hand . . . Fresh off the press, it tells all about those fabulous "Circle the Pacific" vacation voyages P & O-Orient has lined up for 1966 . . . The first, aboard "Chusan," leaves Vancouver next December 31st (what a glorious way to welcome the New Year in!) . . . Arrives back on February 25 . . . after visiting Honolulu, Suva, Nuku'Alofa, Auckland, Sydney, Port Darwin, Singapore, Hong Kong, Kobe and Yokohama . . . The "Canberra" cruise, starting Feb. 28th, includes Nagasaki and Rarotonga in its ports of call . . . "Chusan" leaves again in May, and "Orsova" and "Ibera" in June and October, respectively . . . Can't you just picture yourself cruising those sparkling Pacific waters . . . exploring the exotic ports-of-call . . . shopping for fantastic bargains at free ports . . . and abandoning yourself to the heady life aboard one of those great, beautiful P & O-Orient liners? . . . And all this for as little as $856 (U.S.) . . . It's the stuff dreams are made of . . . but don't dream too long . . . all these cruises are booking right now! . . . Let them tell you all about it at . . . George Paulin Travel Service, 1006 Government St., EV 2-9168.

Rotisserie—ferris wheel for fowl.

Bargains for the early birds . . .

While most of us are at present thinking of summer . . . it doesn't hurt a bit to do a little advance planning for fall clothes . . . especially when there are such beautiful woollen fabrics to be picked up as we saw at Saba Bros. this week . . . and some at prices well below normal! . . . For instance, there are some very fine British and Scotch woollens . . . mohairs, tweeds and worsteds . . . marked down to $5-$10 a yard . . . regularly tagged at $6.98 to $12.98 . . . And hand-woven Irish Donegal tweed selling at $8 instead of the usual $10.98! . . . Camel-hair cloth, in both suit and coat weights, ranges in price from $7.98 to $21.98 (the latter so soft and silky it's almost like vicuna!) . . . A group of Scotch woollens . . . 54" and 56" wide . . . come in a big variety of textures and patterns . . . colors are beautifully blended . . . some of the mohairs and boucles are almost featherweight . . . Prices for these, $7.98 to $15.98 . . . There are suit and coat and dress weights . . . Another good buy is the worsted suiting at $6.98 . . . a good selection of colors for either fall dresses or suits . . . Saba Bros. Limited, 1130 Douglas Street, EV 4-0561.

A black linen dress worn on a summer evening has an aura of distinction.

For your summer wardrobe . . .

Even when we're in a hurry and don't intend going in, we can never pass Mary Constance Dress Shop without pausing to view the goodies in the window . . . and this is only a mere hint of what's inside! . . . We did pay a visit the other day, and saw no end of attractive clothes for summer . . . A very elegant outfit to see a smart woman through any dress-up occasion . . . weddings, luncheons and such . . . is a beautifully cut beige linen dress . . . with its own matching coat covered with black cotton lace . . . Dress by itself is simple enough for any time of day . . . Another beauty that caught our eye comes in coral or avocado linen . . . a smart shift with low belt at the back . . . Chelsea collar ending in a polka dot bow . . . A sheath of heavy white linen has two rows of small gold ornamental buttons running down the front . . . A powder blue linen A-line dress with pleats in the front, little sleeves and stand-away collared neckline, looks cool as lemonade . . . There are some very nice arnels in green, blue or brown stripes . . . as well as floral designs . . . just perfect for travelling because you can dunk them in suds at night and don again the next day without benefit of iron . . . Mary Constance, 784 Fort Street, EV 3-4932.

Mary Quant, a young Welsh woman, started the way-out way of dressing for the modern British girl some nine years ago . . . when she wearied of the dull styles then on the market.

When it's time to move . . .

We've done a fair amount of moving in our time . . . some of it accompanied by sweat and tears . . . other times without turning a hair . . . and we kid you not when we say the difference between these two states of mind depended entirely upon the calibre of the movers to whom we'd entrusted the job . . . That's why we advise you, if you've a moving in the offing, to settle for nothing but the best . . . which in our opinion, here in Victoria, is Cantin's . . . It won't cost any more . . . might even, in fact, cost a little less because as you know, time is a factor . . . and if there's one thing Cantin's dont waste, it's time! . . . The Cantin people make a science of moving . . . they're trained and re-trained in the latest methods of packing and transporting . . . They'll do absolutely everything for you so you don't even need to lift a finger . . . if you so desire . . . Or if you'd like to keep costs to a minimum and do part of the packing job yourself, they'll tell you how to go about it, and furnish the necessary materials . . . Whether you're moving up-Island . . . across the continent . . . or just to the next street . . . let Cantin's take over . . . they're absolutely tops! . . . Cantin's Moving & Storage, 742 Pembroke Street, EV 6-3476.

Bermuda honeymooners . . . boy plus girl . . . two motorbikes, casual shirts and Bermuda shorts . . . fashions for daytime are casually carefree but not careless. British conservatism is decidedly noticeable . . . there are definite unspoken rules for dress in downtown Bermuda and resort hotels.

In Step With Style — By Nona Damaske

Views of Bermuda

On-the-spot observations certainly play havoc with images acquired over a period of years from travel folders.

I spent last week in Bermuda and although each moment was sheer delight I have had to smarten up on odd bits of news.

Damaske

Did you know Bermuda shorts aren't made in Bermuda? I knew they were manufactured all over the world, but I have always had a mental picture of dark-skinned, brown-eyed girls in an airy open factory, turning out pastel-toned shorts by the thousand . . . labelled "Made in Bermuda," of course.

I examined quite a number and found most of them to be tailored in England. It seems that since the ex-Indian Army types started the fashion by baring their knees along Hamilton streets, only English tailors could be trusted to produce just the correct cut and hang.

Shorts may not be made in the assembly line manner in Bermuda, but they are certainly worn by most people.

Bermudas are considered correct for men's formal wear if they are black with the conventional silk side-stripe and worn with a sparkling white dinner jacket, black Bermuda socks and black highly polished slip-on shoes.

For the man who enjoys a little color, there are ties and cummerbunds in patterned silk or solid shade silk shantung sets.

For evening, the ladies also wear beautifully tailored wild silk or Thai silk shorts topped with either a floral silk chiffon shirt, a beaded or embroidered overblouse.

Another deep-rooted vision that always came to mind when Bermuda was mentioned . . . thousands of bicycles leisurely peddled by tourists and Bermudians. I did not see ONE bicycle and I really looked!

Mechanization has invaded the island. Thousands of scooters and motorbikes whizz along the highways and fill all available parking areas. These are inclined to dispel the feeling of serenity and indolence as they seem to go at an "all out" pace and are noisy.

Knowing full well I would veer to the wrong side of the road in any sort of scooter emergency, I confined my speeding to three exciting trips on the beautiful sun yellow catamaran "Calypso."

Her fastest speed while I was aboard was 16 knots but she has been clocked at 25 knots. Between the wide-spread floats or pontoons there is a deck of canvas webbing which, as you stretch out upon it, gives the feeling of swinging in a hammock. You can see the clear, emerald green water rushing by under the webbing as the sails snap and billow overhead.

"In Step with Style" will not appear for the next few weeks but I will be back, so don't go away.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Summer Can Be Bonus In Storing Up Health

Lowman

Don't be fooled by the idea that frosted malted milks, ice cream sundaes or other cold concoctions necessarily make you cool because they are. How hot a food makes you feel depends on how many heat and energy producing calories it has rather than its temperature.

Actually, fruits and vegetables and lean meats and green salads are the best foods for summer. This is an excellent season in which to build up your vitamin intake because there are so many fresh fruits and vegetables on the market. Your vitamin D intake will be increased because you are more often in the sunshine.

Why not make this summer a real bonus in health and beauty? Profit from the outdoors and from vital food to store up health against next winter's colds and infections. More outdoor life and more exercise of the right kind will pay huge dividends.

If you have dropped the habit of swimming, why not take it up again; or if you never learned, why not do so this summer? This sport is cooling. It is beautifying to the figure, either thin or fat, and it builds stamina.

If you would like to have my leaflet which teaches you how to swim, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet "Learn to Swim." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Pupils Hold Recital

Duets and trios, both piano and vocal, were featured at a recital presented by the pupils of Mrs. Hilda King in the parish hall of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Lake Hill, recently.

Guest soloists were Ian Franklin and Mark Butler on oboe and violin respectively.

Pianists performing included Jim Furmston, Paulette Howard, Wendy McCague, Maryann MacLean, Patsy McLean, Judith Faryon, David Jewkes, Jim Brown, Robert Hughes, Deborah Irwin, Ian MacLean, Clover Tobin, Dorothy Wolff, Dan Barrett, Linda Furmston, John Hughes, Douglas Irwin, Jamie MacLean, Jill Matheson, Shane Snow and Shelley, David and Nicki Winter.

Vocalists were Jim Furmston, Joan Harding, Rosalind Kobley, Wendy McCague, Dan Barrett and Linda Furmston.

At the close of the recital, Paulette Howard presented Mrs. King with a recording and a volume of the Beethoven Sonatas.

Silver Wedding

About 70 friends and relatives, including 11 out-of-town guests, gathered in the Fernwood Road home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Buckle to honor Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ashton of Fraser Street on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Ruth Tyson, Mrs. G. Ashton and Mrs. A. Law. A pink and silver decor was used for the 'wedding' cake made by Mrs. David Tyson. Mr. Buckle proposed the toast to the honor couple's happiness. Mrs. Ronnie Hanney sang, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

A WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT

By Pat Dufour

There's a lot of midnight oil being burned at Port Alberni's city hall these days and the heaviest consumer is the city's mayor, Les Hammer.

The increased tempo of municipal politics staggered me when I made a recent visit to the up-Island city. Mayor Hammer and his Alberni counterpart, Mayor Fred Bishop, are preparing their constituents for one of the most exciting experiments in British Columbia's history . . . the amalgamation of the two cities in January 1967.

It's fortunate that Mayor Hammer's day-time occupation is that of postmaster. The post office is conveniently situated on the opposite corner of City Hall. If it were otherwise, I'm sure the mayor would gather the largest number of speeding tickets in his city!

Take, as a typical day, the one I saw when I was in his city. I was there to act as annual inspecting officer for Port Alberni's Navy League Wrenette Corps, named after the mayor. The 350-mile drive and inspection, following after a day at the office, faded into insignificance when I took a peek at his schedule.

Mayor 'Plays Hooky'

In between running the postal affairs of the Port Alberni area that day, Mayor Hammer had squeezed a couple of city hall commitments. He "played hooky" long enough to attend his corps' inspection and rushed off to attend one of the public meetings at city hall that happen most every evening these days.

The meetings are geared to get the reaction of a cross-section of the community, being attended by representatives of practically every group in town.

The initial objective is to ready the constituents for a $3,000,000 by-law. Thinking ahead, the by-law will provide a bigger and better works yard and other facilities that will be needed when the Twin Cities perform their Siamese act.

Mayor Hammer is enthusiastic about developments. He anticipates nothing but normal growing pains as the two cities move toward unity. Having been invited to visit City Hall during that evening's meeting, I had a chance to see for myself with what energy and conviction the up-Island area is tackling its pre-amalgamation problems.

Amalgamation Brings 'Plums'

Of course, His Worship and his aldermen have some "plums" with which to woo the taxpayers' dollars. The biggest of these is the federal government's flood control program, designed to wipe out the possibility of another disaster such as the 1964 Alberni Valley flood.

The name of the new city will be Port Alberni. Says Mayor Hammer, "All of us have agreed that it would be a good thing to keep the "Port," it reminds other people that we have one here."

Alberni's 4,500 citizens don't seem too concerned about the risk of being gobbled up by their "big sister" with its 15,000 people. Perhaps, it's because they've seen the comfortable manner in which all factions of Port Alberni seem to fit into the city's picture.

The new city hall is evidence of this. Its landscaped entrance is enhanced with an artistic stone fountain, the donation of the Italian community. The hall's interior is lifted from the conventional with Asian touches, given by the Chinese citizens.

After "putting the public meeting to bed" at about midnight, the mayor joined his wife, Anne, and the rest of us who were being hosted at a typical up-Island party in the home of Captain and Mrs. Rafe Barrett. And, in spite of his long day, His Worship was in the forefront of all the fun.

If Mayor Hammer's zest for work, people and fun is typical of Alberni Valley stock . . . and I've every reason to think it is . . . municipal affairs minister Dan Campbell has chosen very fertile ground in which to sow his community-building seed.

Exercises at Two Schools

BRING SMILES AND TEARS

There were smiles, cheers and tears at two of Victoria's independent schools Thursday, when they held their prize-giving and commencement exercises.

In the afternoon, the grounds of Norfolk House School was the setting for the annual event.

That evening, parents and friends gathered at St. Margaret's School to see students carry off coveted awards and certificates.

The sun seemed to take a special interest in the closing exercises of Norfolk House School.

The playing-field, where the exercises were held, was bathed in sunlight during the affair, reflecting the proud looks of several hundred parents and the relieved, but slightly sad looks of some of the 300 students who would not be coming back.

Seated at the trophy-laden prize table, which was flanked by arrangements of delphiniums and red roses, were Rev. Angus Cameron, who gave the invocation and benediction; Hugh L. Henderson, chairman of the board of directors of the school; Miss Winifred Scott, headmistress; Dr. Rodney Poisson, who presented awards; and Mrs. David Barlow, president of the Old Girls' Association, who welcomed the graduates.

The Hammond Cup, awarded for merit, was won by Susan Stephen. Elizabeth Drake was awarded the Burridge Cup for citizenship. Wendy Watkins was presented with the Young Cup, for academic work and athletics.

Leila Harding was the recipient of the Charles Heisterman Cup for outstanding progress in the senior school. The "Graduates of 1964" award, "for participation in all parts of school life" went to Barbara Harris. For "all-round co-operation in the residence," the Genevieve Prior Cup was given to Toni Kirkpatrick.

Walsingham House was awarded the Cock House Cup for total points and also the Pooley Cup for academic honors. Walsingham and Wymondham tied for the inter-house debating Davies Cup. The cups for house singing and junior relay were presented to Wymondham.

The Robertson Salver Trophy, the highest award to be given to a graduating student who in her matriculation years has given the most of herself to St. Margaret's School, was presented to Miss Charlotte Roberts at the evening exercises.

Miss Roberts also carried off prizes for academic proficiency in English, Latin, Bible knowledge, creative verse and the Molson Cup for topping her senior class.

Bishop Michael E. Coleman (ret.) was guest speaker and R. R. Wilde, head of the board of directors, was chairman. Headmistress of the school, Mrs. D. Cobbitt gave the annual report.

Presenting the awards was Mrs. Michael Coleman.

A special gift was presented to Canon George Biddle, who for many years has been chaplain to the school and retires as rector of St. John's Anglican Church this year.

Senior students receiving academic awards included: Sally Barraclough, Linda Dial, Faith Graham, Angela Plasterer, Laurie Bennett, Paula Lovric, Sally Coleman, Jean Ross and Anne Clark.

Librarian awards were won by Katherine Alexis, Sally Barraclough, Catherine Butler and Dorothy Lane.

Other awards presented were: Music Cup, Sally Coleman; sportsmanship, Jean Ross; public speaking, Frances Fersch and Karen Gordon; Laurie Bennett, Elizabeth Gowan, Permelia Parham, Shirley Hughes and Evelyn Hammond, posture awards; Karen Gordon, Jean Ross, Elizabeth Gowan and Brenda Nicholls, badminton; Charlotte Roberts, Jean McGillivray and Brenda Nicholls, basketball; Joan O'Boyle, Catherine Butler and Jane McGillivray, gymnastics; Jane McGillivray, track, and Jean Ross, stool-ball.

Turgot House received the most awards for athletics and the Margaret Barton inter-house scholastic cup was won by Canmore House.

Junior awards were presented to Kathryn Botten and Sherri Morgan, French; Deborah Howell, music; Madelyn Ingram, creative writing; Christine Banman, Kathryn Waterman, Pamela Sherwin, Wendy Matson, Heather Graham, Karen Kramer and Katherine Kintoff, proficiency.

The junior inter-house cup for academic achievement and athletics was won by Turgot House.

St. John Ambulance

Presentations — Mrs. C. F. Lawrence, who resigned as corps superintendent at the close of the summer meetings of the nursing divisions, was honored with a presentation. During the Second World War, Mrs. Lawrence was a member of the Women's Ambulance Corps, an affiliate of the brigade. This corps was disbanded after hostilities ceased and a number of its members formed the Lorne Drum nursing division. When this disbanded, they joined No. 61 division. Mrs. Lawrence became corps superintendent in 1958. Mrs. S. W. Bridges, corps nursing officer, a member of the brigade since 1951 resigned and also received a gift. Also resigning and receiving gifts were Mrs. F. H. Hurley, divisional nursing officer for the Oak Bay division, and Mrs. A. F. Taylor, nursing officer of the same division. Presentations were made by Mrs. W. F. Humble, corps officer.

Honeymoon in Europe Follows Today's Ceremony at Oak Bay

Following their wedding this afternoon in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Alex Caleb left for a honeymoon trip to Europe.

For travelling, the new Mrs. Caleb chose a turquoise print dress, topped with a linen coat en tone. She complemented the outfit with white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

Rev. C. D. Blencoe and Rev. C. Venables officiated at the ceremony which united Diana Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert K. R. Nelson, 3841 Duke Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Caleb of Brynmawr, Wales.

"Praise to the Lord" and "King of Love My Shepherd Is," was sung by the congregation during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of white crepe georgette over peau de soie, topped with a Chantilly lace coat. Her short veil misted from a tiara and she carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings.

A gown of coral floral chiffon over toning taffeta was the choice of maid of honor, Miss Ann Griffiths. Flower girl Holly Fowler wore a full-length frock of white eyelet cotton over pink taffeta. Both wore floral headbands and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Ring-bearer Harry Fowler wore full highland dress.

Best man was Robert W. Wilson. Ushering guests were Terrell Nelson, James Mousel, Robin Blencoe, Clay Chattaway and Michael Symons.

Cmdr. Henry Gardner proposed the toast to the bride at the reception following in the Empress Hotel Georgian Lounge. A three-tier wedding cake, surrounded with roses, centred the head table.

The couple will make their home at 2425 Sinclair Road.

DEAR ABBY . . .

There Ain't None!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our pastor said in a sermon recently that the white wedding gown and veil should be denied the unchaste bride. I know he felt compelled to preach a sermon on this topic because he has been put in the embarrassing position lately of having to baptize the babies of "brides" whom he had married in white bridal costumes only five and six months earlier. He said that our young people should know that there are penalties—for unchastity and rewards for purity.

I would like to ask if this applies only to women. How about the men? Should we not expect them to be chaste as well? And what should the penalty be for a man if he is not? We hear so much about the "fallen woman." How about the fallen man?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: I know it's unfair, but somehow the men seem to escape the stigma. The unchaste woman has "fallen." The unchaste man has merely "slipped."

DEAR ABBY: A very attractive young woman has come to town from a foreign country. The trouble is—she doesn't speak a word of English. I am very much attracted to her, and if I can read the universal language in her eyes, she seems to be attracted to me, too. How can I communicate with her if she makes no effort whatsoever to learn my language?

SMITTEN

DEAR SMITTEN: Learn hers.

DEAR ABBY: My husband doesn't believe in having any friends except "business friends." He's a junior executive with an ad agency, and almost every night of the week we have to entertain people who might be able to do him some good. Don't young married people ever socialize with people just because they like them? I suggested inviting a very attractive couple across the hall in for dinner, and my husband said, "Don't start up with them. He's only an insurance salesman and he can't do me any good!" Is it a wife's obligation to confine her social life to her husband's business friends?

HELPMATE

DEAR HELPMATE: If a woman is married to a man who must entertain for business reasons, she should co-operate, and do it graciously. But for a man to limit his social life to only those who can "do him some good" is both selfish and calculating. And one who goes through life with a "what-can-he-do-for-me" attitude misses one of man's greatest pleasures—friends for friendship's sake. You can help your husband by building his self-confidence. And by telling him that no one succeeds in business without really trying. But some people try too hard.

SEW SIMPLE WITH Eunice Farmer

Skirt Front Extends Past Side to Give Slimmer Look

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"I am perplexed about something new that has come up and it has been noticed by some of my sewing friends, so please help us. Lately I have noticed the skirt front going around past the side seams and ending slightly to the back. Is this something new, and how does one go about fitting this kind of skirt?"

Mrs. R.T.

Dear Mrs. R.T.:

Yes, this is something rather new in the popular-priced patterns. It has been done for quite some time in your designer patterns. The theory is that it will make us look slimmer and I'm all for that!

If you notice that the front seems to come toward the back, instead of exactly the side and your darts in the skirt back are very close to the seam line, you'll know that you have one of the new style patterns. Fit the skirt in the normal way and don't try to change the position of the seam. If you don't particularly care for this new line, simply use one of your old patterns for the skirt.

Painting Problems?

By Penny Saver

I'm taking advantage of the fact that the younger members of the family have gone camping for a week to catch up on several small repair jobs around the house. The kitchen cabinets have been screaming at me for the last several months to be retouched—they are so covered in grubby finger-marks, scratches and marks, they are a mess!

Yesterday I trotted out my trusty paint brush and began to work—until the telephone rang. When I went to answer it, I dropped the brush in the can of paint—forgetting the can was full. Now, I have a paint brush with a wet handle—and a bad temper.

But I have discovered something to solve this problem. It is a metal attachment which clamps onto the brush and then hooks over the side of the paint can to prevent the brush from slipping into the paint, selling for 25 cents.

If you are cleaning your brushes, clamp them onto the side of the solvent can. This keeps the bristles erect and straight—also allowing the solvent to circulate freely around the brush to clean.

Speaking of painting, let me tell you about the new kind which I'm using for my cabinets. They are mahogany, as are many nowadays, and porous. Well, I have discovered a paint which not only colors porous wood but fills in the surface and seals the paint—all in one operation.

Often the wood is grainy and rough to touch but not with this. One gallon, selling for $7.50, is enough to cover at least 10 large doors, both sides—and that's a large area!

Remember, Penny is available at 382-3131.

QUICK DINNER PIZZA

One cup ripe olives, 2 cups biscuit mix, ⅔ cup milk, 1 tablespoon olive or salad oil, 2 green onions, chopped; ½ cup finely shredded dried beef, ¼ teaspoon finely crumbled oregano r basil, 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce, 1½ cups shredded cheese.

Cut olives into large pieces. Combine biscuit mix and milk, stirring to soft dough. Roll thin to fit bottoms of 2 (9-inch) pie pans. Place in pans; spread dough with oil. Sprinkle with olives, then layers of onion and beef. Stir oregano into tomato sauce; drizzle over beef. Sprinkle with cheese.

MARRIED IN VICTORIA

Newlyweds Living in Melfort

Now making their home in Melfort, Sask., where the groom is stationed with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, are newlyweds, Const. and Mrs. Gordon Paul.

The bride, the former Marilyn Jane Beach, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Beach, 1644 Edgeware Road, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grenier, 3028 Tillicum Road.

Rev. William Kennedy conducted the service in St. Andrew's Cathedral.

A floor-length gown of figured taffeta fashioned with a scoop neckline, lily point sleeves and waistline finished with a bow at the front, was worn by the bride as she entered the church on the arm of her father. Her scalloped bouffant veil was held by a headpiece of roses. Red rosebuds, lily of the valley and ivy were in her bouquet.

Dresses of baby blue brocade in afternoon length, made by the bride, were worn by the Misses Linda Grenier and Janice Beach, attendants. The gowns had bell skirts trimmed with fabric bows at the waistlines. They wore bow bandeaux and carried bouquets of coral-toned gladioli.

Mrs. J. Paterson sang "Ave Maria" during signing of the register.

Stuart Finlayson was best man and ushers were Edward Tomczyk, Norman Cax and Bruce Van Munster.

The reception was held in the Carleton Club. Mrs. M. Hill, pianist, played selections.

Leaving on a wedding trip to California, the new Mrs. Grenier wore a pale pink wool suit, petal hat, white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Use Opaque Bowls

Amateur flower-arrangers should not use glass bowls, say three prize-wining Montreal florists, because "the mechanics are bound to show through."

Ahhh!
Charrington Toby
a great English beer.
Now brewed in British Columbia.

So now you can treat your Canadian friends to that English beer you've been telling them about.

Toby's a typical English beer, made with real English hops, toasted barley-malt, and patience.

So it has more bite and less gas than Canadian beers. And a deep-amber colour.

Since it's English beer, remember, you should serve it at English pub temperature. Not warm, heaven forbid.

Just nicely cool.

A real English beer brewed in Canada.

PROTEST PLANNED

Taxes Doubled On Mill Bay Rd.

MILL BAY—Petitions and protests will be the result of doubled taxes on Mill Bay Road properties residents said today.

Ratepayer John Mawer said his taxes were "ridiculously low at $46" when he retired to the areas even years ago.

"Now they are ridiculously high at $245," he said. Mr. Mawer has 155 feet of seafront.

And that's the prime reason taxes are being increased, according to provincial assessor John Ritchie in Duncan.

"The value of seafront property is continually rising, and we have to assess it on 50 per cent of its market value. And that's it," he said.

"It's the flat irony of fate. They're probably living in a house and acreage where they were born and raised but now, in effect, they are living beyond their means."

Pat Moore, Duncan president, Vancouver Island Real Estate Board, said seafront values had risen "astronomically" because the demand is far beyond the supply.

He said the values ranged from $50 to $100 per foot of waterfront and more.

But C. B. Atkins, an Oak Bay resident who maintains a summer cottage there, promised ratepayers won't take the tax boost lying down.

He is organizing a petition and plans to approach Opposition Leader Robert Strachan and Oak Bay MLA Alan Macfarlane.

"This state of affairs has been discovered by the minions of the leader of the 'dynamic' government who this year doubled the taxes.

"It's true we get the $100 homeowners' grant but an extra $150 is now demanded leaving the conclusion that what was given with one hand was for political purposes.

"This sudden imposition has created a great deal of worry and shock for people on fixed income," he said.

I. H. Robinson, a retired real estate man, said not only had his taxes increased from $86 to $186 but the mill rate doubled to five mills.

Last assessment in the Mill Bay area was in 1961.

Horse Trial Judgment Reserved

A three-year-old Welsh pony named Tommy grazed peacefully alongside a rural Sooke Road residence Friday afternoon while in Victoria County Court lawyers concluded their battle over his rights and privileges.

Judge Montague Drake reserved judgment on a claim that Tommy was responsible for an accident on the Sooke Road last Sept. 12 when a car driven by Victoria lawyer Louis Lindholm crashed into a ditch and rolled over in an effort to avoid collission with the pony.

Mr. Lindholm claimed $1,141 for damages caused to his car from Tommy's owner—Robert F. Richardson of 2862 Sooke Road.

For Mr. Richardson, C. O. D. Branson argued that he was not responsible for the accident or the fact the horse was wandering on the Sooke highway.

For Mr. Lindholm, Mr. Smith argued that, under B.C. law, no horse owner is permitted to keep a horse on unfenced land near a public highway unless it is securely tethered.

He claimed that Tommy was not securely tethered, being held only by a clothes line with a piece of child's plastic skipping rope attached.

"The line was about 21 feet long, suggesting the horse could easily break loose from it on the run."

Vintage Cars Slated Sunday

Interested in vintage cars? Time and place to get a look at some of Victoria's finest is Sunday between 1 and 2 p.m. at Hillside Plaza.

During that time members of Victoria Region, Vintage Car Club of Canada, will assemble prior to a rally to be held on lower Island roads.

Man Killed by Train

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — George Whitford, 80, was struck and killed Thursday by a train on the Canadian National Railway line 43 miles northeast of here. RCMP said the man was believed to be deaf and apparently did not hear the train's whistle.

$1 BETTER THAN $760

Duncan land where the Cowichan Exhibition is staged annually has shot up in assessed value from $2,800 to $11,800.

As a result, taxes this year are increased to $760 from $398. The exhibition board and Cowichan Agricultural Society threaten to return the land to the Municipality of North Cowichan.

The group could then lease it back for a token payment of $1 per year, board president Miss Mary Waldon said Friday.

Tall Tale Selected For Child's Book

A tall tale called Jonah by Paul Brock of Saanichton, is one of 11 B.C. works to be included in the fourth of a series of two-volume anthologies of writing for Canadian children.

It will be published in Rubaboo 4, a W. J. Gage publication.

Mr. Brock, a former editor, reporter and foreign correspondent, lives at 7993 West Saanich Road. His work has been broadcast by the CBC and NBC.

8 CARDS OF THANKS

The loss of our beloved wife and mother, Rose Florence Crause, has left a great emptiness in our hearts, and the kindness and sympathy of our friends and relatives has, indeed, been a source of comfort. We also wish to extend our thanks to Dr. Ross and all who assisted in helping at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Dr. Peter Allen and staff at Vancouver General Hospital. Also the attendants of the Garden City Ambulance, and McCall Bros. Funeral Home.—Jack Crause and family.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JIM JACOBY

We have pointed out earlier this week that you normally use Blackwood to make sure that your opponents can't start out by cashing two aces against your slam contract. When you are sure that your side holds at least three aces you don't need to use Blackwood unless you are interested in getting to seven.

North has 18 high card points. His partner has opened one no-trump and they are playing a 15 to 17 point no-trump so North sees that the partnership total is between 33 and 35. This leaves 7 points or less for the enemy and 7 points can never represent two aces. Of course 35 points might produce 13 tricks; but without a five-card suit you just don't want to be in seven.

After West opened the ace of spades South had no trouble running off the rest of the tricks. He had 11 top tricks and while East did have both minor suits stopped he had to unguard one of his jacks when South finished cashing high cards in the major suits and that gave South his twelfth trick.

Curiously enough, West could have beaten the hand had he led any card but the spade ace and had followed up by ducking the first two spade leads.

East would be able to to discard a heart on the second spade and could hang on to both diamonds and clubs until the cows came home.

West would probably lose his ace of spades but East would collect one trick in each minor suit and two tricks are enough to defeat any slam contract.

BEFORE YOU RUSH OUT AND BUY ANY OUTBOARD MOTOR consider investing in a SEAGULL
SEAGULL make only lightweight, heavy duty motors in the 3-8 h.p. range.
BUT CHECK THEIR HAULING POWER. SEAGULLS are ideal main motors for all boats to 16' and auxiliary motors for boats up to 80 ft.
SEAGULLS are built to last indefinitely in SALT water, still longer in FRESH.
SEAGULLS are engineered as proper marine engines with marine metals.
SEAGULLS are gas misers and a complete check-tune up costs only $5.
NO YEARLY MODEL CHANGES. Your SEAGULL KEEPS ITS VALUE from year to year.
We have all models and all the parts, at

OAK BAY NEAR THE GOLF COURSE TUDOR CHARM EXCLUSIVE

A JEWEL OF A HOUSE IN A BEAUTIFUL SECLUDED, TREED SETTING FOR THOSE LOOKING FOR THE "CHARACTER" QUALITY OF THE PAST PLUS THE AMENITIES OF THE PRESENT, ALL IN SUPERB CONDITION.

The red-carpeted entrance hall and stairway are stunning!! Leaded glass doors lead to 27' living room, and open to LARGE, SEPARATE, BEAMED CEILING DINING ROOM. The kitchen is delightfully in keeping with the general motif (room for breakfast table too). A cosy den with fireplace and white and gold "powder room" complete the main floor.

Back to the red-carpeted stairway and up to two large bedrooms (carpeted) with large closets and 4-pce bathroom, fully modern.

The basement with its NEW FURNACE, NEW COPPER PIPING, HEAVY DUTY WIRING, is high, dry and immaculate. Could be developed so easily. The decoration is new, inside and out — literally NOTHING TO BE DONE here!

If you need extra bedrooms — the basement may be utilized or an extension is easy. The lot is large and gorgeous. And taxes reasonable. You'll want it as soon as you walk in!

It's clear title and priced to sell at $29,500

OAK BAY
First Time Presented

This is a young home in a beautiful, secluded cul-de-sac of south Oak Bay being presented for sale for the first time.

Your large living room has an attractive fireplace and picture windows. From your dining room, sliding glass doors lead to a roofed-over patio with electrical outlets.

From both these rooms, as you sit there, your parklike grounds, with oak trees, lawns, flowers and expensive shrubs are a fairyland to behold. There is a tapestry brick planter on your front veranda and one inside which accentuates the attractive entry way to your living room. The large cabinet electric kitchen, with ceiling fan, has breakfast space and a utility area for washer.

The master bedroom is en suite, plus two other bedrooms of nice size. The main bathroom is colored and tiled, with vanity.

Downstairs is a tiled and panelled rumpus room with cupboard and brick fireplace. There is roughed in plumbing for a further bathroom. A two-car drive-in garage has a wide curved and paved driveway.

It would be almost impossible to duplicate a property of this kind. PRICE $26,000—terms may be arranged. Call PETE CAMPBELL, 385-2471, home 382-5604.

CHOICE MILL BAY
WATERFRONT

Delightful waterfront at its best on a well secluded, treed lot. This area abounds in extra large fish. I'm told, and this just isn't another "fish story." Designed for the owners as their final home, every bit of detail was given close scrutiny to make sure this was to be an outstanding property — and home — however, sickness has changed their plans. A lovely living room with fireplace greets you from the entrance hall with large view picture windows. Good sized dining room. Knotty pine kitchen with dutch door. 3 good sized bedrooms, 2 full baths. Large finished rumpus with stone fireplace in the full basement. Extra large view sundeck. On a most delightfully landscaped lot with lots of stonework. Double carport. Clear title, this property can be handled with $20,000 down. Full price $36,000. B.C. FOREST SERVICE
RENTAL OF CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT

The Forest Service is now hiring equipment of the following types, for construction of the Gold River Forest Road Project 6967, located near Campbell River.

Crawler tractors over 50 horsepower: Of particular interest are: U-blades, rippers, stump splitters, brush blades, matched crawler tractor-scraper combinations, and crawler tractor-vibratory roller combinations.

Self-propelled scrapers: 18-25 struck cubic yards.

Tandem dump trucks.

Rubber-tired tractor-grid roller combinations.

Front-end loaders—over 2 cubic yards.

Graders—over 130 horsepower.

Backhoes.

Power shovels and truck cranes: Of particular interest are: log grapples, shovel fronts, and pile driving equipment.

Compressors and rock drilling equipment.

Contractors who have already listed their equipment with the Forest Service for the 1965 field season need not re-submit.

Contractors interested in supplying equipment for this job are invited to submit, in writing, the type of equipment, make, model, year, serial number, attachments, its present location, business telephone number and the proposed rental rate.

Proposed rental rates, except haul units, will be on an all-found hourly rate basis. Haul unit rentals will be on an hourly, cubic yard half-mile, or ton half-mile, all found basis. Transportation and accommodation for operating crews will not be provided by the B.C. Forest Service.

Written submissions will be received by:

The Construction Engineer,
Engineering Services Division,
B.C. Forest Service,
Parliament Buildings,
Victoria, B.C.

NOTICE TO LOGGING CONTRACTORS

Tenders are invited for the logging of timber on T.S.X.88080, T.S.X.88082, and adjacent timber licences in the vicinity of Tom Browne Lake, Coast District.

The successful tenderer will be required during the period of 5 years commencing September 1, 1965, to construct certain roads to this Company's specifications and to log annually approximately twelve (12) million feet of timber subject to Forest Service approval of cutting plans.

Contractors are requested to submit tenders on forms obtainable from this Company at the address specified below for road construction and logging of approximately fifteen (15) million feet of timber only during the period of September 1, 1965, and December 31, 1966. The successful tenderer will be given the opportunity to continue construction of roads and log approximately twelve (12) million feet of timber annually during the balance of the five (5) year period at rates to be agreed upon annually.

Road specifications and pertinent data with respect to the logging may be inspected at this Company's office at the address specified below.

Tenderers are requested to furnish reasonable proof of financial responsibility and ability to perform.

Tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received up to 12 o'clock noon, Pacific Daylight time on July 31, 1965.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

NOT EXECUTIVE

Secretariat Seen As Data Centre

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — Canada's Arnold Smith was instructed Friday to develop his new Commonwealth secretariat as a "unifying element" in the family of nations.

Commonwealth prime ministers at the final session of their London conference issued an "agreed memorandum" on the secretariat under which Smith, 50, as first secretary-general, received lofty terms of reference.

But the "secretariat should not arrogate to itself executive functions," says the document, taking account of fears in some quarters that the new body might develop into an authority in its own right.

A scale of contributions is laid down under which Britain will pay 30 per cent of the costs, Canada 20.8 per cent, Australia 10.4, India 11.4, New Zealand 2.5, Pakistan 2.5, and the other countries 1.5. Smith will have the rank of a senior high commissioner.

ESTIMATE COST

Unofficial estimates have placed initial costs at $600,000 a year, with a staff between 20 or 30, recruited on a broad geographical basis.

"One deputy secretary-general will have the necessary qualifications and special responsibilities for economic matters and should deal, on request, with development projects," says the memorandum.

"As the work of the secretariat expands, it may become necessary to appoint a second deputy secretary-general who will be primarily concerned with the other functions of the secretariat."

Outlining functions, the memorandum stresses the secretariat should have a constructive role:

"At the same time, it should operate initially on a modest footing; and its staff and functions should be left to expand pragmatically in the light of experience, subject always to the approval of governments."

Functions come under the broad headings of international affairs, economic affairs and general and administrative tasks.

"Consultation is the life blood of the Commonwealth association," says the memorandum.

". . . The secretary-general will arrange to prepare and circulate papers on international questions of common concern to all Commonwealth governments where he considers it useful to do so.

"It may also prove helpful if, in consultation with the governments concerned, he arranges occasional meetings of officials of member governments for the exchange of information and views on agreed subjects.

Smith, now assistant deputy minister of external affairs, is expected to take up his post in August, his headquarters being Marlborough House, where the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers was held.

Functions of the secretariat were envisaged as "the dissemination of factual information to member countries on matters of common concern."

Queen Mother Presents New Colors

TORONTO (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth today attended the 106th running of the Queen's Plate, Canada's premier racing event.

Friday brought a mixed bag of engagements, including a tour of the national stud farm near Oshawa where she saw some of Canada's most renowned horses on parade. In the evening, there was a majestic and touching ceremony in which she presented new colors to the Toronto Scottish Regiment.

At Varsity Stadium she received a standing ovation from a capacity crowd of about 20,000. She was welcomed by publisher Lord Thomson of Fleet, honorary colonel of the regiment, and the two sat together on the reviewing stand to witness the spectacular display of precision drill.

The Queen Mother recalled the day in May, 1939, when she first presented colors to the regiment.

"I am certain that all at this parade, who have ever worn the hodden grey, are proud of you, as I am, this night," she said.

After the new colors were brought in and consecrated, the Queen Mother went forward to make the presentation.

Marine Accidents Up Sharply

RCAF Rescue Co-ordination Centre in Vancouver has handled 383 incidents since Jan. 1.

The figure marks an increase of 86 over the corresponding period last year.

Biggest increase was in marine accidents which rose about 20 per cent to 232.

In addition there were 39 aircraft incidents, 46 missing persons and mercy flights and 66 communications checks.

Included in the total incidents was activity surrounding the Granduc Mine disaster, a major aircraft search in the Prince George area, two searches for fishing vessels in northern waters and the rescue of 17 civilians from the drifting naval munitions carrier Laymore.

Search and rescue officials are asking tse thousands of B.C. boat owners to be careful when on the water this summer.

"If past figures are any indication, the Rescue Co-ordination Centre will handle close to 400 incidents this summer," a spokesman said.

Relaxation of Laws On Libel Advocated

LONDON (AP) — A committee of lawyers and journalists recommends relaxation of Britain's libel laws, which are among the world's stiffest. It said the laws as they stand are biased against the press.

The committee is composed of three lawyers from the all-party legal organization known as Justice, and three members of the British committee of the International Press Institute. The chairman is Lord Shawcross, former attorney-general.

The report, The Law and the Press, was published Thursday. It conceded that the function of the law is to preserve a balance between free speech and the protection of individual reputation. But it added:

"In recent years, however, the scales appear to have been tilted somewhat against the press by the decisions in a small number of cases by juries which do not seem always to have adopted an objective attitude. . . . The climate of opinion at present appears to be hostile to the press."

The report recommended that appeal courts be given the power to scale down damages awarded by juries. Shawcross points out cases in which auto accident victims receive £25,000 ($75,000) for lifetime paralysis, while someone claiming damage to his reputation might receive far more in a libel verdict.

The committee also recommended:

—Libel suits not brought within six months should be dismissed unless the plaintiff can show good cause for the delay.

—If a defendant claims fair comment or qualified privilege as a defence, and the plaintiff claims malice, the judge should decide whether the publication is malicious—not the jury.

—Apologies, retractions and letters in contradiction be allowed as amends for a libel, especially if the newspaper can show that its original story had been written in good faith and in the public interest.

—A change relaxing current law under which a plaintiff can sue for libel over one untrue statement in a story that is otherwise correct.

The committee also urged newspapers to criticize judicial verdicts more freely. It suggested that contempt of court proceedings against publications be brought only with permission of the attorney-general.

A special award from the International Co-operation Year Organization was presented to Kurt Samer, editor of the Gordon Head Junior High School yearbook, at the annual awards day ceremonies held recently.

The Armstrong cup for girls' sportsmanship was presented to Coleen Ray and the Newton cup for boys' sportsmanship to Bradley Mann.

Diana Partridge received the George Little award for academic excellence and the Hartley picture award.

Winner of the Trevellick trophy for citizenship was Leslie Woodland, and Forestry Association awards went to Linda Seabrook and Rodger Moore.

Cormorant House won the Sydney Child cup for inter-house competition.

UN Fund Boosted

BONN (AP)—West Germany has contributed an additional $500,000 to the United Nations to support the Cyprus peacekeeping force, the foreign ministry reported Friday. This brings to $2,500,000 West Germany's total Cyprus contributions, the foreign ministry said.

Law Ties Hands On Sentence; Boy, 15, Jailed

Magistrate William Ostler said Friday the law gave him no alternative when he sentenced a 15-year-old youth to one year in jail on three charges of breaking, entering and theft.

The youth's name may not be published because he is a juvenile.

The magistrate said the law permitted the youth to be transferred from juvenile to magistrate's court but did not permit the court to sentence the accused to the young offender's unit at Haney until he reached the age of 16 years.

As a result, Magistrate Ostler said, he could not impose a definite and indefinite sentence.

He said he hoped "consideration will be given to plugging this gap."

The magistrate said he would make a strong recommendation to prison authorities that the youth serve his sentence at Haney or at the New Haven institution for juveniles.

Fire at Winnipeg Sweeps Warehouse

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fire swept the top floor of a three-storey warehouse in downtown Winnipeg Thursday, destroying furniture and other stored household goods in the three hours it burned out of control.

Dense clouds of black smoke formed a haze over a wide area as flames shot 15 feet into the air at the Star Storage Ltd. building at Edmonton St. and St. Mary Ave., two blocks south of Portage Ave.

Habitual Hearing Aug. 3

A hearing will be held Aug 3 to determine if a 26-year-old Victoria man is an habitual criminal.

John L. Smith, now serving a sentence for attempted breaking and entering, will come up before Magistrate J. A. Byers on that date.

If the magistrate decides that Smith is an habitual criminal then Smith will be kept in preventive detention.

The Crown instituted habitual criminal proceedings against Smith several months ago but they were delayed pending the outcome of an appeal by Smith against his conviction for attempted burglary.

The appeal was recently dismissed and the date for the hearing was set today in city court. Smith will be defended by lawyer Ian Stewart and the specially-appointed Crown prosecutor is Terry O'Grady.

Ostler Warns Drivers On Beach Tomfoolery

Motorists convicted of driving offences near public beaches can expect the worst when they go to court, Magistrate William Ostler warned Friday.

He made the comment in imposing a $50 fine on Roy MacLaren, 569 Baker, and suspending his driver's licence.

MacLaren drove along The Esplanade May 30 with two youths hanging out the windows on either side of his car. An Oak Bay policeman estimated the speed of the car as 40 mph. When the car stopped both youths who were hanging out fell off.

The magistrate said MacLaren might easily have found himself charged with criminal negligence if either of his passengers had suffered serious injury. As it was he was charged with careless driving.

Two other young persons who pleaded guilty in Oak Bay court to driving without reasonable consideration were each fined $45.

They are Kim Egginton, 315 St. Charles, and Stephen Ryan, 779 Lampson. Evidence was they drove at 60 mph on Beach Drive June 5. Police said Egginton was chasing Ryan.

A collision at Henderson and Foul Bay June 12 resulted in a $45 fine for Duncan Bingham, 2790 Dufferin, who pleaded guilty to careless driving.

Almost Out of Debt NDP Leader Says

REGINA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, New Democratic party leader, said Friday his party now is "almost out of debt."

Mr. Douglas, at a press conference, said, "we're broke as we always were, but our credit is better."

He said the party had reduced a $48,000 debt to $35,000 just before the last federal election. He did not say how much further the party went into debt during that election.

Re-Paving Highway

Provincial highways department formally called for tenders Friday for re-paving 3.5 miles of Jacklin, Millstream and Shoreline roads in Esquimalt electoral district.

A B.C. Gazette notice said the bids would be opened at 2 p.m. July 7.

MAN CHARGES

Reds Hit And Run At Sea

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver fishing skipper, Friday charged a Russian ship with hit-and-run of the high seas.

Leif Tusvik, 61-year-old skipper of the halibuter Pacific Wave, said a Russian fishing fleet mother ship rammed his vessel in the Gulf of Alaska while he was at anchor and moved off without offering assistance.

He said everyone on the Pacific Wave had turned in for sleep and the ship was riding at anchor when the Russian mother ship's flaring bow sliced into the halibuter's wheelhouse and cabin housing, causing about $5,000 worth of damage.

He said the Russian vessel was underway but not under her own power. She was being pushed by a catcher boat.

ENGINES STOP

Tusvik described how he ran "around the deck in my underwear, without shoes on and there was a Russian standing in the bow of the ship." The Russian hollered: "Must got move away, you got move away, our engines are stopped."

The Vancouver skipper said crew members of the Pacific Wave, awakened by the impact, jotted down numbers painted on the Russian ship's side. Capt. Tusvik said his insurance company has agreed to pay for the damage to the Pacific Wave and will try to collect from the Russians.

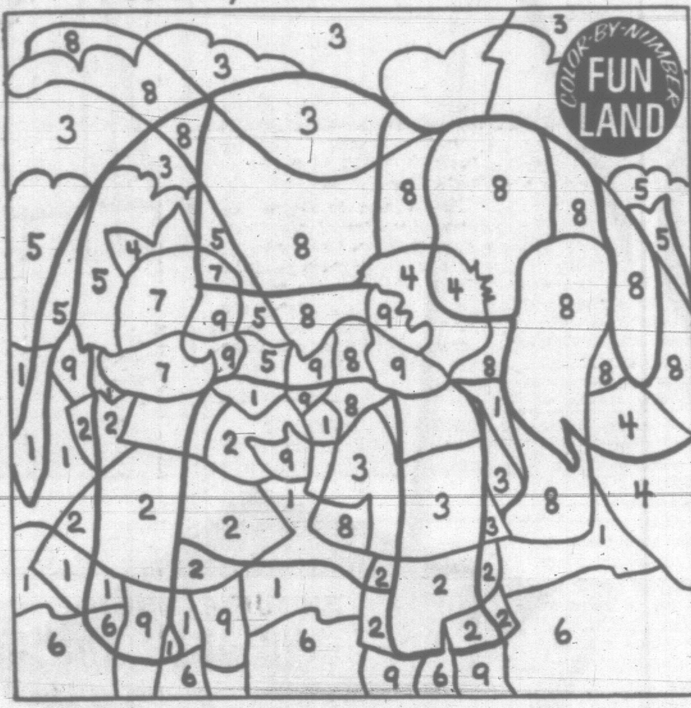
Color-By-Number Fun Poser



"Do you see what I see?" asks one resident of Color-by-Number Fun Land. "Pretty big fellow!" answers another. Now, on the surface of things, our friends would seem to be talking about a certain four-legged creature whose outline is prominent 'midst the jumbled lines above. Let's find out if this is so. To make the hidden picture appear, simply apply colored pencils or crayons to the scene accordin to these indicators: 1—Yellow. 2—Red. 3—Blue. 4—Orange. 5—Green. 6—Purple. 7—Black. 8—Brown. 9—Pink. If Pink is not handy, use red lightly instead.

Add colors neatly, of course.

LETER WORDS TO PONDER

There are lots of words having three letters or more that can be represented phonetically by a single letter. What letters could represent the words defined below?

1. A question. 2. Printer's measure. 3. Insect. 4. Beverage. 5. Vegetable. 6. Part of body. 7. Exclamation. 8. Affirmative. 9. Ocean. 10. Member of your family.

More than one answer may be possible.

Answers: 1. Y (why?) or C (see?). 2. M. 3. B. 4. T. 5. P. 6. I (eye). 7. O. 8. A (aye) 9 C 10 U (you)

DOLLAR'S WORTH OF G. B. SHAW?

George Bernard Shaw once stated for newspaper publication that his prose was worth a dollar a word. A smart potato from Idaho sent him a letter enclosing a dollar. "Send me one of your words," he wrote. What word did Shaw send?

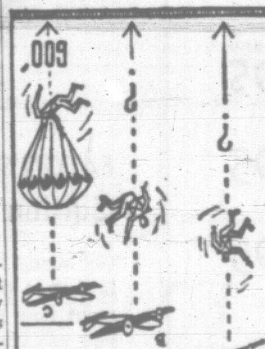
Answer: The word Shaw wrote was "Thanks."

WHICH GIRL WON?

From the following hints, determine how many subscriptions each girl obtained: Eleanor topped Dorothy. Best score was 40 subscriptions; lowest was 12. Josephine beat Pearl, whose score was just half of Eleanor's 32.

Answer: Josephine—forty; Eleanor—thirty-two; Pearl — sixteen; Dorothy—twelve.

HIT THE SILK IN A SKY DIVE?



Let's say that three sky divers, A, B and C, leap from different planes at the same instant. A is at an altitude of 4,000 feet, B at 2,100 feet and C, 1,000 feet.

Now, it must be agreed a falling body drops 16 feet the first second, then accelerates 32 feet with each succeeding second. We will assume that after the parachutes have opened the divers drop at a uniform rate of 20 feet per second.

C's parachute opens 600 feet above the ground. Disregarding air resistance before the parachutes open, at what altitude must A's and B's parachutes open so that all three reach the ground simultaneously?

Solution: If a body falls 16 feet the first second and accelerates 32 feet with each succeeding second, then at the end of two seconds it has dropped 64 feet (16 plus 48); at the end of three seconds, 16 plus 48 plus 80, or 144 feet and so on. It therefore requires five seconds for C to drop 400 feet. Then when his parachute opens he falls the remaining 600 feet at the rate of 20 feet per second or 30 seconds, landing him on the ground in 35 seconds. Similarly, to reach the ground in 35 seconds A and Bs parachute must open when they are 400 and 500 feet above the ground, respectively.

STAMP CORNER

By REG. NAIRNE

It is customary in most countries to keep the regular everyday sets of stamps in use for about ten years before bringing out a new series. In the case of the U.S.A. this period has now elapsed, for the current definitives have been in service since 1954.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has therefore announced that a new set, running from the 1c to the $5 value is now in preparation and will be put on sale later this year.

Seven of the current denominations will be dropped — the ½c, 1½c, 2½c, 4½c, 7c, 9c and 12c; so the new group will consist of 18 instead of 25 stamps.

It will be known as the prominent Americans" series, and although six presidents will be included, a number of newcomers to our philatelic portrait gallery will be added, several of whom will probably be quite unknown to Canadian collectors.

For instance, the 1¼c stamp will feature Albert Gallatin, Swiss-born Secretary of the Treasury from 1801-13.

The 25c will show Frederick Douglass, negro slave who became Consul-General to Haiti; the 30c John Dewey, philosopher; the 50c Mr. Lucy Stone, suffragette; and the $5, John Bassett Moore, lawyer, diplomat, and government adviser.

Other better-known figures will be Oliver Wendell Holmes; Eugene O'Neill; and Thomas Paine, of Revolutionary War fame.

Quite a mixed bag.

Australia has had to make extra printings of all the Anzac series of commemoratives, owing to the unexpected demand.

Other commemoratives from "down under" will be a 5d to mark the centenary of the birth of the late General Sir John Monash. He served with great distinction in Gallipoli and in France.

Then a 5d Lawrence Hargreave will appear at the end of the month. The regular 5d stamp will change its color from green to red about the same time.

Finally, a month later, there will be a 2sh3d stamp to mark International Co-operation Year.

Search Stepped Up For Missing Troller

TOFINO—An intensive search for a missing 36-foot fishboat with one man aboard was expanded today off Vancouver Island's west coast.

Missing is the troller Kerry Junior and owner Ken Gibson, a married Vancouver man.

It was last seen Thursday morning south of Leonard Island lighthouse on the way to fishing grounds in company with other boats.

Mr. Gibson did not return to Tofino Thursday evening. And the search has been expanded from the local area to Clayoquot and Barkley Sounds and the coastline in between.

Taking part in the hunt are an RCAF search and rescue aircraft, the Tofino lifeboat and the coast guard cutter Ready.

They are assisted by Tofino RCMP vessels and local fishermen.

Friday, RCMP searched all beaches and inlets from Tofino to Estevan Point without results.

Beaches at Ucluelet, and Long Beach have been searched by Ucluelet RCMP.

Police said the Kerry Junior did not have marine radio aboard and was unable to transmit distress signals.

The missing man has been fishing out of Tofino for the past few years.

$395 In Fines On Four Charges

COURTENAY — A youth was fined a total of $395 on four charges in magistrate's court here Thursday and will face a fifth charge later.

Barry Dennis Caldecott, 19, of Ladner, B.C., a former Courtenay resident, was convicted of obstructing a police officer and fined $150 and bound to keep the peace for a year.

He pleaded guilty to two traffic offences which brought $45 in fines and a second offence of consuming alcohol in public which cost him $200.

Caldecott was remanded on a fifth charge of disturbing the peace.

Urban Renewal Study

NORTH COWICHAN — Chemainus will undergo $9,600 urban renewal study, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation announced Friday in Ottawa.

Seventy-five per cent of the cost will be financed by the federal government.

NO DECISION ON TOWNSITE INSIDE PARK

CAMPBELL RIVER — The provincial government has not committed itself to Western Mines Ltd. for a townsite in Strathcona Park.

"The matter is still under study at this time," Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said here this week.

He declined comment on a suggestion the route of the proposed road to the Western Mines development in the park is being changed.

It had been suggested the road would not follow the east shore of Buttle Lake as originally planned but follow the other shore to use a bridge crossing on the new road to Gold River.

Tahsis Buys Townsite Land

The provincial government has sold a 623-acre townsite on Vancouver Island to Tahsis Co. for $100 an acre.

A cabinet order Friday approved the sale of the crown land at Gold River for $62,300 plus a $10 registration fee.

The townsite will be developed by the timber firm in conjunction with the municipal affairs department. The new community will be a few miles from a large pulp mill planned by Tahsis Co.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell has said the town, with a projected population of 5,000, will become one of B.C.'s first "instant municipalities."

RANCHMAN'S
LONDON
Dry Gin
distilled from select western grains and imported botanicals to our celebrated English recipe
ADL

THE GIN THAT WON THE WEST

When Englishmen first came to their Western Canadian ranches their taste for LONDON DRY GIN came with them.

What more natural thing to do here — where fine grain and glacial water produce splendid spirits — than to import botanicals, such as juniper, coriander and other exotic flora, and begin distilling gin in the LONDON DRY tradition?

From this heritage comes RANCHMAN'S — the western gin with the English accent.

Next time, ask for RANCHMAN'S GIN . . . in any accent you like.

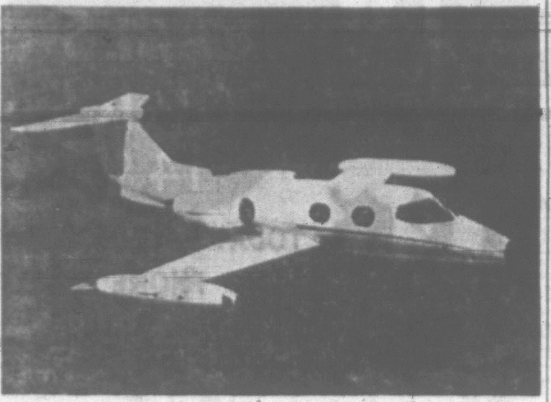
ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE



Friday, July 2, could be a red letter day for B.C.'s high-flying Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi.

That's the day Trans Aircraft Ltd. brings its new Lear Jet (above), powered by two General Electric CJ-610-4 turbojet engines, to Victoria for a series of demonstration flights. It is also the day Mr. Gaglardi has luncheon with Billy Graham in Vancouver.

There is no official word on how Mr. Gaglardi plans to travel to Vancouver that day, but the unofficial betting is that an eight-seat jet with 2,850-pound thrust for takeoff and a cruising speed of 570 miles an hour will be winging its way to Vancouver about 11:30 a.m.

And the odds are even greater that if Mr. Gaglardi does forsake the ferries that day he'll be right up there with the pilot explaining how to take the Gulf of Georgia curves.

At the recent meeting for John Diefenbaker in Victoria, the Opposition leader was recounting what he saw as the many shortcomings and blunders of the government.

What, he thundered, do you think of a government that acts like that?

Shouted a die-hard Conservative in the audience: "I'd hate to tell you what I think of them."

Mr. Diefenbaker smiled and continued his oration.

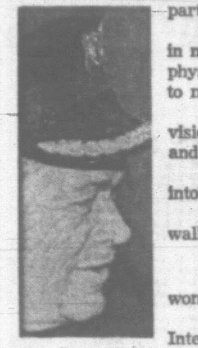
The bulging waistline is showing on some Saanich policemen.

Put another way, "some members are obviously overweight." That's what retired RCMP Supt. John Henry found in part of his report on the Saanich force.



Pearson

He says overweight policemen are seldom in necessary fit condition to make sustained physical effort which they can be called upon to make.

Chief W. A. Pearson said there is provision in this year's budget for a gymnasium and he hopes to start it.

"I have no intention of ordering a man into the gymnasium," he said.

"I hope he will see the writing on the wall, as it were."

Which union has the highest number of women workers?

No prize for guessing this one — it's the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union.

The ILGWU has 87 per cent women membership, according to a survey published in Canadian Labour, journal of the Canadian Labour Congress.

Other unions with high lady membership include the Canadian Air Line Flight Attendants Association, 80 per cent, and the United Hatters International Union, 70 per cent.

Canadian Labour notes many women hold union positions and mentions Huguette Plamondon of Montreal, a staff representative for the United Packinghouse Workers.

Enter male modesty.

Being a Wren RCN reservist has its advantages for girls 18-20 who will be arriving here during July and August for summer training.

The Wrens are surrounded by hundreds of men at their HMCS Naden training classes.

The training program is a change in scenery and work from their normal occupations.

And they learn a lot of interesting facts on Canadian naval history and the RCN's role.

But there is one disadvantage, according to PO Patricia Luckman of Toronto.

Navy cooking is so good, the girls usually gain five pounds during their two-week tour of duty, she said.

HIT-AND-RUN CHARGES FOLLOW FATALITY

VANCOUVER (CP)—An Oregon seaman was killed and one from California injured Thursday when they were struck down by a hit-and-run driver.

Killed instantly was John M. Lappin, 59, of Portland, a fireman aboard the States Line freighter Arizona.

Albert Petsolt, 58, of Oakland, a wiper, suffered a broken leg and shoulder and back injuries. He staggered three blocks to the Arizona and collapsed after the accident.

A man surrendered himself to police two hours later. Charged with two counts of leaving the scene of an accident was Gary James Pringle.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

An extensive low-pressure area in the southern prairies has spread cloud and rain over the Rocky Mountains and into eastern B.C. Numerous showers and a few thundershowers will occur there again over the weekend as a result of this system. A ridge of high pressure over the eastern Pacific will maintain the sunny skies along the B.C. coast except for early morning cloudiness but coastal temperatures will remain below seasonal normals.

DOMINION PUBLIC WEATHER OFFICE 9 A.M. FORECASTS

Tri-U Fund Marks Time

Three Universities Capital Fund campaign will be halted until January, 1966, it was announced Thursday.

Vancouver Island division chairman W. H. Armstrong said the move was taken as a result of a request from the Community Chest of Greater Victoria "to avoid duplication of appeals."

Victoria chairman R. J. Bower indicated the Vancouver Island division will have passed the $1,000,000 mark before the end of July.

Donations from the Victoria area already total more than $815,000.

The total fund objective, $28,000,000, will go toward capital expansion of B.C.'s three public universities, the University of Victoria, University of B.C. and Simon Fraser University.

Big UN Donation Planned by U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Western diplomatic sources said today the United States will make a substantial financial contribution to the United Nations soon, despite the failure of President Johnson to announce any at the UN's 20th anniversary meeting.

Many delegates expressed disappointment that Johnson did not deal with the fiscal crisis in his speech Friday, but one diplomat familiar with the U.S. position said the omission was not significant. He said it was simply a case of deciding this was not the time or the place to deal with the issue.

Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, scheduled to wind up the two-day commemorative session today, was reported ready to emphasize that the U.S. is eager to end the deadlock over French and Soviet voting rights in the UN.

Informed sources said, however, that he, like Johnson, will avoid any announcement of a voluntary contribution and also will steer away from any backdown on the enforcement of Article 19 of the UN charter. This article provides that members two years in arrears in paying assessments will lose their vote in the general assembly.

The U.S. was understood to have decided to make a big contribution to the newly created solvency fund and the action would not be conditional on any similar contribution by the Soviet Union or France. The Russians have promised to give a substantial sum, but only after the no-vote truce in the assembly is ended and normal voting is resumed.

wanted a constitutional conference but gave no indication it would bow to such demands.

MAJORITY IS NEGRO

Rhodesia has a white population of 225,000, a Negro population of 3,500,000.

The Rhodesian issue proved to be the most emotional tackled by the leaders. Informants said at one stage Friday the conference appeared at the edge of a dangerous split.

In the end, the leaders reached a compromise that appeared acceptable to most of them — British agreement to seek "reasonable speed" in reaching a final settlement. Outside the conference, some Africans described this decision as an African "sell-out" to Britain.

While Nyerere dissociated himself from the conference communique on Rhodesia, no member exercised his right to veto the statement.

African delegates had committed themselves to force Britain to agree to majority rule in Rhodesia on a timetable that included a constitutional conference within three months. But informants said the African leaders spoke and acted with great restraint.

Pearson was said to have intervened in the debate with a hard-hitting statement asking the Africans to recognize Wilson's difficulties. Australia and New Zealand also backed Wilson in his search for approval to retain some freedom of action.

The communique said the prime ministers reaffirmed that "responsibility for leading . . . Rhodesia to independence must continue to rest with Britain."

On the Cyprus issue, the leaders asserted that the dispute between the Turks and the Greek-Cypriots should be solved within the framework of the United Nations "and in conformity with the wishes of the people of Cyprus."

Malaysia won support in its battle against Indonesia over Northern Borneo. The leaders expressed their sympathy to the Malaysian prime minister, Tunku Abdul Rahman, in his struggle to preserve Malaysia's position.

The Commonwealth's Viet Nam mission contacted Washington, Moscow, Peking, Hanoi and Saigon last Saturday, asking for permission to discuss possibilities of calling a peace conference.

Washington and Saigon accepted. Moscow refused to receive the mission if it did not first talk to Hanoi and the Viet Cong rebels. Peking flatly refused to talk with the mission.

Hanoi has not replied officially to the request, but North Vietnamese propaganda organs have labelled the mission a fraud serving U.S. interests.

Wilson indicated that the mission plans to meet UN Secretary General U Thant in Geneva early next month.

In their final communique, the Commonwealth leaders also proposed a world conference on disarmament with China represented, and pledged support for moves to halt the spread of nuclear weapons. They said the partial nuclear test-ban treaty should cover underground explosions as well as those in the atmosphere, in space and under the sea.

At any rate you have nothing to lose by trying and you'll never know just how good an amateur photographer you are, until you enter your snapshot.

There are three qualifying classes in this year's contest —The World in Which We Live — People of the World — Animals of the World.

So rummage through your albums for "shots which you like" and which were shot after July 1 of 1964. Send them in today.

Or, if you can, take a ride around the country and keep your eyes open for life around you.

Even at home, in your kitchen or in any other spot in the house or the yard, there might be the prize-winning shot that will send you on an all expense paid trip around-the-world with your pockets full of money.

You have a camera, you've read all the rules, you've got a good eye, so enter soon.

Purposes, Policies Inadequate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, today told the world body's 20th commemorative session that the UN's world charter is not to blame for the stresses and strains of the organization.

The Burmese diplomat said "the danger is not that the charter will prove inadequate or unsuited to our purposes and policies. It is rather that our purposes and policies are inadequate, in some cases iminical, to the fulfillment of the purposes and principles to which the United Nations enthusiastically subscribed 20 years ago."

His comments led off a series of speeches in which representatives of the world's major powers had an opportunity to comment on President Johnson's call for UN help in untangling the Viet Nam crisis.

Russia's Nikolai Fedorenko, France's Roger Seydoux, the United Kingdom's Lord Caradon, and U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson were also scheduled to speak today.

In his remarks, Thant said, "there is danger that we may become so preoccupied with the immediate crises in Southeast Asia, in the Caribbean, in the Middle East and elsewhere that we are apt to ignore the larger crises that looms behind them."

East Germans Stake Claim To Regulate Barge Traffic

BERLIN (AP) — The East German government today acted on its threat to nullify Allied agreements on barge traffic between West Berlin and West Germany, and began issuing its own travel permits.

First indications were that the Western allies will accept this situation, to avoid a tieup of the vital waterway traffic.

Reports from a border station on the Havel River in Berlin said the East Germans are selling travel permits valid for one year for 200 marks ($55).

About 150 to 200 barges are steadily used on the West Berlin-West Germany run. They bring to the city 36 per cent of all freight, mainly fuel and other bulky goods.

No military goods used by the Western garrisons in the isolated city are transported by barge.

Until now, permits were issued by the waterways commission in Hamburg, representing the allies. The permits were free of charge and were valid indefinitely.

"They are not going to make much money with this rule," one West Berlin customs official said. "This is purely a move to demonstrate to the West so-called East German sovereignty."

NO OFFICIAL COMMENT

Official comment from the allies was unavailable.

However, authorized sources said the Western powers are not particularly concerned about the East German move, since the East Germans already control civilian road and rail traffic.

Viet Nam Ceasefire Held Peace Prelude

LONDON (CP)—The Commonwealth prime ministers ended their 14th conference Friday with an appeal for a ceasefire in Viet Nam as a necessary prelude to peace talks aimed at uniting the divided land.

The 21-country conference issued the appeal in the form of instructions to a four-country Viet Nam peace mission set up at the outset of the nine-day meeting.

The Commonwealth leaders called for an end of all U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam and an undertaking by the Hanoi government "to prevent the movement of any military forces or assistance or material to South Viet Nam."

British Prime Minister Wilson told a press conference the mission will set out on its quest for peace as soon as it is able to visit enough interested capitals to make its endeavor meaningful.

The key question, Wilson said, is whether the North Vietnamese government agrees to talk to the mission. He personally did not believe the mission should go to Saigon if it is unable to go to Hanoi.

Members of the Commonwealth peace mission are Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad-Tobago.

FORM CENTRAL BODY

As its major immediate accomplishment, the conference established a central secretariat. This idea of co-ordinated action once was strenuously resisted, notably by Canada's late prime minister Mackenzie King, in fear that a more formally organized Commonwealth would become a new version of the British Empire. But it was the newly independent members who gave strongest support to the new central liaison body.

As the conference ended, Canadian Prime Minister Pearson said "the Commonwealth is expressing views on world matters that never would have been considered as subjects for discussion a few years ago."

Even if the Viet Nam mission fails to achieve solid progress towards peace, it was a worthwhile initiative, Pearson said. His view was echoed by other leaders, though, one, President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, dissociated himself from the mission's plans.

The hottest argument was provoked by the Rhodesian issue, on which Wilson won time against African pressure to smash the minority white regime and establish a government under majority Negro rule.

This time, however, the British government agreed to take some action to call a constitutional conference to give the Negroes the vote, if this cannot be achieved through negotiations with the whites. A year ago, the British government merely noted that the Africans

★★★★ BULLETINS

Whistling Sea Plate Winner

TORONTO — Calgary-owned Whistling Sea today won the Queen's Plate, Canada's top racing classic, over a mile and a quarter at Woodbine Park. The western colt led from wire to wire. Flyalong was second and Blue Mel was third.

An interested spectator at the race was the Queen Mother. Victory by Whistling Sea ended a three-year winning streak of E. P. Taylor.

Herbie The Seal Reported AWOL

Herbie must have heard—by water telegraph—that Victoria's Undersea Gardens is bidding, and hoping, to purchase a killer whale.

Because the nine-month-old seal, one of the main attractions, failed to show for a nose-count this morning.

Bill Starkey, manager of the Gardens, said at noon, that the staff has looked everywhere but can't find a trace of the elusive Herbie.

Russell Leader

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Russell continued his casual but winning form today to take a two-stroke lead entering the final 18 holes of the B.C. amateur golf championships.

Mission Plan Postponed

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Wilson said today that the proposed Commonwealth Viet Nam peace mission, which has been refused a hearing by Russia and China, has been shelved for the time being.

Held Tickets On The Irish

Two Vancouver Islanders—a man and a woman—are richer by $30,000 each today for holding Irish Sweepstakes tickets on the third-place horse in the Irish Derby.

They are logging truck driver John Francis, 42, of Ladysmith, and Mrs. L. Hicks of Nanaimo.

Six Canadians won $150,000 each with tickets on the winner, Meadow Court, owned jointly by Calgary publisher Max Bell, Vancouver oil executive Frank McMahon and singer Bing Crosby.

Three Canadians won $60,000 each with tickets on second-place Convamore and four won $30,000 on Wedding Present.

TOP MONEY

Two B.C. men won top money—Collin Smith of Vancouver and Joe Bob, 35, of the Sugar Cane Indian reserve near Williams Lake.

Mr. Francis, a Ladysmith native, said he felt "the same as usual" although $30,000 richer.

His wife was "sitting smiling like a pumpkin."

"O gosh, she is happy," he said. "She is worse than I am."

They have three children—Tommy, 18; Carol, 14, and Barry, 12.

Was he worried about people badgering him for handouts?

"My skin's thicker than an alligator's," he replied.

NOBBY NICKNAME

He used the nom-de-plume Nobby, a nickname he picked up while working on the Alaska Highway during the Second World War.

He said he will take the same holiday he planned earlier—fishing and relaxing at a lake behind Ladysmith, where he has a cabin.

His two-week vacation starts the middle of next week.

Holders of tickets on horses which didn't make the race or didn't finish in the top three will receive prizes based on the total amount of the pool and expected to be about $1,100 each.

Two identified Victorians whose horses were scratched on Friday were Mrs. Winnifred Fitton, 1258 Yates, and Jerry Cafferky, 1905 Stockton.

City Crew Defeated

Favored Maurice Rattray of Seattle's Corinthian Yacht Club today edged a Victoria crew in the first of five Mallory Cup North American sailing championship semifinal races.

Second was a Royal Victoria YC boat skippered by Jack Woodward wth Peter Townshend and Gordon Inglis crewing.

Rattray represented the United States in Dragon Class competition in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

Third was Tom Beckham of Portland, Jim Meakin of Royal Vancouver YC was fourth, and Bob Ivie of Seattle YC placed fifth.

Races, being sailed for the first time in Cal 20s will resume Sunday at 10 a.m. in Cadboro Bay.

Afro-Asian Summit Postponed Indefinitely

ALGIERS (Reuters)—A summit conference of about 50 African and Asian countries scheduled to begin here Tuesday has been indefinitely postponed, authoritative sources said today.

A 15-country preparatory committee decided to postpone indefinitely both an Afro-Asian foreign ministers' meeting—which was to have been held today—and the summit.

The committee was discussing a new date for both meetings—possibly in October, the sources said.

The foreign ministers' conference was to have opened at noon today after a two-day postponement. It was deferred yet again at the request of several delegations and a meeting of the Afro-Asian conference preparatory commission was held instead.

The announcement followed a mystery blast Friday night that wrecked part of the electrical system in the building where the foreign ministers were to meet and the summit conference was to be held. Witnesses reported at least 40 persons were injured.

The foreign ministry spokesman announced today police had arrested the "authors of the outrage."

The spokesman did not identify those arrested. The announcement of arrests was the first confirmation that the explosion was due to sabotage.

There were new anti-government demonstrations Friday night and a sense of general unrest prevailed.

An underground "popular liberation movement" circulated tracts calling for a country-wide general strike on the eve of the conference "to prove to the delegations that we will not tolerate the tyrant Houari Boumedienne."

Boumedienne was defence minister in the cabinet of President Ahmed Ben Bella. He seized power a week ago and had Ben Bella arrested as a "traitor."

FIRE WARNING SHOTS

Demonstrations against Boumedienne have taken place almost nightly since the coup. Steel-helmeted police fired warning shots in the air and flung tear-gas grenades Friday night at hundreds of demonstrators who marched through the streets, chanting "long live Ben Bella" and "Boumedienne to the gallows."

PARIS LOSES CONTACT

PARIS (AP) — Communications between Paris and Algiers were cut today.

The French postal and telegraphic service said there was a "general" cut in communications. No explanation was given.

Monitors said Radio Algiers went off the air about the same time.

Diplomatic sources in Paris said diplomatic communications were still normal with Algiers.

JOINT BID FOR WHALE BY CITY, VANCOUVER

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Undersea Gardens in Victoria and the Vancouver Aquarium made a joint offer this morning for the captive whale of Namu.

Charles White, owner of the gardens off the Oak Bay Marina, said the offer is being considered and he is hopeful it will be accepted.

BULLETIN

One of the fishermen, William Lechkobit, told The Times this afternoon they have flatly rejected the Victoria-Vancouver offer. "The offer does not meet the price we have set." He declined to elaborate.

If it is, a pen will be built at the cannery community near Ocean Falls while a pen is constructed at the Undersea Gardens.

Mr. White said the offer was made by aquarium curator Dr. Murray Newman to Robert McGarvey and William Lechkobit, who accidentally caught two whales Wednesday while fishing.

Could Come Here

The smaller of the two whales escaped from a net pen around a reef early Friday.

While not disclosing the offer, Mr. White said if it is accepted the whale likely will be brought here by barge.

Both he and Dr. Newman have visited Namu to see the 20-foot, 9,000-pound mammal.

A definite offer for the whale was apparently made by Marineland in Los Angeles but withdrawn because of difficulty in moving it.

The fishermen, who had asked $50,000 for the two whales, said today they want more than $10,000 for the remaining one.

Witnesses at Namu said it appears the captive whale is a father, who got trapped trying to rescue son after he swam inside the fishing net.

Junior, who apparently got out when the net floated up at one corner during high tide, now is swimming about outside with mother and a brother.

Of necessity, all this is surmise because at the best of times it is difficult to determine the sex of whales.

McGarvey, who says he is busy beating a track between his boat and the only telephone in Namu, said the whale will be sold to the highest bidder.

FIRST WINNERS ANNOUNCED JULY 6

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

Even if you weren't "Johnny on the Spot" like the many who entered the Times' Amateur Photo Contest ahead of today's opening hour, you're still in good time for the first-week contest.

Photographs received until noon Saturday, July 3, will compete for the $10 first prizes awarded each week in the three classes of this year's contest.

Results of each weekly contest, with the winning pictures, will appear in the Times the following week.

In order to clear up some misconceptions and answer the many questions raised by interested readers about the National Newspapers Snapshot Awards, here are some last minute pointers. (See also Page 18.)

The contest is open only to amateur photographers.

Only pictures made after July 1, 1964, qualify.

Snapshots made be of any brand of negative-type film.

Color transparencies do not qualify, however, black-and-white prints from color negative type film will be accepted.

No print or enlargement more than 10 inches in the longer dimensions will be accepted.

Art work or retouching on prints, or negatives from which they are made, will disqualify the entry.

Composite pictures, such as multiple printing or montages, will be rejected.

Pictures should not be mounted or framed.

You may enter as often as you wish within the contest dates.

Your name, address and the class in which you wish to enter the picture must be printed in ink on the back.

Black-and-white prints will not be returned.

Do not submit negatives

Chinese UN Entry Backed

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC quotes Prime Minister Pearson in an interview with CBC commentator Norman DePoe as saying in London that admission of Communist China to the United Nations would have certain distinct advantages.

The CBC said the prime minister told Mr. DePoe that admission of Communist China would forestall formation of a rival body outside the UN, and such an organization, with Communist China and Indonesia as initial members, could pose a serious threat to the UN's general effectiveness.

NOT EXECUTIVE

Secretariat Seen As Data Centre

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — Canada's Arnold Smith was instructed Friday to develop his new Commonwealth secretariat as a "unifying element" in the family of nations.

Commonwealth prime ministers at the final session of their London conference issued an "agreed memorandum" on the secretariat under which Smith, 50, as first secretary-general, received lofty terms of reference.

But the "secretariat should not arrogate to itself executive functions," says the document, taking account of fears in some quarters that the new body might develop into an authority in its own right.

A scale of contributions is laid down under which Britain will pay 30 per cent of the costs, Canada 20.8 per cent, Australia 10.4, India 11.4, New Zealand 2.5, Pakistan 2.5, and the other countries 1.5. Smith will have the rank of a senior high commissioner.

ESTIMATE COST

Unofficial estimates have placed initial costs at $600,000 a year, with a staff between 20 or 30, recruited on a broad geographical basis.

"One deputy secretary-general will have the necessary qualifications and special responsibilities for economic matters and should deal, on request, with development projects," says the memorandum.

"As the work of the secretariat expands, it may become necessary to appoint a second deputy secretary-general who will be primarily concerned with the other functions of the secretariat."

Outlining functions, the memorandum stresses the secretariat should have a constructive role:

"At the same time, it should operate initially on a modest footing; and its staff and functions should be left to expand pragmatically in the light of experience, subject always to the approval of governments."

Functions come under the broad headings of international affairs, economic affairs and general and administrative tasks.

"Consultation is the life blood of the Commonwealth association," says the memorandum. ". . . The secretary-general will arrange to prepare and circulate papers on international questions of common concern to all Commonwealth governments where he considers it useful to do so.

"It may also prove helpful if, in consultation with the governments concerned, he arranges occasional meetings of officials of member governments for the exchange of information and views on agreed subjects."

Smith, now assistant deputy minister of external affairs, is expected to take up his post in August, his headquarters being Marlborough House, where the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers was held.

Functions of the secretariat were envisaged as "the dissemination of factual information to member countries on matters of common concern."

Queen Mother Presents New Colors

TORONTO (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth today attended the 106th running of the Queen's Plate, Canada's premier racing event.

Friday brought a mixed bag of engagements, including a tour of the national stud farm near Oshawa where she saw some of Canada's most renowned horses on parade. In the evening, there was a majestic and touching ceremony in which she presented new colors to the Toronto Scottish Regiment.

At Varsity Stadium she received a standing ovation from a capacity crowd of about 20,000. She was welcomed by publisher Lord Thomson of Fleet, honorary colonel of the regiment, and the two sat together on the reviewing stand to witness the spectacular display of precision drill.

The Queen Mother recalled the day in May, 1939, when she first presented colors to the regiment.

"I am certain that all at this parade, who have ever worn the hodden grey, are proud of you, as I am, this night," she said.

After the new colors were brought in and consecrated, the Queen Mother went forward to make the presentation.

Marine Accidents Up Sharply

RCAF Rescue Co-ordination Centre in Vancouver has handled 383 incidents since Jan. 1.

The figure marks an increase of 86 over the corresponding period last year.

Biggest increase was in marine accidents which rose about 20 per cent to 232.

In addition there were 39 aircraft incidents, 46 missing persons and mercy flights and 66 communications checks.

Included in the total incidents was activity surrounding the Granduc Mine disaster, a major aircraft search in the Prince George area, two searches for fishing vessels in northern waters and the rescue of 17 civilians from the drifting naval munitions carrier Laymore.

Search and rescue officials are asking tse thousands of B.C. boat owners to be careful when on the water this summer.

"If past figures are any indication, the Rescue Co-ordination Centre will handle close to 400 incidents this summer," a spokesman said.

Relaxation of Laws On Libel Advocated

LONDON (AP) — A committee of lawyers and journalists recommends relaxation of Britain's libel laws, which are among the world's stiffest. It said the laws as they stand are biased against the press.

The committee is composed of three lawyers from the all-party legal organization known as Justice, and three members of the British committee of the International Press Institute. The chairman is Lord Shawcross, former attorney-general.

The report, The Law and the Press, was published Thursday. It conceded that the function of the law is to preserve a balance between free speech and the protection of individual reputation. But it added:

"In recent years, however, the scales appear to have been tilted somewhat against the press by the decisions in a small number of cases by juries which do not seem always to have adopted an objective attitude. . . . The climate of opinion at present appears to be hostile to the press."

The report recommended that appeal courts be given the power to scale down damages awarded by juries. Shawcross points out cases in which auto accident victims receive £25,000 ($75,000) for lifetime paralysis, while someone claiming damage to his reputation might receive far more in a libel verdict.

The committee also recommended:

—Libel suits not brought within six months should be dismissed unless the plaintiff can show good cause for the delay.

—If a defendant claims fair comment or qualified privilege as a defence, and the plaintiff claims malice, the judge should decide whether the publication is malicious—not the jury.

—Apologies, retractions and letters in contradiction be allowed as amends for a libel, especially if the newspaper can show that its original story had been written in good faith and in the public interest.

—A change relaxing current law under which a plaintiff can sue for libel over one untrue statement in a story that is otherwise correct.

The committee also urged newspapers to criticize judicial verdicts more freely. It suggested that contempt of court proceedings against publications be brought only with permission of the attorney-general.

Gordon Head Student Wins Special Award

A special award from the International Co-operation Year Organization was presented to Kurt Samer, editor of the Gordon Head Junior High School yearbook, at the annual awards day ceremonies held recently.

The Armstrong cup for girls' sportsmanship was presented to Coleen Ray and the Newton cup for boys' sportsmanship to Bradley Mann.

Diana Partridge received the George Little award for academic excellence and the Hartley picture award.

Winner of the Trevellick trophy for citizenship was Leslie Woodland, and Forestry Association awards went to Linda Seabrook and Rodger Moore.

Cormorant House won the Sydney Child cup for inter-house competition.

UN Fund Boosted

BONN (AP)—West Germany has contributed an additional $500,000 to the United Nations to support the Cyprus peace-keeping force, the foreign ministry reported Friday. This brings to $2,500,000 West Germany's total Cyprus contributions, the foreign ministry said.

Law Ties Hands On Sentence; Boy, 15, Jailed

Magistrate William Ostler said Friday the law gave him no alternative when he sentenced a 15-year-old youth to one year in jail on three charges of breaking, entering and theft.

The youth's name may not be published because he is a juvenile.

The magistrate said the law permitted the youth to be transferred from juvenile to magistrate's court but did not permit the court to sentence the accused to the young offender's unit at Haney until he reached the age of 16 years.

As a result, Magistrate Ostler said, he could not impose a definite and indefinite sentence.

He said he hoped "consideration will be given to plugging this gap."

The magistrate said he would make a strong recommendation to prison authorities that the youth serve his sentence at Haney or at the New Haven institution for juveniles.

Fire at Winnipeg Sweeps Warehouse

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fire swept the top floor of a three-storey warehouse in downtown Winnipeg Thursday, destroying furniture and other stored household goods in the three hours it burned out of control.

Dense clouds of black smoke formed a haze over a wide area as flames shot 15 feet into the air at the Star Storage Ltd. building at Edmonton St. and St. Mary Ave., two blocks south of Portage Ave.

Habitual Hearing Aug. 3

A hearing will be held Aug 3 to determine if a 26-year-old Victoria man is an habitual criminal.

John L. Smith, now serving a sentence for attempted breaking and entering, will come up before Magistrate J. A. Byers on that date.

If the magistrate decides that Smith is an habitual criminal then Smith will be kept in preventive detention.

The Crown instituted habitual criminal proceedings against Smith several months ago but they were delayed pending the outcome of an appeal by Smith against his conviction for attempted burglary.

The appeal was recently dismissed and the date for the hearing was set today in city court. Smith will be defended by lawyer Ian Stewart and the specially-appointed Crown prosecutor is Terry O'Grady.

Ostler Warns Drivers On Beach Tomfoolery

Motorists convicted of driving offences near public beaches can expect the worst when they go to court, Magistrate William Ostler warned Friday.

He made the comment in imposing a $50 fine on Roy MacLaren, 569 Baker, and suspending his driver's licence.

MacLaren drove along The Esplanade May 30 with two youths hanging out the windows on either side of his car. An Oak Bay policeman estimated the speed of the car as 40 mph. When the car stopped both youths who were hanging out fell off.

The magistrate said MacLaren might easily have found himself charged with criminal negligence if either of his passengers had suffered serious injury. As it was he was charged with careless driving.

Two other young persons who pleaded guilty in Oak Bay court to driving without reasonable consideration were each fined $45.

They are Kim Egginton, 315 St. Charles, and Stephen Ryan, 779 Lampson. Evidence was they drove at 60 mph on Beach Drive June 5. Police said Egginton was chasing Ryan.

A collision at Henderson and Foul Bay June 12 resulted in a $45 fine for Duncan Bingham, 2790 Dufferin, who pleaded guilty to careless driving.

Almost Out of Debt NDP Leader Says

REGINA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, New Democratic party leader, said Friday his party now is "almost out of debt."

Mr. Douglas, at a press conference, said, "we're broke as we always were, but our credit is better."

He said the party had reduced a $48,000 debt to $35,000 just before the last federal election. He did not say how much further the party went into debt during that election.

Re-Paving Highway

Provincial highways department formally called for tenders Friday for re-paving 3.5 miles of Jacklin, Millstream and Shoreline roads in Esquimalt electoral district.

A B.C. Gazette notice said the bids would be opened at 2 p.m. July 7.

MAN CHARGES

Reds Hit And Run At Sea

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver fishing skipper Friday charged a Russian ship with hit-and-run of the high seas.

Leif Tusvik, 61-year-old skipper of the halibuter Pacific Wave, said a Russian fishing fleet mother ship rammed his vessel in the Gulf of Alaska while he was at anchor and moved off without offering assistance.

He said everyone on the Pacific Wave had turned in for sleep and the ship was riding at anchor when the Russian mother ship's flaring bow sliced into the halibuter's wheelhouse and cabin housing, causing about $5,000 worth of damage.

He said the Russian vessel was underway but not under her own power. She was being pushed by a catcher boat.

ENGINES STOP

Tusvik described how he ran "around the deck in my underwear, without shoes on and there was a Russian standing in the bow of the ship." The Russian hollered: "Must got move away, you got move away, our engines are stopped."

The Vancouver skipper said crew members of the Pacific Wave, awakened by the impact, jotted down numbers painted on the Russian ship's side. Capt. Tusvik said his insurance company has agreed to pay for the damage to the Pacific Wave and will try to collect from the Russians.

Ceasefire Prelude To Peace

Formula to End Viet Nam War Drafted by Commonwealth PMs

LONDON (CP)—The Commonwealth prime ministers ended their 14th conference Friday with an appeal for a ceasefire in Viet Nam as a necessary prelude to peace talks aimed at uniting the divided land.

The 21-country conference issued the appeal in the form of instructions to a four-country Viet Nam peace mission set up at the outset of the nine-day meeting.

The Commonwealth leaders called for an end of all U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam and an undertaking by the Hanoi government "to prevent the movement of any military forces or assistance or material to South Viet Nam."

British Prime Minister Wilson told a press conference the mission will set out on its quest for peace as soon as it is able to visit enough interested capitals to make its endeavor meaningful.

The key question, Wilson said, is whether the North Vietnamese government agrees to talk to the mission. He personally did not believe the mission should go to Saigon if it is unable to go to Hanoi.

Members of the Commonwealth peace mission are Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad-Tobago.

FORM CENTRAL BODY

As its major immediate accomplishment, the conference established a central secretariat. This idea of co-ordinated action once was strenuously resisted, notably by Canada's late prime minister Mackenzie King, in fear that a more formally organized Commonwealth would become a new version of the British Empire. But it was the newly independent members who gave strongest support to the new central liaison body.

As the conference ended, Canadian Prime Minister Pearson said "the Commonwealth is expressing views on world matters that never would have been considered as subjects for discussion a few years ago."

Even if the Viet Nam mission fails to achieve solid progress towards peace, it was a worthwhile initiative, Pearson said. His view was echoed by other leaders, though, one, President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, dissociated himself from the mission's plans.

The hottest argument was provoked by the Rhodesian issue, on which Wilson won time against African pressure to smash the minority white regime and establish a government under majority Negro rule.

This time, however, the British government agreed to take some action to call a constitutional conference to give the Negroes the vote, if this cannot be achieved through negotiations with the whites. A year ago, the British government merely noted that the Africans

PEACE TEAM SHELVED

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Wilson said today that the proposed Commonwealth Viet Nam peace mission, which has been refused a hearing by Russia and China, has been shelved for the time being.

Only nine days after he suggested the mission to the 21-country Commonwealth prime ministers' conference which ended Friday, it seems that the group's only firm visit is to Geneva early next month to meet United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

China and the Soviet Union have officially refused to receive the mission and North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi-minh has indicated he will follow the same line.

In these circumstances the four-man team—which includes leaders of Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad and Tobago—is now not likely to take up invitations to pay early visits to the United States and South Viet Nam.

Wilson told a Labor party rally in Glasgow that the mission would still remain in being, though it is impossible to say whether or when it would become airborne.

Pearson Backs Chinese Entry Into UN

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC quotes Prime Minister Pearson in an interview with CBC commentator Norman DePoe as saying in London that admission of Communist China to the United Nations would have certain distinct advantages.

The CBC said the prime minister told Mr. DePoe that admission of Communist China would forestall formation of a rival body outside the UN, and such an organization, with Communist China and Indonesia as initial members, could pose a serious threat to the UN's general effectiveness.

U.S. SPACE FLIGHT EIGHT-DAY MISSION

ESTILL, S.C. (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced today the next Gemini manned space flight will be an eight-day mission. This is the same length of time required to fly to the moon, explore its surface, and return to earth.

James E. Webb, NASA administrator, announced the mission today.

Afro-Asian Summit Postponed Indefinitely

ALGIERS (Reuters)—A summit conference of about 50 African and Asian countries scheduled to begin here Tuesday has been indefinitely postponed, authoritative sources said today.

A 15-country preparatory committee decided to postpone indefinitely both an Afro-Asian foreign ministers' meeting—which was to have been held today—and the summit.

The committee was discussing a new date for both meetings—possibly in October, the sources said.

The foreign ministers' conference was to have opened at noon today after a two-day postponement. It was deferred yet again at the request of several delegations and a meeting of the Afro-Asian conference preparatory commission was held instead.

The announcement followed a mystery blast Friday night that wrecked part of the electrical system in the building where the foreign ministers were to meet and the summit conference was to be held. Witnesses reported at least 40 persons were injured.

The foreign ministry spokesman announced today police had arrested the "authors of the outrage."

The spokesman did not identify those arrested. The announcement of arrests was the first confirmation that the explosion was due to sabotage.

There were new anti-government demonstrations Friday night and a sense of general unrest prevailed.

An underground "popular liberation movement" circulated tracts calling for a country-wide general strike on the eve of the conference "to prove to the delegations that we will not tolerate the tyrant Houari Boumedienne."

Boumedienne was defence minister in the cabinet of President Ahmed Ben Bella. He seized power a week ago and had Ben Bella arrested as a "traitor."

FIRE WARNING SHOTS

Demonstrations against Boumedienne have taken place almost nightly since the coup. Steel-helmeted police fired warning shots in the air and flung tear-gas grenades Friday night at hundreds of demonstrators who marched through the streets, chanting "long live Ben Bella" and "Boumedienne to the gallows."

PARIS LOSES CONTACT

PARIS (AP) — Communications between Paris and Algiers were cut today.

The French postal and telegraphic service said there was a "general" cut in communications. No explanation was given.

Monitors said Radio Algiers went off the air about the same time.

Diplomatic sources in Paris said diplomatic communications were still normal with Algiers.

Two Islanders Win $30,000 in Irish

Ladysmith Woman Smilin' Like Pumpkin

Two Vancouver Islanders—a man and a woman—are richer by $30,000 each today for holding Irish Sweepstakes tickets on the third-place horse in the Irish Derby.

They are logging truck driver John Francis, 42, of Ladysmith, and Mrs. L. Hicks of Nanaimo.

Six Canadians won $150,000 each with tickets on the winner, Meadow Court, owned jointly by Calgary publisher Max Bell, Vancouver oil executive Frank McMahon and singer Bing Crosby.

Three Canadians won $60,000 each with tickets on second-place Convamore and four won $30,000 on Wedding Present.

TOP MONEY

Two B.C. men won top money—Collin Smith of Vancouver and Joe Bob, 35, of the Sugar Cane Indian reserve near Williams Lake.

Mr. Francis, a Ladysmith native, said he felt "the same as usual" although $30,000 richer.

His wife was "sitting smiling like a pumpkin."

"O gosh, she is happy," he said. "She is worse than I am."

They have three children—Tommy, 18; Carol, 14, and Barry, 12.

Was he worried about people badgering him for handouts?

"My skin's thicker than an alligator's," he replied.

NOBBY NICKNAME

He used the nom-de-plume Nobby, a nickname he picked up while working on the Alaska Highway during the Second World War.

He said he will take the same holiday he planned earlier—fishing and relaxing at a lake behind Ladysmith, where he has a cabin.

His two-week vacation starts the middle of next week.

Holders of tickets on horses which didn't make the race or didn't finish in the top three will receive prizes based on the total amount of the pool and expected to be about $1,100 each.

VICTORIANS

Two identified Victorians whose horses were scratched on Friday were Mrs. Winnifred Fitton, 1258 Yates, and Jerry Cafferky, 1905 Stockton.

JOINT BID FOR WHALE BY CITY, VANCOUVER

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Undersea Gardens in Victoria and the Vancouver Aquarium made a joint offer this morning for the captive whale of Namu.

Charles White, owner of the gardens off the Oak Bay Marina, said the offer is being considered and he is hopeful it will be accepted.

If it is, a pen will be built at the cannery community near Ocean Falls while a pen is constructed at the Undersea Gardens.

Mr. White said the offer was made by aquarium curator Dr. Murray Newman to Robert McGarvey and William Lechkobit, who accidentally caught two whales Wednesday while fishing.

Could Come Here

The smaller of the two whales escaped from a net pen around a reef early Friday.

While not disclosing the offer, Mr. White said if it is accepted the whale likely will be brought here by barge.

Both he and Dr. Newman have visited Namu to see the 20-foot, 9,000-pound mammal.

A definite offer for the whale was apparently made by Marineland in Los Angeles but withdrawn because of difficulty in moving it.

The fishermen, who had asked $50,000 for the two whales, said today they want more than $10,000 for the remaining one.

Father Captive

Witnesses at Namu said it appears the captive whale is a father, who got trapped trying to rescue son after he swam inside the fishing net.

Junior, who apparently got out when the net floated up at one corner during high tide, now is swimming about outside with mother and a brother.

Of necessity, all this is surmise because at the best of times it is difficult to determine the sex of whales.

McGarvey, who says he is busy beating a track between his boat and the only telephone in Namu, said the whale will be sold to the highest bidder.

FIRST WINNERS ANNOUNCED JULY 6

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

Even if you weren't "Johnny on the Spot" like the many who entered the Times' Amateur Photo Contest ahead of today's opening hour, you're still in good time for the first-week contest.

Photographs received until noon Saturday, July 3, will compete for the $10 first prizes awarded each week in the three classes of this year's contest.

Results of each weekly contest, with the winning pictures, will appear in the Times the following week.

In order to clear up some misconceptions and answer the many questions raised by interested readers about the National Newspapers Snapshot Awards, here are some last minute pointers. (See also Page 18.)

The contest is open only to amateur photographers.

Only pictures made after July 1, 1964, qualify.

Snapshots made be of any brand of negative-type film.

Color transparencies do not qualify, however, black-and-white prints from color negative type film will be accepted.

No print or enlargement more than 10 inches in the longer dimensions will be accepted.

Art work or retouching on prints, or negatives from which they are made, will disqualify the entry.

Composite pictures, such as multiple printing or montages, will be rejected.

Pictures should not be mounted or framed.

You may enter as often as you wish within the contest dates.

Your name, address and the class in which you wish to enter the picture must be printed in ink on the back.

Black-and-white prints will not be returned.

Do not submit negatives

Arthur Mayse

For the past week or two, I have been doing my best to conceal a guilty secret the size of a small elephant, which sits in our driveway upon a pair of 14-inch wheels.

It is called a travel trailer, and as far as we're concerned, it has rendered tent camping obsolete except under two sets of conditions.

We may consent to unfurl canvas during holiday spells for which the weatherman has absolutely guaranteed A-1, hundred per cent cloudless skies.

Or we might, when our occasions take us where the roads don't go, be persuaded to lug in a tent.

But no longer for us the aching bones, the damp seat, the general clamminess and misery of a campsite on which nature has wept by the bucket for nine consecutive days and nights.

(Two summers ago, that was. Later, when friends asked if we'd had fun on our vacation we gave them a vacant stare. Fun? Who has fun when life's reduced to a struggle to keep self and possessions halfway dry!)

Last summer, it only rained on us for eight days and nights, which was a slight improvement. But more and more often, we found ourselves glancing out from under a dripping plastic to the trailer parked across the way. Its windows glowed yellow through the weeping dusk. Behind them, we speculated, with chattering teeth, things must be real w-w-warm and c-c-cosy.

* * *

Even so, we remained stubbornly set in our all-weather devotion to tenting, and the things about it that help make it a unique s-s-sport. (I'm sorry . . . that shiver was left over from the last chill and soggy paragraph.)

There is, for example, the soothing patter of rain on taut canvas, while you lie trying to make sense out of an air-mattress pillow, and wondering if your trenches are likely to overflow.

There are the friendly little wood bugs that stroll out of the tent corners across your face; and never will we forget the night when a cow, or maybe it was a bull, backed into our pavilion . . .

Then, on one of this year's few rainy days since winter, we set off for the stores with some vague notion of buying a tent to replace the faithful though stained and rump-sprung home away from home we have known these 14 years as Saggy-Baggy.

We found the shopping mall cluttered with travel trailers of all sizes. Hunching our shoulders against the rain, we wandered among them, peering into their windows. We even stepped inside two or three for a closer examination.

Down near the end of the rank, we came on a trailer we kind of liked. Two orange lamps in its back picture window gave it a homey touch. Inside was a salesman who has travelled hither and yon with trailers for the last 18 years, and is now in the business of selling the creatures.

He beckoned to us. We entered just as the rain quit sputtering and came down in earnest.

The upshot was that we went home tentless, but committed to viewing the outdoors from a different and, we trust, drier, vantage point.

The trailerman, chuckling, threw in the orange-shaded lamps.

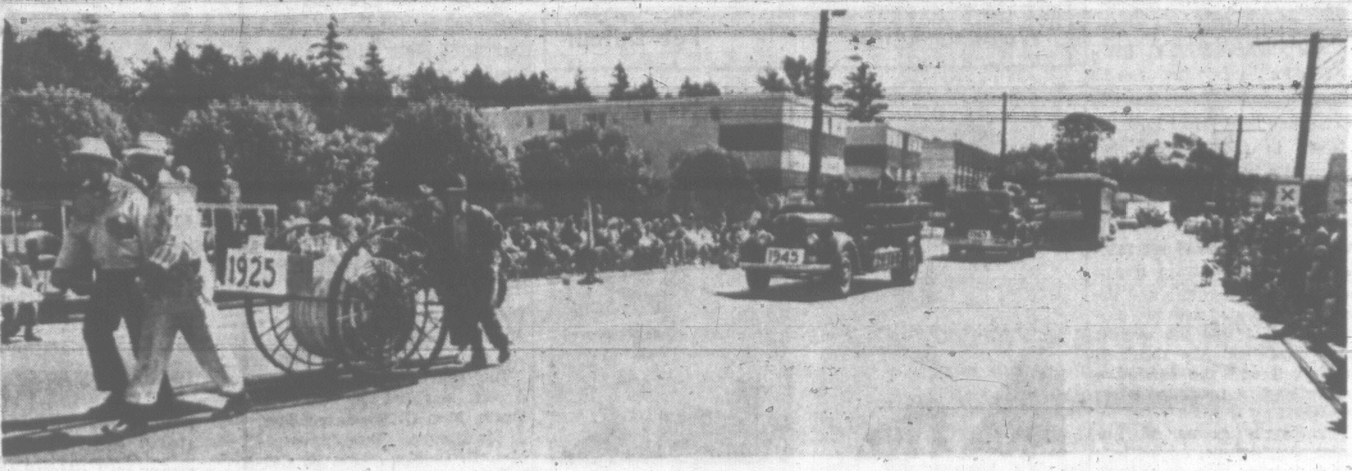
* * *

Since that recent day, our 13½-foot Canadian-made trailer has seen a lot of driveway use.

Sometimes I work in it. One or other of us is continually slipping out to brew coffee on its gas stove, or to sleep luxuriously on foam rubber beds which become upholstered seats by day.

I wish there were time to describe for you its decor, which the manufacturer insists is Danish modern. But it's time now to load up, hitch up, and push off with my favorite travelling companion for a preview of Island holiday areas waiting their main July-August invasion by B.C. families and out-of-province tourists.

That's it until Tuesday, when I hope to be reporting on our loaf along one of North America's great vacation highways.



Day of Fun Marks Century of Progress

Forty years of fire-fighting equipment rolled past in Esquimalt Day parade today. Hand-drawn hose cart of 1925 led the way, followed by 1945 engine, with gleaming modern truck used by Esquimalt police fire department, in the rear. (Times Photos by Bill Halkett)

3 Skippers to Hoist Sails On 2,300-Mile Maui Race

An ocean-going experiment will begin here next week for three veteran B.C. sailboat skippers.

FANTASTIC!
I CAN ALWAYS TELL WHEN THEY HAVE COME TO MY VAN GOGH!
SCHULZ

They will leave here at 11 p.m. Tuesday from Brotchie Ledge on one of the world's longest yacht races.

They are planning to sail 2,300 miles to the island of Maui in the Hawaiian group in their sloop-rigged racing craft.

If the race, which is expected to take from 16 days to three weeks, is successful local sailors hope it will build to rival the Trans-Pacific Los Angeles to Honolulu race.

TWO FROM VANCOUVER

Two boats are entered from Vancouver and one will represent Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

Owner-skipper of the local entry, the 43-foot Norena of Wight is Ron Ramsey, 3905 Tudor.

His crew will be Doug Taylor, Sidney commissioner, 2518 Shoreacres; Bob Muirhead, 2297 Musgrave; John Damgaard, 3815 Cadboro Bay, and George West, 863 Royal Oak.

Other sailcraft are the Long Gone, a 36-foot Lapworth sloop owned by J. G. Innes of Vancouver and Valaris, another sloop, owned by Lol Killam, also of Vancouver.

"We hope this will be the start of a number of such races from here. This race is just a friendly one," Mr. Ramsay said.

EVERY TWO YEARS

"And if it does become popular we will hold it every two years, on the odd-numbered year so it will not conflict with the Trans-Pac race."

Mr. Ramsey added the Victoria-Maui race isn't the longest in the world. The Trans-Pac race is similar distance and the California-Tahiti jaunt is longer.

Ask The Times

Q. Could you please tell who I should contact to find out what races will be held at Westwood circuit this fall? R.V.P.

A. Write to Art Lightfoot at 1225 East 19th Ave., Vancouver, for schedules.

Q. What's the literary use and meaning of "Hobson's Choice?" N.A.W.

A. Briefly it means "this or none."

Thomas Hobson was a stablekeeper at Cambridge, where he kept 40 mounts always ready and fit for travel.

Whenever a person came for a horse, however, he was obliged to take the mount nearest the door and did not get his choice.

Milton wrote two epitaphs for this eccentric character, says Brewer's Dictionary of Phrase and Fable.

In City for Rally

Prominent Long Island socialite Mrs. Eleanor Searke Whitney, will sing at the women's pre-crusade rally in Victoria High School auditorium Monday at 10:30 a.m.

A former concert, operatic and oratorio soloist, Mrs. Whitney is coming here in connection with the Leighton Ford Victoria crusade.

Education Post Filled By Levirs

Franklin P. Levirs, Friday, was named B.C. superintendent of education by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

Mr. Levirs, formerly assistant superintendent of education in the province, will fill the post vacated by Dr. J. F. K. English, who was recently appointed head of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission.

Educated in Vancouver and Victoria, Mr. Levirs, 58, is a graduate of UBC and did post-graduate work there and at the University of Idaho.

CHIEF INSPECTOR

He was chief inspector of B.C. from 1954 until he became assistant superintendent in 1958.

His appointment as superintendent of education means creation of a new senior position in the department, Education Minister Peterson said.

Dr. English served as both superintendent and deputy minister.

St. Dunstan's was founded in 1915 as a charity to help men and women blinded in the war.

'Hell Is Simply the Grave'—Witness

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Church Editor

"There is no such place as Hell, says Clifford Roberts, leader of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Victoria.

"Hell is simply the grave," he said today, answering a Vancouver man who believes in Hell and has been giving it to the Witnesses in the form of so-called hate literature in the mail.

Mr. Roberts said the word Hell comes from the Greek word Hades which means "a covered-up condition."

"In England people once talked of helling their houses, which meant covering their roofs by thatching them.

"A great fiction has grown up around this word. It has been depicted as a place of everlasting torment. But there is no such place. The worst that can happen to a sinner is total oblivion in the grave, with no resurrection.

In Vancouver, 34-year-old F. W. Thomas issued an open challenge to Jehovah's Witnesses' officials to argue the Hell issue according to Bible teachings.

"We have no intention of accepting," Mr. Roberts said. "We don't want to become embroiled in an aimless discussion on biblical truth."

"I am not writing hate literature," said Mr. Thomas, who mailed anti-Witness tracts to Victoria on the eve of their 6,000-member assembly in the Memorial Arena July 1-4.

"I am simply fighting a one-man battle against their deluded teachings."

In Victoria, Rev. Roland E. S. Toms, minister of the Apostolic Church, agreed with Mr. Thomas that his tracts are not hate literature.

"It is a simple religious tract in which the author asks: Are Jehovah's Witnesses deceivers? And tries to prove they are.

"Frankly, I don't consider them a Christian organization at all. They deny the deity of Christ, they deny the resurrection of Christ and they don't believe in the Virgin birth."

In the Apostolic Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m., Mr. Toms will answer the question: What is hate literature and has it been manifest in Victoria recently?

"I shall also ask the question: Who are the 144,000 mentioned in the Book of Revelation? The Jehovah's Witnesses say they are Russellites.

"This is entirely wrong."

'Crash' Program Urged

Farmers Want Fast Action On Crop Survey for Pest

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A crash program to determine the extent of a deadly potato disease on Vancouver Island was demanded today by Saanich farmers and nurserymen.

The proposal follows a provincial government announcement that it will take at least a year to complete a survey of V.I. potato and bulb farms to determine the extent of golden nematode infection.

This does not include all nurseries.

The discovery of golden nematode on a single Saanich farm last week dealt a severe blow to the Island's farm and nursery industry and poses a serious threat to the agricultural economy of the province.

The U.S. government has banned imports of rooted plants from Vancouver Island while Ottawa has stopped shipments to the mainland and the rest of Canada.

'Complete Probe By This Fall'

Growers feel the survey to determine the extent of the infestation on the Island should be stepped up and completed this fall.

Nurseryman Ed Lobbrunner felt the government should draft as many experts as are available to complete the survey this year.

"It's worth spending several millions of dollars to complete this survey quickly and to wipe out the disease," he said.

"This is a serious matter, the longer it takes to complete the survey, the more chances the disease has in spreading," he said. "If this disease spreads throughout B.C. it could isolate the province — plantwise — from the rest of Canada and the United States."

Ralph Mitchell, potato grower, said the "sooner we know where we stand, the better."

Norman Putman, B.C. field crop commissioner, said six field workers are working on the survey and four more from Vancouver are being trained for the work.

'Smallpox' of Plant World

"It will take at least a year to survey all the Island farms," he said.

As one grower said, golden nematode is the "smallpox" of the plant world. Nematodes can reduce a crop by 50 or 90 per cent, depending on the severity of the infestation.

The nematode is a microscopic worm which clings to the roots of potatoes and tomatoes and saps the strength of the plants.

But potatoes from infested fields make good eating and are not harmful to human beings.

The problem of controlling nematodes is that they can be carried on soil clinging to other plants, such as nursery stock. It's also tough to eradicate. At one stage of its life it's a cyst. Boiling water won't kill it.

Fire or dousing with formaldehye will eliminate the disease.

But the use of chemicals hasn't proved too successful so far.

Newfoundland and Long Island, N.Y., the only two other infested areas on North America, haven't yet been able to eliminate the disease.

If the disease is found general throughout Vancouver Island the most stringent regulations to prevent spread of the disease can be expected, according to the experts.

A sterilization program for all cars leaving the Island would probably be introduced if the infestation is severe, a plant pathologist said.

This means that tires of vehicles would be run through a solution of formaldehyde before leaving the Island.

This is done to kill nematodes in soils clinging to the tires.

On Long Island, all trucks are steamed before leaving for the mainland. In Newfoundland, formaldehyde is used on tires.

Shipment of fresh strawberries to the Prairies could also be banned if fields were found to contain nematodes.

MEMO TO MOTORCYCLISTS: Take heed of Tanis Troy's warning—and wear your helmet. Starting next Thursday, law requires all motorcyclists in B.C. to wear helmets for their own protection. Local shops report a growing rush for helmets with one store ordering an extra 500 for next week. (Strickland Photo.)

MEMBERS NEEDED

United Empire Loyalists To Re-Establish In City

Are you a descendent of a United Empire Loyalist?

If so, and if you can prove it, you are eligible for membership in the organization just re-established in Victoria.

Mrs. Olive Detlor Wilson, 3095 Harriet, is reviving the group which has been inactive for 10 years.

She and several other members found the organization still had some money in a bank and decided to revive the movement.

How do you know if you are a descendent of a Loyalist?

Most people just know, Mrs. Wilson explained, but proof can be obtained from headquarters in Hamilton, Ontario.

Prospective members can telephone 393-7073 or 383-3935.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JIM JACOBY

We have pointed out earlier this week that you normally use Blackwood to make sure that your opponents can't start out by cashing two aces against your slam contract. When you are sure that your side holds at least three aces you don't need to use Blackwood unless you are interested in getting to seven.

Opening lead—♠ A

North has 18 high card points. His partner has opened one no-trump and they are playing a 15 to 17 point no-trump so North sees that the partnership total is between 33 and 35. This leaves 7 points or less for the enemy and 7 points can never represent two aces. Of course 35 points might produce 13 tricks, but without a five-card suit you just don't want to be in seven.

After West opened the ace of spades South had no trouble running off the rest of the tricks. He had 11 top tricks and while East did have both minor suits stopped he had to unguard one of his jacks when South finished cashing high cards in the major suits and that gave South his twelfth trick.

Curiously enough, West could have beaten the hand had he led any card but the spade ace and had followed up by ducking the first two spade leads.

East would be able to to discard a heart on the second spade and could hang on to both diamonds and clubs until the cows came home.

West would probably lose his ace of spades but East would collect one trick in each minor suit and two tricks are enough to defeat any slam contract.

Ceasefire Prelude To Peace

Formula to End Viet Nam War Drafted by Commonwealth PMs

LONDON (CP)—The Commonwealth prime ministers ended their 14th conference Friday with an appeal for a ceasefire in Viet Nam as a necessary prelude to peace talks aimed at uniting the divided land.

The 21-country conference issued the appeal in the form of instructions to a four-country Viet Nam peace mission set up at the outset of the nine-day meeting.

The Commonwealth leaders called for an end of all U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam and an undertaking by the Hanoi government "to prevent the movement of any military forces or assistance or material to South Viet Nam."

British Prime Minister Wilson told a press conference the mission will set out on its quest for peace as soon as it is able to visit enough interested capitals to make its endeavor meaningful.

The key question, Wilson said, is whether the North Vietnamese government agrees to talk to the mission. He personally did not believe the mission should go to Saigon if it is unable to go to Hanoi.

Members of the Commonwealth peace mission are Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad-Tobago.

FORM CENTRAL BODY

As its major immediate accomplishment, the conference established a central secretariat. This idea of co-ordinated action once was strenuously resisted, notably by Canada's late prime minister Mackenzie King, in fear that a more formally organized Commonwealth would become a new version of the British Empire. But it was the newly independent members who gave strongest support to the new central liaison body.

As the conference ended, Canadian Prime Minister Pearson said "the Commonwealth is expressing views on world matters that never would have been considered as subjects for discussion a few years ago."

Even if the Viet Nam mission fails to achieve solid progress towards peace, it was a worthwhile initiative, Pearson said. His view was echoed by other leaders, though, one, President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, dissociated himself from the mission's plans.

The hottest argument was provoked by the Rhodesian issue, on which Wilson won time against African pressure to smash the minority white regime and establish a government under majority Negro rule.

This time, however, the British government agreed to take some action to call a constitutional conference to give the Negroes the vote, if this cannot be achieved through negotiations with the whites. A year ago, the British government merely noted that the Africans

PEACE TEAM SHELVED

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Wilson said today that the proposed Commonwealth Viet Nam peace mission, which has been refused a hearing by Russia and China, has been shelved for the time being.

Only nine days after he suggested the mission to the 21-country Commonwealth prime ministers' conference which ended Friday, it seems that the group's only firm visit is to Geneva early next month to meet United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

China and the Soviet Union have officially refused to receive the mission and North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi-minh has indicated he will follow the same line.

In these circumstances the four-man team—which includes leaders of Britain, Ghana, Nigeria and Trinidad and Tobago—is now not likely to take up invitations to pay early visits to the United States and South Viet Nam.

Wilson told a Labor party rally in Glasgow that the mission would still remain in being, though it is impossible to say whether or when it would become airborne.

Pearson Backs Chinese Entry Into UN

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC quotes Prime Minister Pearson in an interview with CBC commentator Norman DePoe as saying in London that admission of Communist China to the United Nations would have certain distinct advantages.

The CBC said the prime minister otld Mr. DePoe that admission of Communist China would forestall formation of a rival body outside the UN, and such an organization, with Communist China and Indonesia as initial members, could pose a serious threat to the UN's general effectiveness.

U.S. SPACE FLIGHT EIGHT-DAY MISSION

ESTILL, S.C. (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced today the next Gemini manned space flight will be an eight-day mission. This is the same length of time required to fly to the moon, explore its surface, and return to earth.

James E. Webb, NASA administrator, announced the mission today.

Afro-Asian Summit Postponed Indefinitely

ALGIERS (Reuters)—A summit conference of about 50 African and Asian countries scheduled to begin here Tuesday has been indefinitely postponed, authoritative sources said today.

A 15-country preparatory committee decided to postpone indefinitely both an Afro-Asian foreign ministers' meeting — which was to have been held today—and the summit.

The committee was discussing a new date for both meetings—possibly in October, the sources said.

The foreign ministers' conference was to have opened at noon today after a two-day postponement. It was deferred yet again at the request of several delegations and a meeting of the Afro-Asian conference preparatory commission was held instead.

The announcement followed a mystery blast Friday night that wrecked part of the electrical system in the building where the foreign ministers were to meet and the summit conference was to be held. Witnesses reported at least 40 persons were injured.

The foreign ministry spokesman announced today police had arrested the "author of the outrage."

The spokesman did not identify those arrested. The announcement of arrests was the first confirmation that the explosion was due to sabotage.

There were new anti-government demonstrations Friday night and a sense of general unrest prevailed.

An underground "popular liberation movement" circulated tracts calling for a country-wide general strike on the eve of the conference "to prove to the delegations that we will not tolerate the tyrant Houari Boumedienne."

Boumedienne was defence minister in the cabinet of President Ahmed Ben Bella. He seized power a week ago and had Ben Bella arrested as a "traitor."

FIRE WARNING SHOTS

Demonstrations against Boumedienne have taken place almost nightly since the coup. Steel-helmeted police fired warning shots in the air and flung tear-gas grenades Friday night at hundreds of demonstrators who marched through the streets, chanting "long live Ben Bella" and "Boumedienne to the gallows."

PARIS LOSES CONTACT

PARIS (AP) — Communications between Paris and Algiers were cut today.

The French postal and telegraphic service said there was a "general" cut in communications. No explanation was given.

Monitors said Radio Algiers went off the air about the same time.

Diplomatic sources in Paris said diplomatic communications were still normal with Algiers.

Two Islanders Win $30,000 in Irish

Ladysmith Woman Smilin' Like Pumpkin

Two Vancouver Islanders—a man and a woman—are richer by $30,000 each today for holding Irish Sweepstakes tickets on the third-place horse in the Irish Derby.

They are logging truck driver John Francis, 42, of Ladysmith, and Mrs. L. Hicks of Nanaimo.

Six Canadians won $150,000 each with tickets on the winner, Meadow Court, owned jointly by Calgary publisher Max Bell, Vancouver oil executive Frank McMahon and singer Bing Crosby.

Three Canadians won $60,000 each with tickets on second-place Convamore and four won $30,000 on Wedding Present.

TOP MONEY

Two B.C. men won top money —Collin Smith of Vancouver and Joe Bob, 35, of the Sugar Cane Indian reserve near Williams Lake.

Mr. Francis, a Ladysmith native, said he felt "the same as usual" although $30,000 richer.

His wife was "sitting smiling like a pumpkin."

"O gosh, she is happy," he said. "She is worse than I am."

They have three children — Tommy, 18; Carol, 14, and Barry, 12.

Was he worried about people badgering him for handouts?

"My skin's thicker than an alligator's," he replied.

NOBBY NICKNAME

He used the nom-de-plume Nobby, a nickname he picked up while working on the Alaska Highway during the Second World War.

He said he will take the same holiday he planned earlier—fishing and relaxing at a lake behind Ladysmith, where he has a cabin.

His two-week vacation starts the middle of next week.

Holders of tickets on horses which didn't make the race or didn't finish in the top three will receive prizes based on the total amount of the pool and expected to be about $1,100 each.

VICTORIANS

Two identified Victorians whose horses were scratched on Friday were Mrs. Winnifred Fitton, 1258 Yates, and Jerry Cafferky, 1905 Stockton.

Official confirmation of the prize-winners and their names was expected from Dublin later today. (Story of race on Page 16.)

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Undersea Gardens in Victoria and the Vancouver Aquarium made a joint offer this morning for the captive whale of Namu.

Charles White, owner of the gardens off the Oak Bay Marina, said the offer is being considered and he is hopeful it will be accepted.

If it is, a pen will be built at the cannery community near Ocean Falls while a pen is constructed at the Undersea Gardens.

Mr. White said the offer was made by aquarium curator Dr. Murray Newman to Robert McGarvey and William Lechkobit, who accidentally caught two whales Wednesday while fishing.

Could Come Here

The smaller of the two whales [illegible] from a net pen around a reef early Friday.

While not disclosing the offer, Mr. White said if it is accepted the whale likely will be brought here by barge.

Both he and Dr. Newman have visited Namu to see the 20-foot, 9,000-pound mammal.

A definite offer for the whale was apparently made by Marineland in Los Angeles but withdrawn because of difficulty in moving it.

The fishermen, who had asked $50,000 for the two whales, said today they want more than $10,000 for the remaining one.

Father Captive

Witnesses at Namu said it appears the captive whale is a father, who got trapped trying to rescue son after he swam inside the fishing net.

Junior, who apparently got out when the net floated up at one corner during high tide, now is swimming about outside with mother and a brother.

Of necessity, all this is surmise because at the best of times it is difficult to determine the sex of whales.

McGarvey, who says he is busy beating a track between his boat and the only telephone in Namu, said the whale will be sold to the highest bidder.

FIRST WINNERS ANNOUNCED NEXT SATURDAY

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

Even if you weren't "Johnny on the Spot" like the many who entered the Times' Amateur Photo Contest ahead of today's opening hour, you're still in good time for the first-week contest.

Photographs received until noon Saturday, July 3, will compete for the $10 first prizes awarded each week in the three classes of this year's contest.

Results of each weekly contest, with the winning pictures, will appear in the Times the following week.

In order to clear up some misconceptions and answer the many questions raised by interested readers about the National Newspapers Snapshot Awards, here are some last minute pointers. (See also Page 18.)

The contest is open only to amateur photographers.

Only pictures made after July 1, 1964, qualify.

Snapshots made be of any brand of negative-type film.

Color transparencies do not qualify, however, black-and-white prints from color negative type film will be accepted.

No print or enlargement more than 10 inches in the longer dimensions will be accepted.

Art work or retouching on prints, or negatives from which they are made, will disqualify the entry.

Composite pictures, such as multiple printing or montages, will be rejected.

Pictures should not be mounted or framed.

You may enter as often as you wish within the contest dates.

Your name, address and the class in which you wish to enter the picture must be printed in ink on the back.

Black-and-white prints will not be returned.

Do not submit negatives
